Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, April 27. [To the Editor of The Times:] Army flew in here with 156 planes and Gen. Fechet wanted to load me into everyone of them and show me what they was really doing. Friday night we went over the city with some bombers and where I stood in there was the place for 4000 pounds of high explosives, millions of lights under you and hundreds of thousands of defenseless people.

They went to London to make cheaper battleships and not one word was said about restricting the things that you are going to be killed with in the next war, that's why it was only a tax saving conference and not a humanitarian one, but we can begin to feel mighty proud of our army and navy air force; it's a man's job and we got some real ones at it.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

CENSUS GAIN ESTIMATED

Completed Cities Show Trend

National Growth of 22.5 Per Cent Indicated in Count Thus Far

Number of Towns in 10,000 Class Expected to Increase Greatly

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—A growth of 22.5 per cent in population during the last ten years is shown by the first ninety cities of 10,000 or more inhabitants for which enumerations in the 1930 census have been announced.

This first indication of the trend of the country's population is furnished by a compilation made by the Associated Press from the official preliminary announcements of supervisors throughout the country.

ATLANTA'S GROWTH HEAVY

The country's growth as a whole in the decade ending with 1920 was 14.9 per cent, while in the previous decade ending with 1910 it was 21 per cent. Growth of the country's urban population, that is people living in places of 2500 or more inhabitants, showed an increase of

TAX TICKLES UNCLE SAM

Business Sound, Gain Reveals

Actual Increase Shown for Nine-Month Period Over Corresponding Time

Collection of $2,277,453,096 Cheers Treasury Heads; California Total Up

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 27. (Exclusive)—Tax figures made public today by the Treasury Department, showing total receipts for the nine months ending March 31, last, serve to vindicate President Hoover's constant assertions that the business of the country is fundamentally sound, and put to rout the pessimists who declare that the effects of the stock market crash have not worn off.

These receipts include the first quarterly payments on income earned in 1929 and reported in 1930. In spite of the terrific losses suffered by individuals and corporations in the Wall-street panic of October and November, the sharp business recession during the last two months of last year and the $160,000,000 tax reduction voted by Congress in December, the government actually collected more money in these nine months than in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

UNUSUAL SITUATION

The total receipts from all sources were $2,277,453,096, as compared with $2,137,178,947 in the nine months from July 1, 1928, to March 31, 1929. It is true that this net gain of more than $140,000,000 was piled up during the last half of the calendar year 1929 but the falling off in the March receipts was so far below the early estimates that Treasury officials are not trying to conceal their satisfaction with the current fiscal situation of the nation.

The decrease in the March payments was slightly under $50,000,000, mostly in income-tax receipts, but this constituted only a 7 per cent drop.

Since these taxes are based very largely on earnings and, therefore, on the volume and profits of general business, the United States will have turned in the phenomenal performance of having actually increased its earning capacity in the face of the worst business panic in many years. Economists who have been trying for ten years to explain the unprecedented prosperity of the nation will be compelled to throw up their hands and surrender. It might be added the same will be true of Democratic critics.

Although individual incomes were most seriously affected by the stock market collapse as indicated by the March reduction, during the first six months of the period under review, they were booming along at such a rate that they piled up most of the yearly gain. They increased from $763,000,000 to more than $865,000,000.

Corporation taxes during the nine months registered the moderate gain of $946,000,000 over $925,000,000, and the State of New York alone accounted for that. The rest of the country reported a decrease of $14,000,000.

Miscellaneous taxes showed a similar increase of from $448,000,000 to $464,770,000.

CALIFORNIA FIGURES

The total of internal revenue collections in California for the nine months was $115,136,443, as compared with $113,058,011 for the corresponding previous fiscal period. The northern district reported an increase of from $62,524,953 to $65,779,840, while at the Los Angeles office there was a slight falling off from $50,533,059 to $49,356,593.

Detailed figures for the two California districts follow:

Los Angeles district corporation taxes, $20,369,287.55, individual taxes, $25,125,686.83—total, income taxes, $45,494,974.38; miscellaneous taxes—$9,841,619.50; total all sources, $49,336,593.88.

San Francisco district corporation taxes, $28,961,094; individual taxes, $22,597,651.83 — total income taxes, $51,562,745.83; miscellaneous taxes, $14,237,094.19 — total all sources, $65,799,840.02.

On individual income payments the northern district reported a decrease of from $23,116,192.32, to $22,597,651.83, while the Los Angeles district registered a slight gain from $25,037,397 to $25,125,686.

ONE DYING IN BAY CITY RACE RIOT

Seven Under Arrest After Filipino Knife Attack on American

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27. (Exclusive)—One white man was dying, one Filipino was under arrest in Central Emergency Hospital and six other men, whites and Filipinos, were lodged in the city prison today as the result of an early morning race war in Market street.

Merline Henalee, teamster, was declared by physicians to be dying from knife wounds in the back, chest and abdomen. After first-aid treatment, he was transferred to the San Francisco Hospital.

Also in Central Emergency Hospital is Leo La Rosa, 21 years of age, who was charged by police with assault with intent to commit murder. La Rosa suffered two knife wounds and numerous bruises in the fight.

Ray Evans, 21, one of the six others arrested, told the police he and Henalee were walking in Market street when they were attacked by four Filipinos. The fight soon became general, more Filipinos and whites joining in the disturbance.

Pupil Burned in School Play

SPOKANE, April 27. (AP)—Elizabeth Johnson, 15 years of age, was severely burned here last night as her theatrical costume ignited from a candle and a parish school audience almost went into a panic. The girl was resting easily today, doctors said.

Miss Alberta Beeson, dramatic arts instructor, smothered the flames. The screams and a glimpse of the fire beneath the curtain started pandemonium in the audience, but several cool-headed persons quieted the crowd of about 450.

First Lady Gets Out in Sunshine

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—For the first time in two weeks Mrs. Herbert Hoover went outdoors today, enjoying the warm spring sunshine from the south portico of the White House.

With the President at her side Mrs. Hoover spent a half-hour after luncheon, chatting and watching the dogs from the White House kennels frisking on the lawn. She sat in the wheel chair which has been her constant companion since she wrenched her back painfully a fortnight ago.

Aerial Acrobat Killed in Stunt

DUSSELDORF (Germany) April 27. (AP)—Willy Hundertmark, aerial acrobat, attempting to change in midair from one airplane to another, was killed today after struggling for life for forty-five minutes over the heads of thousands of horrified spectators.

The acrobat caught his hand in a rope ladder he was using to effect the change and was unable to grasp the next rung.

The pilot of his airplane, after vainly trying to help him by flying as low as possible, decided to take a chance on landing. He reduced his speed as low as he could, but the acrobat, dragged over a long stretch of the field, was picked up unconscious and died in a hospital.

ITALY FEELS QUAKE

NAPLES (Italy) April 27. (AP)—Severe earthquake shocks were felt today at Salerno and Avellino. No important damage was caused.

Death Laid to Balky Curtain

CHICAGO, April 27. (AP)—Marian Janice Walraven, 21 years of age, daughter of Earl C. Walraven, an official of the Palmolive-Peet Company, fell six stories to her death from her parents' apartment here today.

Members of the family said the girl apparently stood on a radiator to pull down a window shade and lost her balance.

An inquest will be conducted tomorrow.

Boy Hurt as Brother Goes to Hospital

PALO ALTO, April 27. (Exclusive)—Two young sons of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Arns were injured today, one perhaps fatally, in odd accidents a few minutes apart. Playing in the front yard, Jimmy, 10 years of age, fell from a tree, suffering two broken ribs and concussion of the brain. While the parents were taking Jimmy to Palo Alto Hospital, William, 8, fell on a harrow, used by a road-grading concern, one of the spikes penetrating his skull.

The mother and father had barely got to the hospital when neighbors arrived with William. The injury to William may prove fatal, it is feared. The boys are the only sons of Arns, a local automobile dealer.

Flyer Hopes to Regain Altitude Crown for Navy

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—The tiny plane of an obsolete type which Lieut. Apollo Soucek hopes to pilot to an altitude of nearly eight miles is ready for delivery and the flyer's efforts to regain the land plane record for the Navy may begin this week.

Lieut. Soucek said today repairs to the plane had been completed and that he expected to fly it to Washington from Hartford, Ct., "at the first opportunity."

To regain the land plane altitude record, Lieut. Soucek must take the ship to an altitude of 42,088 feet, 100 meters higher than the present record of 41,760, held by a German flyer.

Lieut. Soucek established the present seaplane record of 38,500 feet in the same plane, which is of the Apache type, built as an experimental plane for the Navy in 1925.

BOMBING SUSPECT MENACED

Florida Man Accused of Blasting Residence Taken From Officer by Mob

TAMPA (Fla.) April 27. (AP)—John Hodas, suspected in the bombing o' a Plant City home last Thursday, was taken from a deputy sheriff southeast of Plant City tonight. Officers said they believed the man was lynched.

Hodaz, a white man, was arrested in Tampa this afternoon and was then taken by Deputy Tobe Robinson to Barstow for safe keeping when the officer said he was accosted by a number of men, four of whom wore masks, and the prisoner taken from him.

"I was stopped by three men standing by a car with the lights out," Robinson said, "and then four others wearing masks rushed up and pushed guns into my ribs. They flashed a searchlight on Hodas and took him by the hands. They told me to leave. As I drove off they fired four shots into the ground right back of my car."

PRESIDENT'S AIDES PLAN COTTAGES

Two Buildings Will Go Up on Rapidan River for Use on Week-end Trips

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—At the invitation of President Hoover, members of his Cabinet who often accompany him on week-end fishing trips to the mountains of Virginia, are planning to erect two cottages on the Rapidan River about three-quarters of a mile from the President's camp.

Secretary Wilbur, Secretary Hyde and Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, who, like the President, are ardent anglers and woodsmen, are interested in the project.

The two cottages, each of which will have a large living-room, bedroom and bath, will provide additional accommodations for members of the Cabinet at the camp and enable the President to include a greater number of his friends on these outings.

TRAINS GET NEW VOICE

Sea Spanned in Phone Miracle

Passengers on Fast-Moving Canadian Express Have Chat With London

Talks With Washington and Ottawa Also Mark Start of Latest Service

BELLEVILLE (Ont.) April 27. (AP) An express train clicking over the rails at seventy miles an hour between Toronto and Montreal was connected by telephone today with Ottawa, Washington and London.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, who was aboard the train, lifted the transmitter and spoke to the operator. In about the same length of time it takes to make an ordinary telephone connection, he was talking to Secretary of Commerce Lamont in Washington.

FIRST PUBLIC USE

It was the first public use of the new system of communication on the Canadian National system, which will enable travelers en route to telephone to all parts of the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Secretary Lamont, his voice clear and strong above the rumble of the train, congratulated Sir Henry on this scientific and commercial achievement.

Carl S. Brandebury, eastern division news editor of the Associated Press, then spoke briefly with Mr. Lamont, after which Sir Henry obtained a connection with London.

He talked to C. J. Smith, vice-president of the Canadian National, in that city.

NEWS MEN TALK

Then Mr. Brandebury held a two-minute conversation with Harry H. Romer of the Associated Press bureau in London, the voices at both ends of the connection coming distinctly. Sir Henry also talked with James Malcolm, Minister of Trade at Ottawa.

The system, which went into commercial use today, was devised by J. C. Burkholder, chief engineer of the Canadian National Telegraph. It disintegrates the voice into an electrical vortex of 125,000 cycles and then reassembles it in its entirety for regular telephone transmission at pick-up stations along the road. These in turn retransmit the voices by wire to points on this side of the Atlantic and by radio to England.

MacDONALD LOSES OUT IN TALK FROM LONDON

LONDON, April 27. (AP)—London tonight was on one end of yet another new development in communication methods, which during this century have piled marvel upon marvel. Telephone messages were exchanged between an ordinary desk phone here and a phone in a rapidly moving train on the Canadian National Railways lines between Toronto and Montreal.

Shortly after 8:30 p.m. (3:30 p.m., eastern standard time,) C. J. Smith, European vice-president of the Canadian National, picked up the telephone in his office to answer a call and in the twinkling of an eye was in communication with Sir Henry Thornton, president of the railway, speeding from Toronto to Montreal aboard the International Limited.

OTHERS TALK

A few minutes after the president and the vice-president had exchanged greetings and chatted about the weather, two correspondents of the Associated Press on different sides of the ocean talked together.

Harry H. Romer of the Associated Press Bureau in London was called to the phone and told that C. S. Brandebury of the New York office aboard the limited, wanted to speak to him.

Brandebury's voice came over the ether clear and strong. As usual, he was more concerned with getting a story into the home office than with anything else.

"Will you file a story of this from London?" he asked. "I can't get anything on the wire for two hours yet."

He seemed satisfied with the London bureau's promise to send a story, and as other persons on the train were clamoring to get to the telephone he had to ring off.

Out of Chequers, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was waiting to be connected with the train for a trans-Atlantic talk with Sir Henry

PLANE DIVE KILLS SEVEN

Spectators Hit in Tennessee

Twenty Injured in Addition to Those Losing Lives at Fayetteville Circus

Pilot and Two Companions Escape as Ship Strikes; Flyer in Custody

FAYETTEVILLE (Tenn.) April 27. (AP)—Seven spectators among a large crowd gathered here to watch an air circus sponsored by the American Legion post, were killed and twenty others were injured today as a stunting plane crashed into the onlookers.

The dead are Booney Beard, 14 years of age; Kelly Towry, 23; Lawrence Smith, 38; Monroe Marbury, 37; Hurley Spray, 26, and Marvin Ashby, 30; Wade Bonner, 9, Negro.

Of those injured, doctors said two are expected to die. They are Claude Copeland, 23, and A. M. Douthitt, 75. Little hope is held also for the recovery of Nannie May Ortner, 4, and Rose Counts, 23.

FLYER IN CUSTODY

The plane, piloted by Milton Covert of Columbia, Tenn., fell from a height of about ten feet. Covert and two companions were nearing the landing-field in the plane when, witnesses said, the ship nose dived, crashing into the crowd standing on a railroad embankment. The pilot and his companions were not injured.

Sheriff Rhea said tonight that Covert had been placed in jail in another county. The sheriff said he believes the crash was "accidental," but there was some talk of violence.

The sheriff said a warrant for Covert's arrest had been obtained by one of his deputies.

Magistrate Pool later said the warrant charged murder. A hearing was set for tomorrow morning.

The parents of the Ortner girl, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Ortner, and another child, J. B. Ortner, 10, also were hurt, but not seriously. Two Negro boys suffered the loss of both legs.

SPECTATORS WARNED

Members of the Legion Post, under Commander Clarence Coughran, took charge of the field and rendered aid to the injured and removed the dead.

Capt. Al Gombert of Akron, O., in charge of the circus, said officials had warned the spectators not to stand on the embankment, because all planes had to sweep close over it in landing.

Approximately 100 were on the embankment at the time of the crash.

All the dead were from near-by communities in Lincoln county.

BOY AND GIRL DIE IN FLAMING AIRPLANE

PORTSMOUTH (N. H.) April 27. (AP)—A boy and a girl burned to death after an airplane crash beside the Portsmouth Country Club this afternoon. The dead are Geneva Brockett, 14 years of age, of Suffield, Ct., and Bruce Heffler, 14, of Greenland. The pilot, Clyde Robinson of Exeter, was badly burned.

The children earlier in the day had been given their first airplane ride by Robinson and had been eager to go again. Robinson was making for the Portsmouth airport from the Hessler farm in Greenland when the engine stalled. In attempting to land on a road a wing caught on a tree and the plane burst into flames as it crashed.

PILOT AND FRIEND KILLED IN WISCONSIN

MILWAUKEE, April 27. (AP)—Pilot Albert Roden, 26 years of age, of Saukville, Wis., and his friend, Harry Wagner, 16, of Grafton, Wis., were killed today when Roden's airplane crashed near the Holterhoff Airport here.

Airport officials said it was apparent the crash was caused by a jammed rudder. The pair had been in the air most of the morning and were flying about 300 feet above the ground when the airplane suddenly went into a slip and crashed.

The airplane hit the ground nose first and crumpled.

TWO DROWNED IN LAKE

SIDNEY (Wis.) April 27. (AP)—Ed Tooley, 41 years of age, manager of a local chain store, and his assistant, Orville Brooke, 20, were drowned in Harris Lake, near Oshkosh, twenty-five miles north of here today.

TIME AND SPACE SPANNED

Radio to Enable Brothers Parted Many Years to Talk Though 9000 Miles Apart

PITTSBURGH, April 27. (AP)—Two brothers who have not seen nor talked with each other for fifty-seven years will converse tomorrow morning by radio over more than 9000 miles of land and sea.

American radio listeners who tune in on station KDKA at 8:30 a.m., eastern daylight time (4:30 Pacific standard time,) can listen in on their conversation.

P. C. Watson, 80 years of age, will speak a "hello" into the telephone at his home in Sewickley, near here. W8XK, the short-wave transmitter of KDKA, will relay the message of a wave length of 25.4 meters to VK2ME at Sydney, Australia and the "hello" will reach the ears of Samuel J. Watson, 72, over a loud speaker at his side in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Todd, at Forbes, New South Wales, approximately 100 miles from Sydney.

His reply, relayed by VK2ME to Pittsburgh over a wave length of 28.4 meters after having been spoken by the Junior Watson into a telephone at Forbes, will be heard by his brother over a loud speaker at his side in Sewickley.

It will be morning in Pittsburgh. It will be night in Australia.

Not since F. C. Watson bade farewell to his brother and to Belfast, Ireland, in 1873 and left for the United States have the two brothers heard each other's voices. Samuel Watson moved to Australia a few years later.

FAHY OF FLYING FAME EXPIRES

Injuries Received in Crash End in Death

Solo Endurance Record Set in May, 1929

Airman's Widow Also Ranks High as Pilot

GRAYLING (Mich.) April 27. (AP)—Herbert J. Fahy, noted aviator, died in a hospital here today of injuries suffered in an airplane accident near Roscommon, Mich., last Friday. Fahy, who was 33 years of age, did not regain consciousness after he was taken from an overturned airplane on the estate of Cliff Durant.

His widow, Mrs. Claire Fahy, also a noted pilot, was with him in the plane at the time of the accident, but escaped injury because she was in a separate cabin. Mrs. Fahy is one of the ranking women pilots of the country, having done most of her flying on the West Coast.

Fahy was employed as test pilot and salesman for a Detroit airplane concern and had gone to Roscommon to sell a plane to Durant. The plane turned over as he was attempting to take off from a field on the Durant estate. The craft is believed to have struck a stump.

Formerly an army flyer, Fahy set a solo endurance record of 36h. 56m. 36s. in May, 1929. Last July he attempted to set a new record for a round-trip transcontinental flight with one stop, but was forced down in Kansas on the eastbound trip. Jumper Leaves Airplane 14,800 Feet Up, But Fails to Set Record for Sex

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) April 27. (Exclusive)—After an airplane climb of an hour and a half into the clear sky over this field this afternoon, Miss Frances Rees, 36-year-old parachute jumper, hurled herself from the plane, opened one of the two parachutes attached to her flying suit and descended in fourteen minutes to a safe landing near Merrick, six miles away.

She was picked up by a passing motorist and taken back to the field, arriving just as the plane landed.

The pilot, Emil Burgin, announced his altimeter showed 14800 feet when she jumped out. Although the plane carried a sealed barograph on which a line was traced indicating the altitude nearly half the 42,000-foot maximum, W. D. Ward, official timer of the National Aeronautic Association, said he did not think the existing record held by a French woman at 16,630 feet had been broken. The instrument will be forwarded to Washington for recalibration and corrections to local barometric pressure to determine the exact altitude at which the woman jumped.

Thornton. But for some reason unknown to listeners on this side of the ocean, the word "circuit closed" came through before the Prime Minister could be connected and communication with the train abruptly ceased.

It was a keen disappointment to the Prime Minister, who shortly before the communication with Canada started had called up on his home telephone expressing a keen desire to be put through even if transmission was not perfect.

FARMERS TURN OUT TO HELP NEIGHBOR

WALCOTT (Iowa) April 27. (Exclusive)—That a friend in need is a friend indeed, F. H. Kronenberg, farmer living near here, is prepared to assert. Today fifty farmers with sixteen tractors and seven teams of horses stuck their plows into seventy acres of land and before night it was ready for seeding. There was a fire on Kronenberg's farm a few days ago, in which all his work animals were destroyed. The Hickory Grove township farm bureau called a meeting to determine plans for helping their neighbor get in his crop. Every member volunteered to furnish a team or a tractor.

OHIO WILL END PRISON MUTINY

Sunday Disorders Result in Action by Warden

Machine Guns Quell Unruly in New Outbreak

Officials Confer on Plans to Subdue Inmates

COLUMBUS (O.) April 27. (AP)—Determination to subdue unruly prisoners at Ohio penitentiary was expressed tonight by Warden Preston E. Thomas after another flare-up of unrest like those occurring intermittently since last Monday's fire in which 320 prisoners died.

"This mutiny will be put down," said the warden after National Guardsmen placed machine guns on the lawn in front of the penitentiary during an uproar in "White City," a cell block housing the idle prisoners.

GUNS WITHDRAWN

After milling about and shouting for two hours, during which several cell windows were broken, the prisoners quieted down and the machine guns were withdrawn.

The warden's statement was made during a conference he called with prison officials while tonight's disturbance was in progress. Those meeting with the warden included Night Captain Laukhart, Deputy Warden Woodward, Col. Robert Haubrich, in command of the 350 National Guardsmen stationed outside the prison walls, Chief of Police French, and Col. Thomas Duffy of the Columbus division of city service.

Although it was not announced what was discussed, all indications are that definite action will be taken tomorrow to bring the insurgent convicts under discipline.

WARDEN BACKED

The warden, however, has been assured that any step he takes will be backed up with sufficient manpower to cope with any emergency. Chief French announced that 150 city policemen would be sent to the prison at a moment's notice and officers of Fort Hayes were prepared to furnish troops to augment the National Guardsmen already on duty.

Capt. Laukhart said the disorder tonight did not result from plans for an escape attempt, but because the prisoners objected to being locked in their cells. He expressed the opinion it would be folly to use force to quiet them, declaring such action would cause a riot.

The men finally were pacified by persuasion and coffee, prison officials supplying them with 1000 gallons.

FEDERAL OFFICIALS INSPECT SAN QUENTIN

SAN QUENTIN, April 27. (Exclusive)—The Federal government and the State officials joined today in inspection of fire hazards at San Quentin prison, an aftermath of the Columbus (O.) disaster.

Three postal inspectors, representing the Department of Justice, which has supervision of Federal penitentiaries under the Attorney-General, and the director of the State Department of Penology, joined with the State Board of Prison Directors in going over the prison from wall to wall. They also witnessed a fire drill in which every cell was emptied in ten minutes.

As a result of the inspection, and the fire drill, the second in a week in which the prison's every cell was emptied in ten minutes, doubling of the institution's fire-fighting equipment was recommended. The apparatus is supervised by Norman Selby (Kid McCoy,) Los Angeles slayer, and old-time pugilist.

Recommendation also was made for placing six new fire escapes in the trade building, part of the industrial department. This trade building was declared to be the only fire hazard of the penitentiary.

Young Slayer Free on Bond

BLOOMFIELD (Mo.) April 27. (Exclusive)—James Rough, 12 years of age, the youngest boy in the State of Missouri and the entire Middle West to be convicted on a murder charge, is out on bond pending a plea for a new trial. He shot his older brother, 14, last December and was tried on a second-degree murder charge and found guilty. The lad testified that he pointed the gun at his brother, thinking it was on safety, and accidentally touched the trigger and his brother was killed.

The lad really didn't seem to comprehend when he was given two years in the penitentiary. The boy's father wept when the verdict was read while the invalid mother, praying at home, collapsed when she received the news.

BALTIMORE DAYLIGHT SAVING PLAN MUDDLED

BALTIMORE, April 27. (Exclusive)—Voluntary daylight saving went into effect in Baltimore this morning, with the school board still tied up in a quarrel over technicalities which so far have prevented the city's school authorities from sanctioning the new schedule. Most of the city's industries, offices and homes moved clocks up an hour. But not the schools. In the governing body of the school system a battle rages, principally over the lack of legislation to permit changing the clocks.

MILLS FIELD SALE BELIEVED POSSIBLE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27. (Exclusive)—The State Supreme Court, in a decision validating purchase of property for a municipal park, is believed to have cleared the way for legal acquisition of Mills Field on the same basis, for a municipal airport. The field now is used as such, but is leased.

25.7 per cent in the decade ending with 1920, and for the previous decade it was 34.8 per cent.

Only one of the country's larger cities has reported thus far. It is Atlanta, which reported 266,587 people, an increase of 35.6 per cent over 1920.

Of the cities thus far reporting, the largest percentages of increase have been shown by Ventura, Cal., with 186.3 per cent; Lakeland, Fla., with 130.2 per cent, and Decatur, Ill., with 121.2 per cent. Cities showing 50 per cent or more increase in the ten years are mostly in the South and West. None with that large an increase has been reported yet in the East.

FEW SHOW DECREASES

Half a dozen cities have shown decreases from ten years ago. Three of these are in the East, including Fall River, Mass., which showed a decline of 5.3 per cent and now has 114,348 people, and three are in the Southwest.

There were 748 cities of 10,000 or more population in 1920. Cities in that category are expected to show a considerable increase in the present census. Several already have entered the 10,000 class, including Longview, Wash., which was not in existence in 1920, and now has 10,491 people.

TUCSON (Ariz.) April 27. (AP)—Mrs. Emma F. Parsons, supervisor of the census for the third Arizona district, announces Tucson's population, as enumerated in the fifteenth decennial census, to be 32,198, an increase of 11,906, or 58.67 per cent over the census of 1920, when the population was counted at 20,292.

Final check of these figures, in the report to be made to Washington, Mrs. Parsons said, will not show a variance of more than 100.

Douglas, with a 1930 enumerated population of 9078, Mrs. Parsons announced, is the second largest city to Tucson in the seven counties in the third district.

Bisbee stands third with a population of 8119.

Other figures released tonight by Mrs. Parsons are,

Pinal county—Casa Grande, 1307.

Graham county—Clifton, 2203.

Local Girl Adds Boat-Race Thrill

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27. (Exclusive)—Miss Frances Merrel, Los Angeles society girl, provided an unscheduled thrill for the finish of the Long Beach to San Francisco power boat race this afternoon. She motored from Los Angeles to be present at the finish of the Hermana.

When the cruiser docked, Miss Merrel ran aboard excitedly, and in the general enthusiasm slipped and plunged overboard into the waters of the bay.

Lazard Lippman, member of the California Yacht Club of Los Angeles, leaped in and rescued her.

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—A charge that the Anti-Saloon League had evaded the Federal Corrupt Practices Act by failure to report campaign expenditures in 1920 in behalf of Andrew J. Volstead, author of the Volstead Act, was made tonight by Representative Tinkham, Republican of Massachusetts, in a letter to Chairman Caraway of the Senate lobby committee. Tinkham, who has appeared before the lobby committee to testify against a number of dry organizations, renewed his request in the letter to Caraway that the committee investigate the Anti-Saloon League and expose its asserted violations of law.

TACTICS SHOW NEEDS OF NAVY

Battle Fleet's Commanders Discuss Maneuvers

Aircraft Carriers and New Cruisers Held Lacking

Vessels Take on Stores for Start Home Tomorrow

BY LIEUT. C. E. CHAPEL U.S.M.C.

ABOARD U.S.S. CALIFORNIA (Guantanamo Bay, Cuba) April 27. (Exclusive)—The Navy's dire need of additional airplane carriers and cruisers was reiterated by the ranking admirals of the Navy aboard this flagship today at the critique over the recent war games of the combined United States Fleet in the Caribbean.

Results of these last maneuvers, officially known as United States Fleet Problem XI, emphasized the importance of carriers and modern cruisers as well as accuracy and speed in fleet communications, it was revealed by a high flag officer.

Another subject discussed was the development of airplane attacks on submarines, possibilities of which were indicated by the recent exercises.

All fleet leaders agreed that the fleet action of this problem, fought in the Navassa area of the Windward Passage, proved that annual maneuvers of this sort are vitally important training for the Navy.

The fleet today completed the last events of its all-navy athletic championships program and the more than 150 ships, having finished machinery overhaul, will tomorrow take on their final stores before departure Tuesday for New York.

Tactical exercises will be held en route, the armada being scheduled to arrive off Sandy Hook at dawn May 7. Ten days will be spent at the metropolis and another week at Hampton Roads before the two fleets disperse for home bases, the battle fleet departing from Hampton Roads on May 26 and arriving at San Pedro June 21.

SHIFT OF UNION FRONT PLANNED

tracts, and in the negotiation of new ones the leaders see wonderful opportunities. Strikes on a really large scale, they contend, are not feasible under present conditions. Individual unions are bound by agreements or contracts, or separated by differences of opinion.

Plumbers may want to strike and sheet-metal workers prefer to keep on working or are tied up so that they cannot. One craft perhaps, lacks an excuse that can be called a grievance or its business agent refuses to co-operate, so that the walkouts of other crafts are a failure. But if all the workers could be compelled to strike, paralyzing a whole industry at a time, it is believed the leaders would be in a more favorable position to enforce their demands.

If the craft unions cease to exist, it is being argued, the contracts they have made become null and void and their members are freed from obligation to carry them out.

While the main leaders, the men who figure that they could profit from the reorganization, are heartily in favor of the scheme, leaders of individual unions are wondering where they come in, and the scheme is meeting with a good deal of opposition from this source. Some of the smaller union leaders, business agents, and the like, can see that their official posts are going to be abolished and some even may have to go back to work. That these men will fight to the last for their perquisites seems certain.

GREEN STAND UNKNOWN

The attitude of President Green toward this reorganization scheme has not been disclosed. Green came to the federation from a union which was practically organized on an industry basis, the United Mine Workers. This was never split up into craft unions. Though the United Mine Workers has virtually collapsed and is only a shell and paper organization now, it still has the largest block of votes in the federation, and Green might not like the idea of having other industries so powerfully organized that a combination of two or three might wrest away his control. So far as is known here Green is not even aware that such a plan is being bruited; the secret has been guarded carefully.

Green's hold on the federation, it is pointed out, is getting precarious because the dues of the U.M.W. to the federation are being paid, not by the U.M.W. but from the federation treasury; in other words, are practically being remitted, and the right of the organization to vote in federation conventions is subject to challenge. "No dues, no vote," is theoretically the rule and Green's evasion of it is all that holds him in power.

RED AID SUSPECTED

If Green is indeed ignorant of the plan, which seems possible, it seems to follow that it probably originated with the Socialist and Communist elements who have been trying to gain control of the federation by "boring from within" and that it is being forwarded with the aid of Russian money. There is a striking resemblance between the Russian soviet councils and the industry unions as they would appear after such a reorganization.

At any rate, Cleveland union leaders think enough of the plan to discuss it seriously and their general attitude seems to be favorable. They have not taken it up with the rank and file of any of the local unions, so far as can be discovered.

The plan has been to get the new scheme rushed through as soon as possible, perhaps even in advance of next fall's general convention of the federation, which then would be requested — or ordered—to sanction an accomplished fact. While such speed of organization seems impossible it is, in sober fact, likely to be attempted. The promoters feel that if time for consideration is given, employers may likewise organize to meet the situation and the opportunity to put all industry under union control at a single blow will pass.

FARM SURVEY PLANS PUSHED

McNary to Speed Action on Commission Resolution

Wants Body Named to Sift Ranch Labor Claims

Move in Congress Sponsored by Californians

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 27. (Exclusive) — With Mexican exclusion shelved definitely for this session of Congress, barring a legislative miracle, Senator McNary of Oregon, chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, plans to push for speedy action on his resolution providing for a thorough survey of the agricultural-labor situation of the nation by a commission appointed by the President.

It is McNary's hope that the resolution can be sent through both houses before the June adjournment and that the commission can complete its investigation in time to report back to Congress early in the December session, when the Mexican immigration question is certain to be brought to the fore again.

The resolution was sponsored by the Federal Farm Board on behalf of agricultural interests in California and the Southwest and it contemplates an exhaustive and impartial inquiry to determine whether the farmers of this section are dependent upon Mexican labor, as they claim, or could get along with some other class of workers. The findings of the commission would be given Congress for its guidance in framing immigration measures and spokesmen for the agriculturists of California, for their part, have agreed to abide by the commission's report.

Senator McNary plans to call his committee together to act on the resolution some time this week, possibly Tuesday, and will try to get Senate action on it within the next two weeks. He anticipates little difficulty, although the disappointed advocates of Mexican exclusion are certain to kick up some opposition on the ground the proposed survey is designed to block future attempts to pass restrictive legislation.

House leaders regard the McNary resolution as an administration matter and are said to be ready to put it through as soon as it comes from the Senate.

SHOOTING PREACHER CONVICTED

Illinois Pastor Found Guilty of One Charge, With Another Pending

OTTAWA (Ill.) April 27. (AP)—Rev. James A. Wilson, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Mendota, tonight was convicted of assault with intent to murder in connection with the shooting of Amos Elliott, the sexton of his church, and Mrs. Elliott, January 29, last. The verdict carries a penalty of one to fourteen years' imprisonment.

The shooting occurred as the pastor, who is 60 years of age, and the sexton struggled for possession of a letter the pastor had written to Mrs. Emma Wagner, a widowed member of the church, asking forgiveness for some offense which was not related in evidence introduced at the trial.

Afterward, the preacher said, he tried to kill himself, firing five shots, but inflicting only a scalp wound.

In the course of the trial Wilson said he went to the Elliott home as a friend to ask for the letter and get it out of circulation. He said "everything went black" just before the shooting.

Mr. Wilson was indicted on two charges of assault with intent to kill and the trial which ended today concerned the first of these.

LINDBERGH LAYS NEW MAIL TRAIL

Canal Zone Landing Made Ahead of Schedule

Other Pilots Will Carry on to Buenos Aires

Preparations Under Way for Stork Arrival

CRISTOBAL (Canal Zone) April 27. (AP)—With characteristic swiftness Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today blazed a new air mail route across the Caribbean Sea, linking New York and Buenos Aires in a seven-day mail schedule.

Leaving Havana, Cuba, at 5:33 a. m., E.S.T., today, the flying colonel split the famous Lindbergh Caribbean circle route, striking the Central American mainland at Cape Gracias a Dios, Nicaragua, instead of at Yucatan, on his old route. He landed at France Field here at 4:04 p.m., E.S.T., completing his flight of 1033 miles from Cuba in nine hours and fifty-eight minutes. He was not scheduled to arrive here until 6 p.m.

The plane carried 215 pounds of mail, destined for various parts of the Southern Americas. Postoffice employees here were prepared to work all night if necessary to prepare the mails for the southward journey, which will be resumed at dawn tomorrow. Lindbergh will not fly beyond this city, however. He plans to return to the United States the latter part of the week.

MOORE ON NEXT LAP

L. R. "Dinty" Moore, who participated in the United States Navy's attempt to fly the Atlantic in 1919, will pilot the southbound mail into Talara, Peru. From that point other planes will relay the mails to various Southern American republics. It is scheduled to arrive in Buenos Aires at 4:30 p.m., E.S.T., Friday.

Under perfect flying conditions, Col. Lindbergh sailed easily over the long water jump of today's flight. He carried Basil Rowe as copilot and Bert Denicky as radio operator. Constant communication was maintained with the radio base of the Pan-American Airways at Miami, Fla., and with other stations of the company in Central America.

OVER SPARKLING SEA

A brilliant sun glittered over the Caribbean as Lindbergh swung the plane toward the Isle of Pines after leaving Cuba. A speed of approximately 115 miles an hour was maintained as the ship flew toward Central America. Radio messages related that Lindbergh enjoyed the trip, several times relinquishing the controls to his co-pilot so that he might make observations and eat his lunch in flight.

One stop was made to refuel. This was at Porto Cabezas, Nicaragua, where the ship landed at 11:37 a.m., E.S.T. The flight was resumed at 12:12 p.m. The weather continued brilliant as the plane cruised along the Central American coast into Panama.

A crowd of officials and civilians gathered at France Field to welcome the flyer on his third inaugural air-mail trip into Latin America.

WIFE GOING TO HOSPITAL TOMORROW

NEW YORK, April 27. (Exclusive) The recent record speed transcontinental flight made by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and the stork did not have the unanimous approval of the five California physicians retained for the former Anne Morrow. Three consented, but two demurred.

The medical experts gave reluctant consent to the plan of Mrs. Lindbergh to make the flight with her husband only after the Lone Eagle's bride had declared that the air trip would be less fatiguing than a railroad journey. She was warned, however, that after she arrived east she must not fly again until after the arrival of the heir.

This was learned today as Mrs. Lindbergh, following her husband's Caribbean flight by wireless, remained in the mansion of her parents at Englewood, N. J. A reservation has been made for her at the Fifth Avenue Hospital for Tuesday.

SANTIAGO (Chile) April 27. (Exclusive)—The government has decided to give assistance to farmers suffering from a general decline in world prices by buying their excess production of cereals; that is, the difference between production and consumption of the country. These figures for wheat are 10,000,000 and 8,000,000 metric quintals, respectively.

INDIA UPSETS COTTON DEAL

Anglo-Japanese Trade Pact Dealt Blow by Boycott

Huge Orders Placed With Concerns in Nippon

Britain Now Faces Prospect of $250,000,000 Loss

[Copyright, 1930, by the Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, April 27. (Exclusive)—The boycott of British goods by the merchants of India will seriously affect the Anglo-Japanese cotton entente. Orders for large consignments of gray and colored cloth have been placed with Japanese concerns by the merchants of Madras, Delhi, Calcutta and Bombay. These are said to be worth $10,000,000.

Japanese goods have to pay a higher duty than British articles, owing to the recent preferential tariff bill passed in the Indian Legislative Assembly. Naturally, Manchester expected to obtain larger orders from India as a result, but the political situation has changed the whole aspect of Indian trade.

Even friends of England, prominent in Indian politics, had urged that this was a bad time to press a preferential tariff in favor of British goods. The atmosphere in India was certainly not in favor of giving Britain any preference. But they wanted protection for the Indian mill industry, which recently had suffered from Japanese competition.

MERCHANTS' ATTITUDE

The Indian merchants had no objection to purchasing material from Japan, but they did not desire that it should be available for sale at a price much lower than what the Indian mills could supply. The government of India was prepared to increase the Indian tariff in order to help the Indian mill industry, but it was prepared to do so only on condition that British goods were given a preferential treatment. Distasteful as this was to most of the Indian members of the Assembly, they had to swallow it because of their anxiety for the Indian mill industry. Even then some prominent leaders resigned from the Assembly in protest.

Thus, Manchester obtained a dominating position, as far as Japanese competition was concerned. But the Indian tariff advantage was only temporary and not absolutely reliable. Hence, the British cotton traders were anxious to come to an understanding with the Japanese trade. The desire of Lancashire was communicated to the Japanese cotton dealers in October, through the British Consul at Osaka.

NEGOTIATIONS UPSET

The proposal aimed at the elimination of destructive competition by a division of markets, an agreement on selling prices and a dividing of business by a classification of goods. The Japanese merchants were inclined to consider the proposal and conversations were started. But, unfortunately, Ichiso Kodama, president of the Tokio Menka, suddenly died and then there was the turmoil of a general election, which prevented further consideration.

During the last six months of 1929, out of a total merchandise imported into India valued at nearly $700,000,000, almost 78 per cent was handled by these organizations. Today, even if they resume their British trade after the initial three-month period—and this also is very doubtful—the loss to British goods will be about $250,000,000. Nearly a third of this loss will be borne by Lancashire. The news that the brokers in the Share Bazaar of Bombay also have promised to join the boycott is extremely serious for England.

Everything points to the conclusion that the political situation in India has successfully interfered with an Anglo-Japanese cotton entente, and Japanese merchants feel that so long as the present anti-British feeling exists they can safely ignore British competition.

CONVENTION NO BARRIER FOR WIDOW

Woman Whose Husband Took Life Saturday Will Wed His Brother Soon

NEWARK (N. J.) April 27. (Exclusive)—Defiantly, Mrs. Florence Keller announced today that even though her husband Henry committed suicide Saturday, she has no intention of taking it too much to heart.

"What the world thinks of this does not interest me," she said in asserting again that she plans to marry her brother-in-law, Edward Keller, at the earliest opportunity. "We have each other and that means everything."

Henry Keller, brooding over his wife's attachment for his brother, killed himself by turning on the gas in a rented room.

The widow said she married him out of sympathy and that he was mean to her.

EX-MARINE CORPS HEAD SUCCUMBS

Maj-Gen. Barnett, Retired, Had Been in Ill Health for Some Time

WASHINGTON April 27. (AP)—Maj.-Gen. George Barnett, commandant of the Marine Corps from 1914 to 1920, died here late today of pneumonia.

The general, who retired in 1923, had been in ill-health for some time. He died at the Navy Hospital. He was born December 1, 1850, at Lancaster, Wis.

He was 70 years of age and had served with the marines since 1881, when he graduated from the Naval Academy. He saw service at virtually every post held by the marines in this country and in the Philippines, Samoa, Cuba, Porto Rico and Peiping. He spent eighteen years on ships at sea or in foreign ports.

The high point in Barnett's life came when he found himself in command of the Marine Corps upon the entry of the United States into the World War.

Although he could not be on the firing line in France, he was held responsible for the preparedness of that branch of America's armed forces, and much credit was given him for having the marines in condition to render the nation such signal service.

In addition to directing the corps, he was, during the war, a member of the General Board of the Navy and of the Secretary of the Navy's Advisory Council, in those capacities having much to do with the mapping of plans and direction of policy in the winning of the war.

Fourteen Major Problems Face National Chamber at Conference Today

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—A list of fourteen major problems now faced jointly by the Federal government and the nation's business leaders was announced tonight by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States as a basis for discussion during its eighteenth annual meeting, which begins tomorrow in Washington and continues for four days.

Foremost among the questions to be considered are stabilization and employment, Federal Farm Board policies, chain and branch banking, railroad consolidation and oil and forest conservation.

President Hoover heads the list of those who will speak for the government. Others will be Secretary Lamont, Chairman Legge of the Farm Board, Undersecretary Mills of the Treasury Department, and Comptroller of the Currency Pole.

The chamber announced that 3000 business men were expected to attend the meeting. They would come from every State in the Union as delegates representing 1700 chambers of commerce and trade associations.

IRONIC FATE DECREES DEATH CHAIR CUSTODY

OSSINING (N. Y.) April 27. (Exclusive)—The same ironic fate that snatched Fred E. Edel, convicted murderer, from the electric chair five times in the last year, made him custodian of Sing Sing's death trap today. When Edel's death sentence was commuted to life servitude a few weeks ago he had a nervous collapse and was sent to the prison hospital. When he recovered, his knowledge of electricity caused the prison authorities to assign him to duty in the power house, where he will tend the electric-chair generator.

GANDHI GLORIES IN LATEST TITLE

"Salt Thief" More to His Liking Than "Mahatma"

Raid Plan Reiterated as He Leaves for Ambheti

Dispatches Reveal Critical Situation in Riot Area

NAVASARI (India) April 27. (AP) Mahatma Gandhi, accompanied by Mrs. Gandhi and her women volunteers, left today for Ambheti, in Bardoli subdistrict.

During a speech at Charvada announcing his new plan of campaign yesterday, Gandhi said he likes the new name, "Salt Thief," given him by his opponents, better than that of "Mahatma"—Holy Man—given him by his friends. He said anyone can become "Mahatma" by putting on a loin cloth and making some pretenses in the matter of food and drink, but it is not so easy to be a salt thief.

Reiterating his intention of raiding the government's salt depot at Dharasana, he said "we have been playing a child's game so far, but we are going to be serious when I make the attack on Dharasana.

"I shall invite men, but not women, to accompany me, for the authorities will laugh at us if I take women with me. We won't harbor anger or advise it, but will suffer calmly. We should be ready to die, but not in the manner of Chittagong or Peshawar, for those disorders delayed independence."

Gandhi added that he is not sure when independence will be obtained. It is understood he will shortly draft another letter to Lord Irwin, Viceroy of India.

The disturbances at Chittagong and Peshawar, referred to by Gandhi, caused considerable loss of life. The fighting done on those occasions violated his code of nonviolence.

FRONTIER TRIBES READY FOR INVASION

SIMLA (India) April 27. (AP)—Dispatches from Peshawar saying the warlike frontier tribes collected outside the city in preparation for a raid during the rioting last Wednesday, revealed today how critical the situation had been on India's northwest frontier.

The dispatches added that the tribesmen dispersed quietly when they saw the authorities were masters of the situation, and that any plundering would be severely punished. The leading townsmen at Peshawar have begun conferences with the chief commissioner, expressing readiness to co-operate in restoration of normal conditions. Officials here consider the latest news reassuring.

Viceroy Lord Irwin today promulgated an ordinance reviving the Press Act of 1910, with amendments suited to the present political situation. The original Press Act dealt with incitements to murder and acts of violence, and with published matter tending to seduce soldiers and sailors from their allegiance to duty or to bring into hatred or contempt the British government, any native Prince, of any section of His Majesty's subjects in India.

NATION-WIDE FETE PLANS ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—Plans for having "all of the people in every school district, hamlet, town and city in the nation" participate in the George Washington bicentennial celebration in 1932 were announced today by Lieut.-Col. U. S. Grant, III, an associate director of the United States Commission for the celebration. "No concentration of the celebration is proposed in any one locality," Lieut.-Col. Grant said in discussing preliminary plans for the event.

JUDGE PARKER DEFENDS ACTS

Supreme Court Nominee Puts Record Straight

Denies Negro Prejudice and Answers Unionists

Senate Vote Slated Today on North Carolinian

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—Facing determined opposition in the Senate tomorrow to his nomination for membership in the Supreme Court, Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina today undertook his own defense.

The jurist, whom the Senate Judiciary Committee refused to invite to testify in his own behalf, answered his critics in a letter to Senator Overman, Democrat, North Carolina, in which he disclaimed any prejudice against the Negro race and asserted he was bound by previous Supreme Court decisions in the "Yellow Dog" case which brought opposition from organized labor. The letter was given out at Senator Overman's office.

The Senate tomorrow is to consider the Judiciary Committee's report which recommended, ten to six, against confirmating President Hoover's nomination of Parker.

Of the Negro charges Parker wrote that he at no time advocated denying them the vote but that he argued against Democratic charges that the Republicans sought to organize the Negro vote.

Francis X. Busch, president of the bar association, has been appointed by Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce, as the association's "official observer" at civil-service hearings into charges brought against Cullen.

THREATS HINTED

Hard on the heels of the association's action came charges from R. E. Blackwood, attorney for Cullen, that tend to substantiate the charge that Capone had more than an academic interest in the establishment of the bureau of plumbing and that aldermen and others were being harassed by threats.

"A month before Cullen was suspended," Blackwood said, "Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe called Cullen into his office. Wolfe told Cullen he had better quit, take a leave of absence or be demoted. And Wolfe gave as his reason that 'We are dealing with a tough bunch and thy're out to get you and they will get you sooner or later.'"

WOLFE FILES CHARGES

The charges against Cullen, which must be heard within five days, were filed by Commissioner Wolfe. Cullen is accused of "conduct unbecoming a civil service employee and violation of official integrity in the matter of conserving and protecting public funds against illegal and unwarranted allowance."

Blackwood said that the charge is based on Cullen's allowance of three and one-half days' pay to W. H. Cummings, a city plumber, an allowance which he made only after, according to Blackwood, he obtained the approval of City Engineer Gayton.

Something entirely different—a contest so interesting, and at the same time, so easy and simple that every one can take part in it. There are no tricks in the Star Puzzle—no long hours—no conglomerated masses to add or compile—just figure out word combinations from the letters in the star. You will find it pleasurable entertainment and the handsome cash prizes are certainly worth having. The only question you have to answer is:

"How Many English Words Can You Spell with the Letters in the Star?"

$500 Second
$250 Third

How Many English Words Can You Spell With the Letters in This Star?

Don't Skip or Jump Letters or Spaces, Take Adjacent or Touching Letters in Any Direction. Simple, Isn't It?

READ INSTRUCTIONS CAREFULLY

Instructions

Form as many words as possible from the letters in the Star. Start with any letter and take any number of adjacent or contiguous letters IN ANY DIRECTION: that is, forward, backward, upward, downward and/or diagonally. (A letter is adjacent or contiguous to another when the spaces occupied touch each other on the sides or at the corners. M-16 is next to or adjacent to N-8, G-9, E-17, S-24, I-23, L-22, I-15 and A-7. S-6 is adjacent or contiguous to O-5 and T-14 but is not adjacent or contiguous to A-7 and U-20 because separated from these letters by blank spaces.) Do not jump or skip any letters or spaces.

Examples: T-1, H-2, A-7, N-8	spells THAN;
S-6, T-14, U-20, B-21	spells STUB;
L-22, I-15, M-16, I-23, T-31	spells LIMIT.

The same letter may be used more than once in a word (as I-15 in MILITIA—M-16, I-15, L-22, I-15, T-14, I-15, A-7), but do not double any letter. For example: L-48 cannot be doubled to form the word ROLL with R-47 and O-40, but L-29 and L-30, two adjacent and contiguous letters, can be used with B-21 and A-28 to form BALL.

RULES

No word may be used more than once. Do not use obsolete, archaic, dialect, Scottish or un-Anglicized foreign words, proper names of persons, peoples or places, or parts of words, such as prefixes, suffixes, contractions or abbreviations. Either the singular or plural form may be used, but do not use both forms of the same word. In any question, Webster's International Dictionary will be authority.

For convenience in checking, lists of words must be submitted in alphabetical order. Each word should be numbered consecutively, starting with 1. It will not be necessary to give the index numbers of the spaces in which the letters are found.

Contestant's name, address and telephone number should be written at the beginning of the list, together with the total number of words submitted. Use only one side of the paper.

This Contest is open to every person in California and Arizona except members of the families of employees of THE TIMES. Only one prize will be awarded to a household.

As explained in the LIST of PRIZES, there are two classes of prizes. It is not necessary to subscribe or send in a subscription to The TIMES to compete for one of the Class B prizes. The Class A prizes are open to those who send in a 6-months' paid-in-advance subscription to the DAILY and SUNDAY TIMES. This may be either a renewal or a new subscription. There are 56 prizes in each class. The contestant in each class submitting the largest number of words properly formed from the letters in the Star according to these instructions will receive the first prize in that class; the one submitting the next largest number, the second prize; and so on. The right is reserved to increase the number and the value of the prizes at any time during the progress of this Contest.

In the event of ties, contestants tying will be required to form words in a similar manner from letters in a smaller diagram. Should any ties result from the second Contest a prize identical with that tied will be awarded to each tying contestant.

This Contest will close at 6 p. m., on Saturday, May 31, 1930. All lists of words must be delivered at the Contest Depository on the main floor of The Times Building before that time, or, if mailed, must bear postmark showing that they were mailed before that hour.

LIQUOR-BUYING ISSUE UP TODAY

Supreme Court Will Listen to Legal Arguments

Elements of Conspiracy and Purchase Involved

Mitchell Seeks Answers to Vexing Questions

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—Whether the purchaser of liquor is guilty as well as the seller will be before the Supreme Court for argument tomorrow.

This, the latest of several prohibition enforcement problems on which the court has consented to pass will come up in two forms, each a government test case to ascertain whether prohibition agents extend their enforcing operations to arrest bootleggers' customers.

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, who may be before long become charged with the duty of prohibition enforcement through transfer of this activity from the Treasury, has been taking an active part in seeking to obtain from the highest tribunal the final word on many disputed prohibition questions, confident that the government will be materially aided when the Supreme Court has spoken.

QUESTION DEFINED

The court is being asked to decide whether purchase of bootleg liquor is a violation of the prohibition law.

In a case from Philadelphia brought by the government against Alfred E. Morris, a New York banker, the government will contend that those who order from bootleggers knowing that illicit transportation will be involved in delivering the product, are guilty of conspiracy with the bootlegger to violate the prohibition law.

The other case presents the direct question of the guilt of the purchaser when illegal transportation is not involved. It comes from Boston, Mass., where the government was defeated in its effort to have James E. Farrar held guilty of violating the prohibition law when he purchased illicit liquor from Frank Rotondo.

Last week the court held arguments on troublesome controversies arising out of prohibition permits, the confiscation of automobiles and the right to seize bottles, barrels, casks and other articles which would be of use to bootleggers for marketing their products.

FINANCE ANGLE

It has been pointed out that $2,000,000,000 of the purchase price of automobiles is constantly carried by financing and other companies, which hold liens on the automobiles while the purchasers are meeting deferred payments. The government has insisted, however, it had the right, when such automobiles are seized for the unlawful transportation of liquor, to decide whether to confiscate the cars under the internal revenue laws, giving the lien holders no opportunity to redeem them, or under the prohibition laws, giving the lien holders an opportunity to recover them by showing that the unlawful use had not been authorized.

In five cases involving manufacturers operating under permits to use liquor and alcohol, the government took the position that it had the right to require such manufacturers to renew the permits annually, and that the permit should not remain in force, as was the old practice, until revoked or suspended for cause.

In its attack on the sale of containers, which could be used by bootleggers for marketing the products, the government emphasized that if it could keep them from obtaining attractive bottles and other containers for their illicit product it would go a long way in reducing the bootleg trade.

REPARATION PACT WAITS SIGNATURES

Eastern Question Agreed on by Five Nations and Will be Signed Today

PARIS, April 27. (AP)—The Eastern reparations question, left over for separate settlement by the Hague conferences, was definitely settled in the early hours of this morning.

Final signatures to the agreement, negotiated by representatives of Rumania, Czecho-Slovakia, and Jugo-Slavia, on the allied side, and of Bulgaria and Hungary, of the Central Powers, will be affixed tomorrow afternoon.

As Edouard Bene, Czecho-Slovakian Minister of Foreign Affairs, was obliged to go to Geneva this morning, he signed all the documents in which his country is interested before leaving. The other delegates will sign together tomorrow.

The Paris press tonight commented favorably on the agreement, emphasizing that it removed one of the two remaining hindrances to the full application of the Young plan and the opening of the bank for international settlements. The only one left now is the formal ratification of the Young plan by Great Britain and by Italy.

VAN DYKE DOCKER MUST SERVE TIME IN CHURCH

FREDONIA (Iowa) April 27. (Exclusive)—Harley Diller went to church today, which wouldn't be news if his attendance had not been compulsory.

Two weeks ago Diller and five of his young friends thought it would be a great joke to kidnap former Mayor Jerry Van Dyke and trim his luxuriant van dyke. If there was anything in the world Van Dyke liked it was his van dyke, and he couldn't see the joke. The youths were arrested and fined $100 and costs each on their pleas of guilty. The fines were suspended on the promise of the youths to attend church and Sunday-school every Sunday for a year. Diller played hookey and was arrested and sentenced to serve thirty days in jail. After serving five days, Diller had a change of heart. His employers promised the court that they would see that he kept his promise, and that's why his attendance at church twice today is news.

FATHER ESSAYS FAMILY MURDER

Runs Amuck in Home With Gun and Ax

Kills Son and Hacks Wife and Four Others

Tragedy Laid to Suspicion of Love Plot

NEW YORK, April 27. (Exclusive) A doctor's order which he interpreted as a move in a conspiracy to rob him of his wife's love sent Vincent Calise, 61 years of age, on a murderous rampage early today, designed to wipe out his happy and prosperous family.

He shot one son to death as he slept, shot a daughter and hacked two other sons with an ax, probably fatally injuring all three, then fearfully lacerated his wife and another daughter with the ax.

When police finally broke into the Calise home in Brooklyn, at 6:20 a.m., they found the old man kneeling beside the body of his dead son, muttering a frenzied prayer for the destruction of all doctors.

The fateful order was issued a year ago, when the wife, Mrs. Rose Calise, 50, sufferéd a nervous breakdown. Her physician decreed that she must separate from her husband for a time and take a complete rest, and so she went alone to the seashore. A month later she returned, however, when her husband threatened that unless she did so he would seek out the companionship of other women.

Then began a quarrel which eventually was to result in the tragedy.

BABY-CASE QUIZ REBUKE ISSUED

Portland Chief Wants Action in Parentage Dispute

PORTLAND (Or.) April 27. (AP)—A sharp rebuke to authorities investigating the so-called Schaefer baby case was administered tonight by Police Chief Jenkins, who said that unless positive information is received within the next two days the District Attorney's office will be given full charge in the inquiry.

The case, which has been hanging fire since January and involves the disputed parentage of an infant girl, by Mrs. George F. Schaefer, Portland, and Miss Geraldine Watson of Los Angeles and Phoenix, Ariz., has caused considerable comment in the city.

When it developed that one of two children Mrs. Schaefer said were born to her had been abandoned on the doorstep of a Salem (Or.) business man, Chief Jenkins immediately assigned two detectives to the case. They ran up against such a voluminous amount of contradictory evidence that progress in the case has been slow.

Mrs. Schaefer claims that Georgiana Jane, the infant girl, was born to her in a Portland hospital. Miss Watson, who is said to have abandoned the baby in a Los Angeles hotel while she went to Phoenix to obtain money for its maintenance, came to Portland recently and identified the baby.

EISTEDDFOD IN OXNARD OPENS

Eight-Day Festival of Music Begins With Drama

Several Contests in Ventura and in Santa Paula

Oils, Water-Colors and Also Etchings Shown

OXNARD, April 27.—With nearly 4000 entries in the various departments, the sixth annual Ventura county Eisteddfod started its eight-day festival last night with the presentation of a contest in drama. The opening of the Eisteddfod was staged in the Oxnard Union High School Auditorium with fitting ceremonies. Rudolph Beck, president of the movement this year, opened the series of events while other notables of the county intrested in the festival were present to participate in the program.

In addition to events here, several of the largest contests will be held in Ventura and Santa Paula. Throughout the entire eight days a collection of beautiful art work, including oils, water colors, etchings, wood blocks, photography and other subjects, will be on display at the community center here. A traveling loan exhibit of paintings by California artists will be a feature of this display. The entire building is especially wired for proper electrical illuminating effects for this feature.

Drama contests were held last night, featuring one-act plays entered by Oxnard, Santa Paula and Hueneme. The art exhibition remains open on Sunday.

On Monday competitions will feature dance solos, piano solos, vocal, violin and 'cello readings, junior and adult vocals and high school dramas.

Junior plays, adult comedies, high school comedies, dance contests on Tuesday. High-school comedies will be presented in Santa Paula.

SERVICE CLUBS COMPETE

On Wednesday grammar school choruses, dance groups, orchestras and service clubs will compete. The service club singing contest will be held in the high school auditorium in Ventura. On Thursday band contests will be held in Oxnard and on Friday rural choruses will be judged all day. The final presentation will consist of adult comedies, to be presented here.

A great number of prominent artists and people of note in social and musical circles will be in attendance during the Eisteddfod, either as judges or interested spectators. John Steven McGroarty will be master of ceremonies at the service club contest in Ventura. Alexander Stewart of the faculty of U.S.C. college of music will be one of the musical judges. Stewart has been connected with the Ventura county Eisteddfod since its inception and has greatly added the music section of the movement through his efforts.

Mrs. Margaret Burbrick Purcell of Pasadena, Dr. Lyon Haseltine of Burbank and Irving Pichel of the Santa Barbara Community Arts Association, will judge the drama contests. All three are well known in art centers of California.

Herbert Tovey, recently selected as director of the glee clubs and professor on the California Christian College faculty, is among the music judges. Arthur M. Perry, assistant dean of music at U.S.C., will judge violin and 'cello contests. Adelaide Trowbridge Perry, head of the piano department of the U.S.C. normal teachers' training class, will judge in the piano section. Margaretha Lohmann, head of the music department of Whittier College, will act as judge on Saturday in the piano section. George Tyler of the Long Beach Municipal Band and Claribel Patten Wallace, soprano concert soloist, will judge local vocal competitions.

GREAT GROWTH TOLD

Dance judges include C. L. Glenn, supervisor of physical education of Los Angeles public schools, and Martin Trieb, his assistant.

Art judges include Frank Morley Fletcher, head of the Santa Barbara School of Arts, and Charles Paine, also of Santa Barbara.

The Eisteddfod has grown each year and it is expected that this year's attempt will overshadow anything ever staged in the past. The first Eisteddfod had around 500 entries. The present event is nearly eight times larger. Men, women and children from all parts of the county interested in the various arts are displaying a keen interest in the different competitions.

MONTEREY PARK WILL OBSERVE BIRTHDAY

MONTEREY PARK, April 27.—Plans are under way to celebrate the city's fourteenth birthday on May 28, the anniversary of the incorporation of Monterey Park. A general committee under the leadership of L. H. Browning is handling the arrangements.

POSTOFFICE SITE ASSURED

W. A. Kennedy, Treasurer of Pomona Chamber of Commerce Committee, Gets Federal Warrant

POMONA, April 27.—With the receipt by W. A. Kennedy, treasurer of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce postoffice committee, of a Federal warrant for $15,000, completion of the purchase of a postoffice site on Thomas street between Third and Fourth streets is completed and the way is paved for the construction of Pomona's long-sought postoffice building. Work on the project is to begin in the next eight or nine months.

Completion of this huge deal, involving a total price of $45,000, paves the way for another realty transaction, in that St. Paul's Episcopal Church, now located on the future postoffice site, has purchased a site at Alvarado and Gibbs street, and will begin the erection of a new church structure in the immediate future.

While the total price of the postoffice site was $45,000, of which the government appropriated $15,000, Pomonans contributed the $30,000 balance to insure speedy erection and location of the new Federal structure. The site will contribute a handsome addition to Pomona's Civic Center group, which now includes the City Hall, Los Angeles county health center, police station and fire department, and is situated adjacent to the business and shopping center of the city.

It will provide for various governmental agencies in addition to a modern and completely equipped postoffice plant.

Tentative plans indicate that the government has provided for anticipated future expansion, thereby assuring this city of a structure that will not be outgrown in the course of a few years.

Frosh Debate Coach Struggles With Yearlings

REDLANDS, April 27.—With the Southern California Conference contests for the university freshman debating teams in full swing now, Clarence Oswald, junior at the University of Redlands, is being kept busy not only in coaching the yearlings, but in finishing up the details incumbent on the manager of college forensics.

CLARENCE OSWALD

Oswald has been entrusted with the coaching of the first year men in forensics at the university by Prof. E. R. Nichols, debate coach, who has recently returned from Wichita, Kan., with the varsity debaters who placed high in the national meeting of Pi Kappa Delta. The frosh coach arranged the schedule for eastern debates in addition to managing the teams in the contests held on the home platform as well as at the opponent schools.

He won his forensic key last year as a debater, the student body unanimously electing him manager of the activity for this season. His debating interests began at the Redlands High School in a similar capacity.

S.P.C.A. Work in Redlands Has Steady Increase

REDLANDS, April 27.—Notwithstanding the decreased use of horses on ranches, the work of the San Bernardino Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, organized in 1884, increases each year here. The annual report reveals that 637 horses were inspected, four horses laid off, eight horses ordered shot, 1130 cattle inspected and 287 other animals inspected. Among the animals mercifully disposed of, the report lists ten horses, one goat, 256 dogs and 361 cats.

There have been thirty-nine warnings in cruelty cases, fifty-two homes found for animals, 567 complaints investigated, 545 trips made on humane work, 3622 miles covered in humane work.

The financial statement shows receipts for the year of $928.54 and disbursements of $986.01, leaving a deficit of $57.47. The county humane officer is the only one who receives salary in the organization, and his salary is $600 annually.

The society has the services of Dr. W. E. Phelps, city veterinarian, and James Scott, humane officer.

Officials of the post announce that Legionnaires will take active part in the Fourth of July celebration and are making plans to enter a float in the parade. A committee composed of H. B. Norris, W. H. Sloan, W. H. Hohorst, C. E. Annis and Atkinson have been appointed to work out the details of the float plans.

SCOUTS RAISE FUNDS THROUGH MAILS NOW

Z. Ziebell, head of the executive committee. The drive started Thursday and Scout officials predict that the new campaign method will prove more thorough and successful than the former house-to-house campaign.

Many Wells in Ventura Area May be Menace

VENTURA, April 27.—More than forty-five wells, many said to be unauthorized, with a capacity of 5,200,000 gallons a day, have been located in the valleys of the Ventura River and its tributaries by water department investigators, Supt. Myles Robinson has revealed.

Drain of these wells upon the city's water resources might become a serious menace in a severe drought, Robinson pointed out. He compared the demand of 5,200,000 gallons a day to the total water use of the city, near-by farms and oil fields, which reached 8,000,000 gallons a day only in peak times. He also said that the figure was about twice what the city proper used.

Robinson now is busy having the wells mapped and obtaining other data from their depth and draught in connection with a survey of the city's water resources and rights which was ordered recently by the City Council.

When the information is complete, it will be turned over to City Attorney Walter Fourt, who is now investigating the rights of the municipality in the water in the Ventura River system.

If it is learned that the city has a right to all the water, court action will be instituted to stop all illegal use and to prevent drilling of any more wells, according to present plans.

Of the forty-five wells that have been found by Robinson's men, nineteen are on the Ventura River, fifteen on San Antonio Creek and eleven on Coyote Creek. Some of them are not in use.

No wells have been checked in the Ojai north of Matilija Creek's mouth.

Law Waits for Dog to Take One More Bite

VENTURA, April 27.—Because the law says a dog is entitled to one bite without any penalty, an Airedale, assertedly the property of Mrs. Theresa Hahn of this city cannot be harmed by the law, police informed Mrs. S. N. Patton, local woman.

Mrs. Patton was attackd and bitten by the dog recently while she was on the way to a theater with two friends. She exhibited her right arm which showed two gashes and a black and blue mark caused by the dog's teeth.

When she told police of the attack, they informed her they were able to do nothing since the law declares that a dog is entitled to the first bite, and can be declared vicious and put to death only after it is proven that it has made a second attack upon a human being.

Chief of Police Mattson said today he is starting an immediate investigation in an attempt to find legal means of clearing up the dog situation here.

Improvement Plans on File

SAN DIEGO, April 27.—Plans for a big improvement project in the La Jolla-Mesa Drive region lying between Pacific Beach and La Jolla has been filed with the City Clerk.

The improvement contemplates the paving, curbing and sidewalking of parts of seven streets, with installation of ornamental lights, sewer and water mains at a cost estimated at approximately $150,000. The paving specified is nonskid asphalt six inches thick it was stated.

The plans were prepared by project engineers and checked by the city engineering department. They are to come before the City Council for action tomorrow.

BUDGET ESTIMATES MUST BE READY SOON

MONROVIA, April 27.—In preparation for the compilation of the city budget for 1931, department executives have been requested by C. I. MEXICAN DATA COMPILED

Make Up 8 Per Cent of Ventura County Population, Cost Large Percentage of Taxes, Report Says

VENTURA, April 27.—Statistics showing that $167,274 is spent annually out of the tax funds of Ventura county in the administration of justice, welfare work, health work, hospitalization, etc., for Mexican residents, were made public today by officers of the Ventura Central Labor Council.

The council's figures show that these expenditures, in the various departments concerned, run from 28 1-3 to 53 per cent of the total. Further, it is pointed out in this report, only 8 per cent of the county's population is Mexican, only 2 per cent of the taxpayers are Mexicans, and of the total taxes only one-half of 1 per cent is paid by the Mexicans.

In releasing the figures for publication, the committee said that it was doing so only in the interests of presenting facts and not in any way to stir up feeling or resentment against the Mexican residents. It was added, however, by a member of the committee, that similar figures are being compiled in all the counties of California and other border States with an aim of using them later as a powerful argument why immigration of Mexicans should be restricted or reduced.

Members of the labor committee who compiled the figures from county records are C. A. Pander, Arthur Woods and W. E. Mohler.

ENUMERATOR COUNTS ROAD KNIGHTS

Alhambra Includes "Jungle" Denizens in Her Population

"Bindle Stiffs" Line Up for Uncle Sam's Count

ALHAMBRA, April 27. — Is Uncle Sam counting in his 1930 census the itinerants, the hobos, the transients of the jungles?

So far as Alhambra is concerned these knights of the road, if they happen to have sojourned within the city on the 1st inst., are entitled to be counted as Alhambra population.

E. M. Dighton, head of the Alhambra census district, frowned at his sheets of figures. Although the count was incomplete, the total was far short of estimates. "We've got to get some more citizens for Alhambra or Flym Davis, the Chamber of Commerce secretary, will feel mighty hurt," mused Dighton.

"Have you been down to the jungles, yet?" suggested Police Lieutenant A. P. Cherry.

"Jungles? Ha, ha. What do you think this is, Africa? This is no joking matter," returned Dighton.

"No, I'm serious," said Cherry. "I mean down where the 'bindle stiffs' hold forth. Down in the jungles. Down near Hidalgo street and Mission Road. In the wash near the railroad tracks. That's where you'll find 'em. Plenty of 'em."

"Let's go," said Dighton, gathering up his papers.

So Dighton and the officer repaired to the jungles and found five of its denizens gathered around a camp fire in the San Pasqual Wash. Scattered in the grove of trees that is the hobo jungle were their rough lean-to ahanties of brush. Five men were there, making their noonday meal of weiners, bread and coffee.

They were very polite and seemed pleased to be counted in the census. Their names were Joe Lester, Mike Doyle, Mike Egan, Nick Rinehart and James McNeil.

"Do you own your own home?" asked Dighton, mechanically. Then he caught himself, and smiled. "Well, we'll pass that up. I guess none of you own your own homes. Nor radios either." The men laughed.

Egan proudly informed the enumerator that he was counted in the census ten years ago when he was working in a mine in Death Valley. He is 63 years of age. He has been working on the railroads most of his life in California, he said.

The Mexican immigration movement was an absorbing topic with the jungle citizens. "We was just thinking we'd have to move on to some other country where they was buildin' railroads," said Rinehart.

Three of the group gave their occupations as laborers. One said he was an engineer and the other said he was a molder. All were "bindle stiffs" or "pack hoboes." With one exception all were from 55 to 65 years of age.

"This'll be our last census," said Egan.

Dighton went back to his office and added five to the Alhambra population count. "Every little bit helps," he told the Chamber of Commerce man.

TRASH CANS BRING REVENUE

San Diego Purchasing Agent Advises Bids Should be Asked for Placing Advertising on Them

SAN DIEGO, April 27.—If the City Council desires to continue permitting trash can advertising on the streets it should ask for bids to get the best offer, in the opinion of A. V. Goeddel, city purchasing agent. Bids could be made on a basis which would give the city a percentage of the revenues obtained from the advertising instead of a flat-rate basis, it was said.

So far the city has had offers ranging from only $5 to $9 a can a year, the purchasing agent said, although it has been reported that excellent profits are made from the advertising on the cans.

The matter was referred to the purchasing agent recently after considerable Council discussion. It was brought out that the city originally granted a five-year trash-can advertising concession on a basis of $2 a can a month. This was in 1925, but payments appear to have been received only for one year, then H. L. Hartman was granted a free permit to advertise on the cans for two years. His permit expired last month. Hartman offered to pay $5 a can a year if his permit was renewed by the city.

Secret Daily Rendezvous With Brunette Kept by Fugitive Truck Dealer

SANTA ANA, April 27.—Search for William W. Ross, former Santa Ana truck dealer, believed to have mulcted the Federal Finance Company of Santa Ana, the American-avenue branch of the Bank of Italy in Long Beach, and other firms, of more than $100,000, was quickened yesterday when discovery was made that Ross had kept a secret daily business rendesvous with a beautiful woman at 412 West Second street, where the woman worked in a little room over a garage as a professional writer.

Officials said the woman was known as Mrs. Myra Strachan, 30 years of age, a beautiful brunette, who said her husband was an accountant. Mrs. Strachan, said to have moved to San Francisco, is sought to ascertain if she can throw any light upon Ross's involved financial deals.

After residing here for several months the woman was said to have moved to Laguna Beach, later resuming her literary work in the garage attic.

Deputy sheriffs said today a report received was that Ross had been seen driving an automobile between Long Beach and Wilmington yesterday morning. Positive identification could not be made by the person who reported to Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Floyd Howard who is aiding Sheriff Sam Jernigan in the nation-wide search for the former Santa Ana clubman.

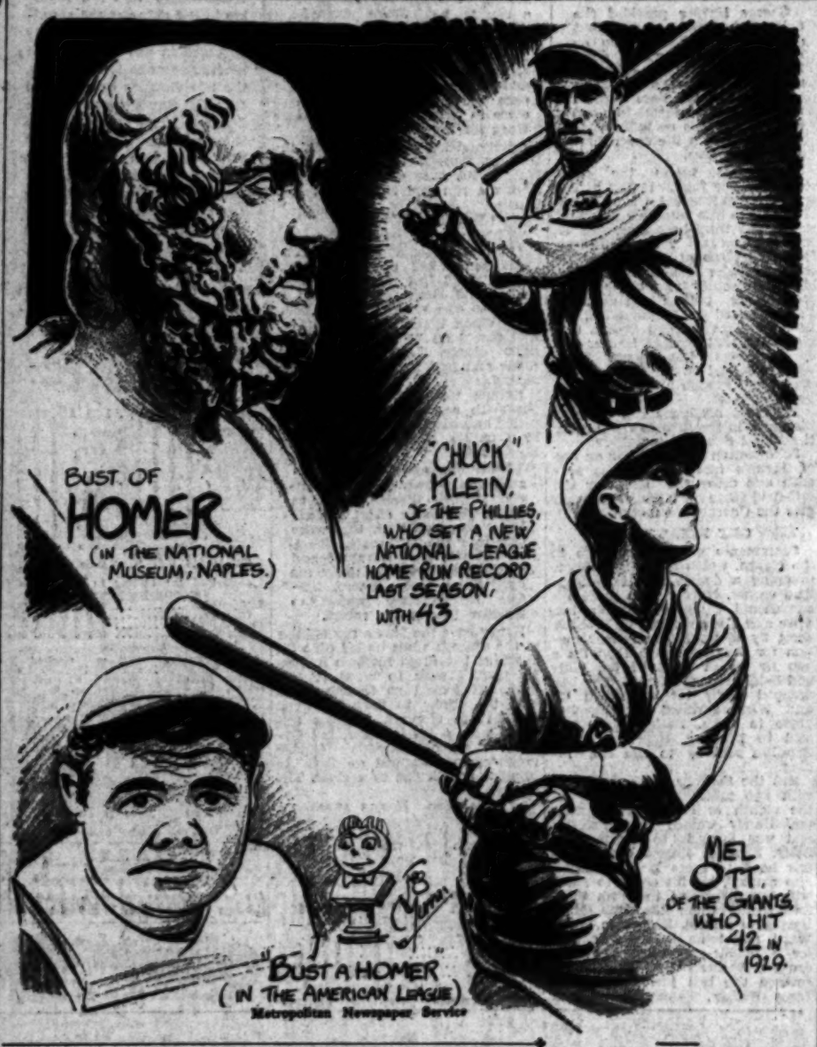
SPEAKING OF HOMERS - By Feg Murray



MAGYARS COP SOCCER TILT

Los Angeles Athletic Club Team Blows Up When Star Goal Keeper is Knocked Unconscious

An injury to Joe Koelmel, veteran Mercury goal tender, put an end to a tight soccer football battle between the L.A.A.C. Mercuries and the Magyars at Loyola Field yesterday.

With the score tied at 1 to 1 and both teams pressing for only one goal to win, Koelmel crashed into "Monty" Monts errat, Hungarian forward, and the former was knocked cold. He was taken to a hospital for treatment but the injury is said not to be serious.

Alf Scott, halfback, was drawn back to the goalie position but the crippled Mercuries were helpless against the hard driving attack of the Hungarians who scored four goals in quick succession. All of these goals were tallied by Espinosa, speedy center forward.

The Magyars will now meet the Hollywood Sheiks in the deciding league game and a victory for the Hungarians will give them a tie with the Sheiks. The latter team plays the biggest game of the season in Los Angeles this year, when they meet the San Francisco Rovers at Loyola next Sunday in the second game of the State champion-

Battle Fleet Ball Champs Are Defeated

BY LIEUT. C. E. CHAPEL U.S.M.C.

ABOARD U.S.S. CALIFORNIA (Guantanamo Bay, Cuba) April 27. The California baseball team, champions of the battle fleet, were today defeated, 8 to 5, for the United States Fleet title by the squad from the aircraft carrier Wright, scouting fleet champions. Twenty-five thousand officers and men gathered in the stadium under a boiling Cuban sun, watched the Wright take the navy title in a last-minute finish.

A considerable portion of the glory was retrieved, however, when the U.S.S. California pistol team, coached by Lieut. Alvin Henderson of San Pedro, won the United States Fleet championship.

The California's rifle team also won the battle fleet title with the U.S.S. New Mexico squad a close second.

The husky oarsmen from the dreadnaught Maryland won both the selected raceboat and engineers' whaleboat events, while the first enlistment whaleboat race went to the U.S.S. West Virginia.

About 3000 years ago there lived a blind poet who has been described more than once as the "First Sports Writer." When I mention his name—and it was Homer—you will readily see what connection he has with Messrs. Ruth, Klein, Ott and company. The word "Homer" probably means nothing but a four-base wallop to many ball players and fans, but the ancient Greek of that name, whose stories of stirring bouts between the Greeks and Trojans of old have never been surpassed by modern fight writers, wrote a bit about a ball game, too, although there was no actual mention of a circuit clout in the story. In the Odyssey, the blind bard sings of a game between Princess Anagalia of Corcyra and her handmaidens, in which "Toss and retoss, the ball incessant flies."

But now to get down to the business at hand. Chuck Klein, 24-year-old star outfielder of the Phillies, threatens to break Babe Ruth's major-league home-run record of sixty this season. Last year, you will remember, Klein broke Rogers Hornsby's National League record by hitting out forty-three four-base hits. Mel Ott of the Giants tied the Rajah's record, and his New York team-mates assert that he would have beaten out Klein had not the Philly pitchers walked him the last half a dozen times they faced him. Klein got off first in the 1930 home-run derby, but Ott soon caught up with him.

Ruth, Klein and Ott are not alone in the quest for homer honors. Al Simmons, Dale Alexander, Lou Gehrig or Jimmy Foxx might surpass the Babe at this specialty, while Hack Wilson (who hit seventy home run in 1928 and 1929 together,) Lefty O'Doul and Hornsby himself can be counted on to furnish lively competition for Klein and Ott. Hornsby has hit 378 homers (not counting 1930,) while Ruth's record is 516.

MOTORCYCLE RACES AT LEGION THRILL FANS

Motorcycle racing in its most thrilling stage was served to fans at the American Legion Speedway yesterday afternoon. Eight all-motorcycle events comprised the program, several of which seemed to overshadow the Targio Fiorio, which was billed as the main event. Leo Froelich, pushing a Harley Davidson, captured the hill-climbing event in 3m. 36s. Joe Anderson took a close second, and P. A. Bigsby finished third. Fourth place went to Ralph Sullivan, and fifth to Noel McIntyre.

Froelich, driving his first race in four years, was in ninth position as the drivers started the long grind up hill. Several two-wheelers piled up in front of him, which enabled him to move up a few places. By careful manipulating Froelich forced his way into the lead, losing it to Anderson on the down slope, and regaining it again near the foot of the hill. He was never threatened from there in to the finish.

Tuffy Jacobs won the national three-mile championship in 2m. 30 4-10s, after a hard battle with Miny Waln, who finished a close second. Jacobs turned one of his laps in 30 1-8s, setting a new record for motors of 21.50 cubic inches.

Jacobs and Waln hooked up in two other duels, each winning a race. The former taking a three-lap sprint, and the latter winning a five-lap event. Incidentally, the three races between these two daredevils proved to be the most thrilling part of the program.

In the five-mile national championship race for motors with side cars, Al Keeler, the flying mailman, brought his Indian to the finish in first place. Jim Peck took third, followed by P. A. Bigsby in fourth place.

Coming out of the first turn in this event Jim Davis took a bad spill, luckily escaping with minor scratches and a badly sprained leg.

Lipton Trophy Will Go to Winning Craft

Fleet Finishes Long Trek to San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27. (AP)—Conqueror of more than 450 miles of rough weather and heavy seas, the power cruiser Seyelyn, owned by Paul F. Johnson of the Balboa Yacht Club, tonight was adjudged the winner of the three-leg handicap ocean race between Long Beach and San Francisco for the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy.

Fourteen of the twenty-one power yachts which left Long Beach Thursday crossed the finish line today led by the Seal II, owned by J. Harrington Sickle of the San Diego Yacht Club. Next came the Seyelyn and close behind the Lucky B, owned by A. A. Snyder of the Long Beach Yacht Club.

The Seyelyn was also declared winner of the Class B entries—boats of less than sixty feet in length.

The Blue Boy, from the California Yacht Club of San Pedro, limped across the finish line with two feet of water in her bilges, to win the Class A trophy for the larger boats. The Blue Boy sprung a leak shortly after leaving Monterey and nearly foundered when the pumps broke down. Her crew stuck manfully to bailing, however, and the big cruiser made the harbor safely. The vessel was put on dry dock in Sausalito.

It was also revealed the engine-room of the Blue Boy was afire in two places when the craft crossed the line. Two men were playing fire extinguishers on the walls below decks to keep the flames away from the fuel tanks while others sloshed water on the decks to keep them cool.

Boats were handicapped according to their rated speed, but a mix-up in starting times for the numerous entries confused judges and occasioned a delay in announcing results. First three places in the A and B classes were announced as follows: Class A, won by Blue Boy, owned by Carl Gonetz, California

Ray Alf Loses to Dan Cupid

Ray Alf, sprint champion of the Los Angeles A.C. track team, ran one of his fastest races of the season yesterday when he returned from Fresno in the morning and then rushed out to Claremont where he was married to Miss Anna Pearl Wright of Berkeley. The marriage was performed by Rev. Josiah Sibley of Pasadena in the garden of the Webb School for Boys, where Alf is an instructor. His bride teaches at Mrs. Webb's day school.

Alf ran flashy laps on the Mercury 440 and one-mile relay teams at Fresno Saturday night. He formerly ran for the Denver A.C., and is junior national 220-yard record-holder.

Tuffy Gets Real Test in Rematch Wednesday With Jack Gagnon

NEW YORK, April 27. (AP)—Despite the return of boxing to Madison Square Garden this week, Chicago fans will see one bout that promises the most sensational milling.

At the Chicago Stadium on Wednesday night, Tuffy Griffith, Sioux City (Iowa) heavyweight, meets Jack Gagnon of Boston in a return match that should give the spectators a real run for their money.

Griffith was bowling over opponents right and left until he met Gagnon at Philadelphia a few weeks ago, but the Boston heavyweight upset all expert calculations and Griffith as well, winning on a technical knockout in six rounds. Griffith probably will be a betting

Southern California Varsity Carries Off Top Honors by Scoring 77 Points; Wykoff Twice Equals World Record in 100—Rothert Wins Over Brix

FRESNO, April 27.—Track athletes were pulling out of Fresno today, headed for home after the third annual West Coast Relay meet staged here last night. The University of Southern California team carried off scoring honors in Class A, getting 77 points to enjoy a wide lead over the Los Angeles Athletic Club in second place with 37.

Frank Wykoff, swift blond youngster, who races under the colors of the University of Southern California, won both his heat and the finals of the 100-yard dash, Class A event in the time of 9 6-10s. It equaled the recognized world's record. The Glendale youth won as he pleased, with at least three yards to spare each time.

First place in five relay races, 440-yard, 880-yard, mile, two-mile and four-mile, and the 100, plus a generous helping of second and lesser positions, brought the Trojans their impressive victory.

ERIC PEDLEY STARS AS UPLIFTERS' FOUR WINS

Eric Pedley and his brother Lionel burned up the turf to lead the Uplifters' four to a 10-to-4 victory over the Bridle Path polo...ists yesterday at the Rustic Canyon Field. Eric, one of the leading candidates for the next international big four, was in rare form yesterday. He smashed the white pill across for five goals during his afternoon of play. Lionel followed right on his distinguished brother's heels with three tallies for the winning team. Young Scott Hackley accounted for the other two goals scored by the Uplifters.

The game, which was staged under the auspices of the Metropolitan Bridle Path Association, drew some 6000 fans to the seaside polo layout. Despite the score the losing four, captained by Long Jim Colt, Santa Barbara ace, put up a stiff battle through the eight chukkers. Colt, Hal Roach, Dr. Wilson and Snowy Baker all played nice polo for the losers.

Jack Holt and Hugh Blue refereed.

Tournament Marred When Two Default Matches

Doughty Stages Comeback to Win on Nineteenth Hole

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

For the third time in as many years, the Riviera Country Club invitational championship will rest within the confines of the Rancho Golf Club. Phil Carter made sure of that yesterday when he defeated Allen Moser, Wilshire Country Club and University of Southern California star, 3 and 2 in the thirty-six hole finals.

Riviera's first tournament was won by Leon Keller in 1928 and last year by Gibson Dunlap. If memory serves, Dunlap was a member of Riviera when he won the tournament, but has since transferred his activities to Rancho.

Yesterday's match, which was played from the back tees, developed into a bitterly fought contest. Moser led at the halfway mark, 1 up, but could not keep up the pace against his experienced opponent, who has played close to par figures throughout the tournament.

In the first-flight finals Babe Julian of San Gabriel thumped C. S. Turner, 9 and 7, to furnish one of the most decisive victories of the tournament.

Wildness of Angel Hurlers Helps Sacs to Cop

Delaney Outpitches Flynn in Opening Tussle

Hoag Hits Pair of Circuit Swats for Senators

BY BOB RAY

After winning the opener, 5 to 2, Jack Lelivelt's Angels had to watch their pitchers give the fast-stepping Solons from Sacramento the second game of yesterday's bargain bill, 6 to 4, so the boys had to be satisfied with an even break for their day's work.

Some 10,000 customers saw Art Delaney outpitch Tom (Big Dogs) Flynn, youthful southpaw, in the first game and also remained to see a trio of Seraph slabsters put on a wild-man act in the nightcap. In all, the Solons were presented with nine walks and had two batters hit by pitched balls, and they took advantage of the generousness by winning the seven-inning contest. The Sacs got only six hits in that second game but that was all they needed to put over the victory with the aid of all those passes.

Gordon (Deacon) Jones, who has been passed around by various Coast League clubs, pitched for the Sacs in the nightcap, while Berly Horne, Augie Walsh, Carl Holling and Ed Baecht were the Angel slabsters. Walsh was charged with the defeat.

DELANEY VICTOR

Delaney pitched masterful ball to carry off the opener. Art kept the Sacs' seven hits scattered judiciously and only one run should have been scored off him. The second Sacramento tally came in when Bill Skiff lost Ward's pop fly and

WALTON SHATTERS RECORD

Clips Three Seconds From Coast Backstroke Mark in Exhibition Swimfest at Ambassador

Clipping nearly three seconds from the Pacific Coast 100-meter record, Frank (Red) Walton, national champion star dorsal paddler of Hollywood Athletic Club, featured the exhibition swimming carnival at the Ambassador yesterday afternoon. Walton covered the backstroke swim in 1:09 4-5, only one-fifth of a second from the world's mark held by George Kojac of New York.

A host of Mercury Club stars who have also returned from the men's and women's national championships appeared in fancy-diving exhibitions. George Coleman and Johnny Riley of L.A.A.C. performed a new stunt by executing difficult dives through a hole in a huge paper target. Mickey Riley and "Dutch" Smith held and amused the audience for fully twenty minutes with their latest comedy antics from the ten-foot springboard.

In a special match race over 220 yards, free style, Buster Crabbe, another national winner, swimming unattached, defeated Oscar Simmons of U.S.C., in 2m. 23 1-5s. A century free-style match race was won by Bela Kendall of U.S.C. over Herb Barthels of L.A.A.C. in 56s.

Joy Crew, child marvel, presented dives from three-foot and ten-foot springboard. At the close of the A.A.U. meet, "Jackie" Coogan, stepped from the screen limelight long enough to do a swan dive from the eighteen-foot platform and give an exhibition of free style swimming that was very good for a boy of hardly a dozen years.

Other results follow:

50 yards, free style for Ambassador Club girls—Won by Merrill Clark; Helen Boyce, second; Rosalie Reville, third. Time, :34.

220-yard, free-style handicap for Ambassador Club boys—Won by Ralph Temple; Jack Murietta, second; Bob Bond, third. Time, 2:39. (Temple, 22s handicap; Murietta, 10s.; Bond, 8s.)

100-yard, free-style handicap for women—Won by Jennie Cramer, L.A.A.C.; Olive Hatch, L.A.A.C., second; Georgia Coleman, L.A.A.C., third. Time, 1m. 6 4-5s. (Cramer, 6s. handicap; Coleman, 3s.; Hatch started on scratch.)

100-yard breast-stroke for men—Won by Bill Mullens, L.A.A.C.; Dick Gunter, L.A.A.C. second. Time, 1m. 14 2-5s.

Cleveland Drops 7-1 Game to Detroit

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—The Senators emphasized their right to the American League lead today by taking the third game in their series with the world champion Athletics by a score of 11 to 6. The A's looked like champions only in the first inning when they pooled hits and errors for three runs.

Sad Sam Jones worked seven innings for the Senators and held his opponents to seven bingles, while his mates were collecting fifteen blows off Walberg and Ehmke. Walberg was driven from the mound by a bat barrage in the second. Ehmke faired no better, being pounded for twelve of the fifteen blows topped by a Goslin homer in the fourth.

Goslin contributed substantially to the victory — clouting three hits out of four trips, including a double and homer, and driving in two of the Senator tallies.

BROWNS UPSET

ST. LOUIS, April 27. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox defeated the St. Louis Browns, 2 to 1, today, in an extraordinary game that saw Clancy, Chicago first baseman, go through the entire nine innings without an assist or a putout, a rare feat in organized baseball.

The excellent mound work of Alphonse Thomas and McKain gave Chicago the game. They struck out eight batters and allowed only five hits. Thomas, who started, retired in the seventh inning after injuring his arm.

Gehringer, in this frame with Funk on first, hit the third Tiger home run of the series.

Sorrell hurled a smooth game for the winners, allowing but six hits, well scattered. Wes Ferrell was found for eleven bingles in the eight innings he toiled, Shoffner taking the mound in the ninth.

Gehringer, Akers, Hayworth and Seeds got two hits each to lead the batters.

YANKS LOSE

NEW YORK, April 27. (AP)—Nineteen hits together with home runs by Earl Webb and Russell Scarritt helped the Red Sox defeat the Yankees today in the final game of the series, 8 to 7. Babe Ruth's second homer of the season with two on in the ninth just failed to tie the score. A quartet of Yankee pitchers were hit hard by the Sox, while the Yankees could do little with the offerings of Jack Russell in the pinches, till the eighth and ninth.

BRAVES BEST

BOSTON, April 27. (AP)—Burleigh Grimes, former Pittsburgh spit-ball pitcher, made a happy debut with the Boston Braves before 23,000 today as the Warriors defeated the Philadelphia Nationals, 13 to 4. The Braves garnered seventeen hits and bunched twelve of their runs in two big innings, while Grimes was keeping the Phillies' nine safe blows well scattered.

While Maranville, Richbourg and Maguire led the Braves barrage, Grimes contributed to the attack a double to left in the sixth which scored two runs. The spit ball ace received good support from his mates, particlaurly from Maguire, who continued his sparkling game in the field.

Manager Bill McKechnie was put off the field in the second for protesting that Cy Williams, coaching at third, interfered with Rhyne's try for a foul fly. Hurst hit a home run in the eighth. Score:

ship series for the coveted California trophy.

Yesterday's feature game started out to be a nip-and-tuck game and the Magyars were a little fortunate to score first when Tunnicliffe's attempted safety boot fizzled and Tucker scored wide open.

Bill Pearson, outside left for the Mercuries, did a pretty bit of field work in the second half to bring the ball down to Bobby Robertson, who tallied a beautiful goal.

Koelmel's injury left nothing to be decided and the Magyars won as they pleased.

In the opener the fast and aggressive Pasadena A.C.C. eleven turned in a 2-to-0 victory over a picked team of All-Stars.

HOLLYWOOD TRIMMED BY ROVERS, 2 TO 1

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27. (Exclusive)—The Rovers, youthful sensations of California soccer, defeated Hollywood, 2 to 1, here today in the first of a three-game series for the State championship.

All of the scoring was crammed into the first half, Tommy Whitlow scoring twice for the winners, and Ernie Copeland tallying for Hollywood. The game was played in a persistent rain before 3000 fans. The teams meet again next Sunday in Los Angeles.

SONNENBERG IS HERE FOR BOUT

Wrestling Champion Will Prepare for Clash

"Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king, who will wrestle Everett Marshall of Glendale in defense of his title at Wrigley Field next Monday night, arrived here from Boston yesterday to complete training work for the match.

GUS SONNENBERG

The champion was accompanied by two trainers and his manager. He was in Los Angeles for a few hours, and then left for a training camp about twenty-five miles from this city, where he will work out in secret up to the day before the match, according to present plans. He brought the $10,000 diamond-studded championship belt with him, it was reported.

Starting this afternoon at 2:30 p.m., Marshall will do all of his training at Dempsey's Manhattan gymnasium. The Glendale whirlwind, who has been training at Long Beach for the past week, has brought his weight down to 215 pounds for the match, and he expects to weigh 210 the night he steps into the ring.

Promoter Dan [illegible] completed the supporting cards to the title match yesterday. He signed Dan Koloff, the 215-pound Balkan mat Lion, to meet Don George, a former University of Nebraska athlete, who is rated in the East as the coming young heavyweight sensation. Koloff is the chunky grappler who defeated "Gorilla" Gene La Doux here more than a month ago in straight falls and in very impressive fashion.

Nick Lutze will tackle John Spellman, another flying tackle exponent and former mat instructor at Brown University, in one of the other matches. Spellman has several bouts here last year, and proved to be a rough 208 pounds of ability.

Ad Hermann and Rex Smith will clash in the opener. Plenty of action is expected to feature each of the three supporting bouts.

Oaks Divide Double Bill With Seals

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27. (AP)—Oakland won the morning game, 13 to 7, and the Seals copped the afternoon contest, 8 to 7, the series going to the Oaks, four games out of seven.

Hurst pitched the morning game, allowing ten hits for seven runs, while his team-mates got fifteen hits for thirteen tallies. The Seals used four pitchers. Lombardi, Oaks' catcher, hit two home runs.

In the afternoon the Oaks made seventeen hits, but the Seals bunched their twelve hits to win. Elmer Jacobs was driven from the box in the sixth inning, when the Oaks made five runs. Davis got credit for the victory.

ANGELS AND SACS DIVIDE

Seraphs Win Opener, 5 to 2, But Wildness of Local Hurlers Gives Solons Nightcap, 6 to 4

it fell in front of the plate for a hit, Wirts counting from second as there were two out at the time.

Meryl Hoag, sensational young Sacramento centerfielder, rapped out home runs in both games. His homer with one on in the fifth inning put the Sacs out in front in the nightcap.

Wes Schulmerich got a home run and two singles in the opener, but had to be satisfied with a couple of singles in the nightcap. Wes has made eight hits in twelve times at bat in the last three games and a trio of his clouts were for the circuit.

George Harper provided the fielding feature of the first game in the eighth when he raced back and pulled down Flynn's terrific line drive to right. Wirts was on second at the time and the Sacs later in the round got two more hits and a run, so there's no telling just how much of a life saver Harper's catch was.

The Angels began the day's scoring in the fourth inning of the opener. Sigafoos led off with one of his three hits when his grounder struck the third-base sack just as Backer reached for it. Harper forced Sigafoos at second. Jacobs sharp grounder bounced off French's shins into center for a two-base error, Harper pulling up at third. French tossed out Schulmerich, but Dittmar came through with a single to left that brought Harper and Jacobs across the platter. Ditty went to second on the throw-in but died when French and Camilli disposed of Skiff.

Hoag got his home run into the bleachers in the fifth to account for the initial Sacramento tally.

Schulmerich laid the wood on one of Flynn's fast ones in the seventh and drove the ball over the left-field fence for a homer to again give the Cherubs a two-run lead.

GET FINAL RUN

Sacramento got its final run in the eighth, which began with Wirts dropping a double into the right-field corner. Harper then made his sensational catch of Flynn's line drive and also took care of French's short fly to brighten up the situation for Delaney. Ward then hit a pop fly up in front of the plate and Skiff never did find it. The ball dropped safely for an infield hit and Wirts sprinted all the way home to score. Backer then singled to left but Haney captured Camilli's foul fly to end the inning.

But the Seraphs came right back with two tallies in their half of the eighth to clinch the encounter. Haney walked for a starter and was bunted to second by Statz. Sigafoos singled over Backer's head to score Haney. Harper also singled, his hit going to right, and Siggy sprinted to third. Sigafoos scored when Jacobs forced Harper at second, Backer to Ward. Ward might have had a chance for a double-play had he not dropped Backer's throw, but he recovered the ball just in time to force Harper. Schulmerich then singled through Camilli and Dittmar walked to fill the sacks, but French threw out Skiff to end the round.

The SPORT LIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

The Advance Is On

THEN he looked into the future far as human eye could see and saw the white pill sailing through the Scotch mists from the tee.

There is a young Atlanta attorney today who would like to "peer beyond the veils and mists of doubt and pierce the walls of unborn time."

His name is Robert T. Jones, Jr., the open golf champion of the United States. Yesterday Bobby Jones, the world's greatest golfer, left home on the first leg of his greatest invasion.

At the age of 28, winner of nine national championships, the Georgia star will give everything he has to win the British amateur and the British open before returning late in June. And his main dream is built around the British amateur, to be played at St. Andrews late in May, the one big title he has never won.

Allan Graham stopped Bobby at Hoylake in 1921, when he was 19 years old, and Jamieson checked him out at Muirfield in 1926 on his second attempt, both in eighteen-hole matches. Graham beat him, 6 and 5, Jamieson, 4 and 3, so neither battle was close.

But it will be a different Jones going to war on this next trip. He has discovered that the price of victory in an eighteen-hole match is unbroken concentration and determination with no chance for any let up, no chance for a rest or a loafing spell where victory or defeat may ride upon every shot played. And the big shock usually comes at the most unexpected moment.

Jones had riddled Robert Harris, 8 and 7, before he met Jamieson, and the young Scot got the jump and held it before the young American knew the fuse had been lit. And the fuse is always lit in an eighteen-hole match unless one applies pressure from the jump.

Two Champions Report

Jimmy Johnston, the amateur champion, from St. Paul, spent Saturday and Sunday at the national links on Long Island testing his game over a sea side links. Jones will be in New York today, bringing the open and the amateur champion together.

This next invasion will be the first time two national champions from the amateur ranks have gone over together since 1914, when Francis Ouimet and Jerry Travers took a double shot at the British title.

Ouimet had beaten Vardon and Ray at Brookline the fall before and Travers had won his last amateur title at Garden City. Travers was stopped in his first round by Palmer, the Irish champion, and Ouimet fell early before a golfer named Tubbs.

Jones and Johnston look for no such rasping fate. There is no question but that Jones has been playing better golf this spring than ever before, and Johnston is hitting the ball extremely well. He had a chance to warm up at White Sulphur and his two days at the national proved that he was coming back to the game that carried him through at Pebble Beach. Johnston is a fine golfer, a hard fighter and a determined competitor. He can play a lot of golf and play it under pressure. And he doesn't mind the pace of the eighteen-hole matches.

Ought to Win Title

Any team headed by the open and the amateur champions of a country is almost certain to be strong. Strangely enough American golfers have possibly a better chance to win the British amateur than they will have to bring back the Walker Cup, if Sandwich puts on its normal brand of weather.

When eight such golfers as Jones, Johnston, Voight, Von Elm, Ouimet, Willing, Moe and McKenzie all take a crack at the British title, one of them ought to slip through, whether the matches are at eighteen holes or only nine. This team is now gathering in New York, ready to sail on Wednesday night. It will be the strongest team ever sent abroad where at least six of the eight are good enough to win the title that Travis won in 1904 and Sweetser captured in 1926.

Outside of the two champions, Von Elm and Voight are two of the finest amateur golfers in the world; Ouimet and Willing are good enough to beat any one and both are seasoned campaigners; Don Moe is no set-up and neither is Roland McKenzie.

But if they wade out into one of those cold, rainy, blustering days at Sandwich the battle for the Walker Cup will be no better than a toss-up.

The Davis Cup Choice

The Davis Cup committee made the best selection possible in naming Lott, Doeg, Van Ryn and Allison for its 1930 team. This younger group doesn't look strong enough to bring back the bowl from France, but it is certainly as strong as any team that might be picked with Tilden missing.

Van Ryn and Allison should take good care of the doubles, but the tough job will be to bag two of the singles matches with Cochet and Borotra hanging around. If there is even a fair chance to win the cup it is about even money that Bill Tilden will bound back in.

TRACK STARS LEAVE FRESNO

California Aggies, 2.

The Class A, two-mile relay was handed to Southern California on a silver platter, as it were, as the four boys only had to finish their laps, time being a minor matter. The L.A.A.C. team withdrew owing to the illness of Percy Niersbach.

In winning the Class A shotput, Harlow Rothert, stalwart Stanford ace, contributed a thrilling chapter to the book of athletic achievements. The big blonde boy, competing unattached, came to Fresno by airplane from Stanford University, where, this afternoon, he won his favorite event in the dual meet with Washington. With a heave of 51ft. 4in. tonight, Rothert nosed out Herman Brix of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, holder of the American record of 52ft. 4in. Brix stopped at 50ft. 11 1-4in. tonight. In the Washington meet, he tossed the pellet, 51ft. 4 3-4in.

Eric Krens, another one of Stanford's "strong boys," followed in the footsteps of his team mate, Rothert, by winning the discus throw. He also captured individual high-point honors, with 7, by taking third in the shotput. In the discus, he sent the platter sailing 156ft. 5½in. This afternoon in Stanford Stadium against Washington, he won the event with a throw of 161ft. 7 3-8in. Krens also came down by plane to compete unattached.

Individual high-point laurels in the Class B competition were claimed by Bishop of Pomona College who registered 10. He took first places in the javelin throw and high jump with marks of 181ft. 8½in. and 6ft. 1in., respectively.

Jimmy De Mers of the Los Angeles Athletic Club picked off first place in the Class A javelin throw in easy fashion, while his teammate, Eaton, annexed second position. De Mers's throw was 212ft. 2in.

Three special outboard races are scheduled to be held on Alamitos Bay next Saturday, and are open to all college and junior college entrants, according to the announcement of Ed Hackett, publicity manager at Occidental College, who is aiding in sponsoring the outboard races. Four prizes will be awarded in each of the three groups, Class B, Class C and Class G. First prize in each case will be a gold cup offered by College Humor, which was instrumental in staging the races.

Phil Carter Wins Riviera Championship

was presented with the victor's silverware in the second flight when H. S. Mosier defaulted.

Right here it seems appropriate to make a few pertinent remarks concerning defaults which, to put it mildly, somewhat marred the tournament. There were two defaults yesterday out of seven matches, and the percentage throughout the tournament was too high. It seems unfair that a golfer should deprive some one else from a chance of getting into the finals, and then default.

This is in no way a reflection on Riviera, as the entire tournament was admirably handled by Bill Huber and A. H. Painter, and the course has never been in finer condition.

To continue, R. M. Bishop of California, who tied with Jim Bequette of Midwick for low net in the qualifying round, won in the third flight over Frank Thorwald, 1 up.

Glen Doughty of Annandale played remarkably to win from R. A. McKinnon in the fourth flight, 1 up in nineteen holes. Doughty was 3 up at the turn, but lost five holes consecutively to McKinnon, and found himself 2 down going to the seventeenth. He won the next three holes in a row to win the match.

Earl Sinks won in the fifth flight, E. K. Anderson defaulting.

In the sixth flight, W. O. Waller eliminated P. V. Holbrook, 3 and 2.

COAST BOWLING CONGRESS OPEN

Southland Drug Company in Lead With 2648 Total

Doolittle, Pearson Capture Doubles, Scoring 1157

Record-Smashing Tourney Expected by Fans

The fifteenth annual tournament of the Pacific Coast Bowling Congress is now under way. The big athletic meet was started late Saturday night at the Davenport Recreation Building. Mayor John C. Porter, S. A. Setser, J. C. Squires, president of the congress; William M. Durkin, Jr., president Los Angeles Bowling Association; Secretary Ona M. Gregg, Benjamin Fahy, Matt P. Kressich and Mark Kelly, participated in the opening ceremonies, Kelly registered the first strike.

This year's layout is one of the finest ever offered the Coast pin maulers. The battery of drives are set abreast, without any sort of obstruction, in the south end of the huge building and the setting is ideal. Seats have been arranged immediately back of the tournament alleys to accommodate 1000. The lighting facilities, huge scoreboard, check rooms and other important features important to the success of the show are ideal.

That new records will be set is a foregone conclusion from the antics of the booster teams on the opening squad. Southland Drug Company pounded out a 2666 total, which betters by nineteen pins the winning total in the 850 class of last year's convention. Herman Marchwardt set the pace for the drug company, five with 568 and high individual game 214. Hancock Gasoline, Santa Ana, collected 2626, Stanfield Cyclery, Whittier, 2425, R. M. Miller, Long Beach, 2491, Dr. Molthens Chiropractors, Wilmington 2377.

Sid Doolittle and John Pearson, Long Beach, rolled into the lead on the 2 p.m. doubles squad with 1157 total. Doolittle contributed 589 and Pearson collected 568. H. M. Secrest and E. C. West, Santa Ana, turned in 1068. West pounded out 587 with high individual game 227 and duplicated his doubles total in his solo event. R. E. Dossett and Earl Quick, Long Beach, smashed out a combined 1043 total. R. M. (Daddy) Miller and R. Westhby gathered a 1059 total. The scores follow:

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The lions paused, too, as Tarzan halted growling. The great male in the lead bared his fangs, rumbling forth a warning roar. Though the ape-man was armed, he had no intention of pitting his puny weapons against seven lions; yet he stood there growling and roaring and the lions did likewise. It was purely an exhibition of jungle bluff. Each was trying to frighten off the other. Neither wished to turn and give way or to start a fuss.

The beasts were not hungry; but a point of ethics was at stake and neither side wished to back down. They stood there making a bedlam of noise, so much so that neither could hear anything above it. A rude interruption was to end their deadlock! So it was that Tarzan did not hear the great bulk bearing down upon him from behind until an instant before it was upon him. Then he turned to see a thing that made escape seem impossible.

Buto, the rhinoceros, his little, pig eyes blazing, was charging madly toward the ape-man. Yet so perfectly were mind and muscles co-ordinated in this unspoiled primitive man, that almost simultaneously with the sense perception of the threatened danger he wheeled and hurled his spear at Buto's neck. It was a heavy spear shod with iron and behind it were the giant muscles of the ape-man, while coming to meet it was the enormous weight of Buto.

As his spear left his hand, the ape-man was looking down upon the mighty horn of the lascible rhinoceros lowered to toss him, so close was Buto to him. The spear entered the rhinoceros's neck at its juncture with the left shoulder and passed almost entirely through the beast's body. And at the same instant that he launched it, Tarzan leaped straight into the air alighting upon Buto's back, but escaping the mighty horn.

GEOLOGY CLASS TO STUDY ORES

Trojan Instructor Plans For Practical Lessons

Many Samples Collected From Southwest Mines

Specimens of Smelter Output Also Included

Over 100 samples of copper and lead ores gathered from producing mines in Arizona and Texas by Thomas Clements, instructor in geology at the University of Southern California, have been brought to the Trojan laboratories for class demonstration purposes to show the necessary steps employed in the production of metallic copper and lead.

Mines and smelters visited by Prof. Clements in Arizona include those located at Lowell, Douglas, Miami, Inspiration and Superior, and the El Paso Smelting Works in Texas. At Miami, specimens from the leaching plant were added to the collection to show how the copper is taken from the ore through chemical treatment.

Among the most important specimens collected are those from the Lowell ore body at Lowell, Ariz., showing the occurrence of bornite and native silver together, the former being a primary and the latter a secondary mineral. Samples of blister copper gathered from smelters are also included in the collection and will be used for microscopic work in determining the oxygen content of copper.

The mine-run samples will be given to engineering students in connection with three reels of motion pictures taken of the processes employed at the different mines. The collection, according to Prof. Clements, is a comprehensive one including specimens of interest to geologists, engineers, miners, refiners and manufacturers.

HUGE GAS PIPE LINE PROPOSED

Plans for Project 900 Miles Long From Texas to Lincoln, Neb., Afoot

AUSTIN (Tex.) April 27. (Exclusive)—Associated with the Lone Star Gas Company in the project of constructing a natural gas pipe line from the Panhandle fields of Texas to Lincoln, Neb., and a number of other cities and towns of Nebraska for the United Light and Power Company and the North American Light and Power Company, according to L. B. Denning of Dallas, president of the Lone Star Gas Company.

It is said the proposed pipe line will be approximately 900 miles long and that it will cost between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000. Orders have been placed for the pipe, and the first deliveries are now being made. The amount of gas to be delivered daily will be approximately 200,000,000 cubic feet. The pipe line will tap the production of the Mooreinghouse interests in Stevens county, Kan.

The proposed pipe line will run from the gas fields near Amarillo through Oklahoma, Kansas and the eastern part of Nebraska, serving the following towns: Lincoln and Omaha, Neb.; Redoak, Shenandoah, Council Bluffs, Sioux City, Clear Lake, Mason City, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, Iowa, and intervening territory.

Inspiration Adds Slime Leacher to Miami Mine Plan

MIAMI (Ariz.) April 27. (Exclusive)—At a cost of $600,000, the Inspiration leaching plant has added a slimes leacher, in which it is expected that there will be a great saving of copper values which heretofore have been wasted. The slimes come from three large thickeners that have been handling clay-like material in which the ores were carried over.

Inspiration Copper reports net return of $1,138,000 from a year's operations, this before depletion has been charged. The gross output was 61,000,000 pounds of copper, from 1,700,000 tons of ore. Per-pound cost was reduced for the year from 7.988 cents to 7.903 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Kenney of Miami have optioned, for $250,000, the Porphyry Reserve Copper property, twenty-five patented claims in the Sleeping Beauty section.

WASTE PROJECT UNDER WAY

Foundation Laid for Permanent Disposal System at Huntington Beach Oil Field

Oil operators at Huntington Beach have laid the foundation for the establishment of a permanent waste-water disposal system just east of that city, on property owned by the Standard Oil Company, and John Marion of the Marion Oil Company, who is chairman of the membership committee, has called a meeting of that group to be held at Huntington Beach tomorrow afternoon. On this committee are A. Burkett of the Ventura Oil Company, and S. R. Bowen, Mayor of Huntington Beach.

The engineering committee in charge of plans for the waste-water-disposal system, consists of P. L. Blodgett of the Richfield Oil Company; Hubert C. Ferry of the Union Oil Company, L. R. Rogers of the Superior Oil Company, B. F. Pennington of the Texas Company, and J. W. Blake of the Frampton and Blake Company. City Engineer Rossen of Huntington Beach is an ex-officio member of all committees.

Standard and Union have for years had their own waste-water-disposal plants at or near the field. The question of creating a system for the use of all operators arose about a year ago when, it is asserted, the Superior Oil Company applied for permission to create a plant. The field is putting out 21,450 barrels of waste per day. Engineers are planning to build a system which will be able to handle a much greater quantity of waste, in the belief that there may ultimately be much more waste as a result of the possible development of deeper oil sands in the field.

Tentative plans call for dividing the field into seven districts, and laying about seven miles of gathering lines to accumulate the waste and convey it to the skimming ponds. It is expected that the complete installation, which will be put in during the coming summer and fall, will cost $160,000. The operators will maintain the plan at an estimated operating cost of $30,000 a year, paying their pro-rata on the quantity of waste diverted into the system.

MINE FIELD OPERATIONS REPORTED

Angelenos Working Rio Vista at Parker, Ariz. and Revamping Mill

PHOENIX, April 27. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles capital is operating the Rio Vista mine at Parker, on which new machinery is being installed to speed up production. The main vein has been cut by a 520-foot tunnel.

Near Morristown, northwest of Phoenix, a small flotation mill is to be installed by R. R. Alton, who is operating the Swan Nilson and White Cloud properties.

The Arizona Onyx Manufacturing Company, operating a quarry fifty miles northeast of Phoenix, is enlarging its local factory for utilization of onyx ships into building material. Cave Creek onyx is declared of exceptional quality and usually is highly colored.

The entire mechanical equipment and buildings of the Tonopah-Belmont property, about forty miles west of Phoenix, has been purchased by a local machinery company and will be brought here for resale. The plant cost $40,000 three years ago.

Exploration of Belmont Mine to Wait Financing

SUPERIOR (Ariz.) April 27. (Exclusive)—Announcement has been made by Secretary Arthur S. Smith that exploratory operations in the Belmont property will be suspended for a time, awaiting further financing. For several years this company has been developing on its lower levels, with much resort to diamond drilling, in the hope of finding larger bodies of ore than have been struck. Belief has generally been expressed that the Belmont ledges, cross-fractures in limestone, should be leaders to copper bodies, as has been known in the near-by Magma. The management expressed expectation that work will be resumed later.

The same interests have control of the Queen Creek property, a short distance up Queen Creek Canyon from the Magma side lines. On this property a fine body of silver-lead ore, about five feet in width, is being sunk upon, the shaft now having passed 140 feet of depth. This find is believed one of the most notable ever known in the district.

This upper Queen Creek section also is being explored by the Magma, which is sinking a new shaft through the dacite, far to the northwest of these lower workings. An old lava flow has covered the section deeply and it must be penetrated to get into the mineral-bearing limes.

NEW PILOT TEST MILL UNDER WAY

Phelps Dodge Planning for Heavier Output at Morenci Branch

MORENCI (Ariz.) April 27. (Exclusive)—Construction has been started of a pilot test mill by the Morenci branch of the Phelps Dodge Corporation. It is being placed close to the company's big No. 6 mill and is to handle fifty tons of ore a day by leaching and 150 tons a day by flotation concentration, the same type of ores to be run through both plants to determine the better system.

When a flow sheet finally has been accepted there will be construction of one of the largest mills or leaching plants in the Southwest, to be placed in Morenci Canyon. The local ores always have been of relatively low grade and have been getting leaner with depth. But they are found in immense quantity and it is believed that profit can be secured by treating them on a large scale under modern ideas.

The powerhouse is being enlarged by transfer here of compressors from the Tyrone works of the Phelps Dodge Company. An addition of seventy feet is being made to the power house, which already contains one of the largest Diesel installations in the Southwest.

The local mines have the oldest mining railroad in the Southwest, for about fifty years operated by means of steam locomotives. It now is planned to use gasoline locomotives, following the ideas of Dominic Maffeo, assistant master mechanic, who has found that a gasoline locomotive can haul a load twice as great as those heretofore hauled by steam and do it on heavier grades. The shaft of a six-cylinder motor is geared in such manner that all four wheels are driven equally.

OPERATIONS AT CANANEA MINES TOLD

Work at El Tigre South of Douglas Pushed With 500-Man Force

CANANEA (Son.) April 27. (Exclusive)—Lucky Tiger-Combination is continuing operations at El Tigre, south of Douglas, with a force of nearly 500 men, hoisting 160 tons a day of ore that carries values in gold, silver, copper and lead. Operations, managed by R. T. Mishler, have reached a depth of 1600 feet. A flotation section has been installed in the company's 225-ton mill. The corporation centers in Kansas City.

Operations have been almost suspended at the Pedrazzini property at Las Chispas, near Arizpe, with inclusion of the 100-ton flotation mill. Ownership almost entirely is in Europe. The mine has been a wonderful producer, making millions for the family that controlled it for years.

Work is being prosecuted with twenty men on the Altar and Cananea property, in Altar district, financed mainly in Southern Arizona. Statement is made that 10,000 tons on the dump averages 7¼ per cent copper, with large value also in silver. "In sight," in the mine, ore is reported to aggregate 500,000 tons.

Mine Bulletin on Field Tests Out in Arizona

The fifth edition of the Arizona Bureau of Mines' bulletin, "Field Tests for the Common Metals," by George R. Pansett, mining engineer of that bureau and of the University of Arizona, has just been printed and is now being distributed. Already hundreds of copies of it have been sent out.

It has had the largest distribution of any such work printed and distributed by the University of Arizona. Copies of it can be had, upon request and free of charge, by writing the University of Arizona at Tucson, Ariz.

EFFORT TO END OIL FIGHT DUE

Geological Survey Head to Hold Interviews

Kettleman Hills Field Row Brings Intervention

Dr. George Otis Smith Starts Work Here Today

Beginning today Dr. George Otis Smith, head of the United States Geological Survey, will hold a series of interviews with California oil operators for the purpose of harmonizing the various interests in the Kettleman Hills field. Considerable difference of opinion among operators has developed there recently, as a result of the completion of wells by the Petroleum Securities Company and the Standard Oil Company.

DR. GEORGE OTIS SMITH

Both wells are on fee land. Standard has given as its reason for bringing in its No. 35 well there a few days ago the fact that the Petroleum Securities well on the property of the Felix Oil Company is draining Standard's adjoining property and that the No. 35 was completed as a protective measure.

CAUSE FOR CONCERN

The Continental Oil Company, which holds property adjacent to both of these producing wells, by virtue of its Mariand consolidation last year, is understood to be considerably disturbed as a result of the two wells being on production when it is bound by the terms of the operators' agreement with the Department of the Interior, to refrain from bringing in a well until July, 1931.

William Reinhardt, vice-president of the Shell Oil Company, who is chairman of a group of operators who have been trying to devise some orderly method for developing the Kettleman Hills field without drilling too many wells at the outset, has not yet succeeded in cleaning up the committee work, because petroleum engineers have not finished their briefs on the subject. Accordingly, Chairman Reinhardt has put aside further deliberation by this group until Dr. Smith has finished his series of interviews.

VISIT EXPLAINED

"Secretary of the Interior Wilbur believes in having verbal contact with holders of government permits at Kettleman Hills," Dr. Smith said yesterday, "that accounts for my visit in Los Angeles at this time. We are pleased with the oil curtailment program as put into effect at Kettleman Hills. Our action, however, will depend somewhat on the attitude of the field's committee, because it is well organized and carries great weight."

Dr. Smith plans to meet Mr. Reinhardt early this week and after a brief survey of the situation with Continental officials will make a trip to the field to visit the Shell Oil Company's location, which is a direct offset to the Petroleum Securities Company's Felix No. 1 producer, and the Standard Oil Company's No. 35. Continental has had a derrick up ready to spud in for a year, but because of its agreement with the government is restrained from such action.

MINE DEAL REPORTED AT TUCSON

Eastern Syndicate Said to Have Taken Over Old Republic Property

TUCSON (Ariz.) April 27. (Exclusive)—It is reported that the old Republic mine in the Johnson mining camp near Dragoon had been sold to a large eastern syndicate. Pumps have been installed for unwatering the workings and many men are being employed. In the same camp the Johnson Copper Development Company, under the management of John H. Walker, is developing low-grade silicious ore for shipment to a smelter.

In the Patagonia section a new 130-ton mill is being completed on the Three R mines, which are being operated under charge of George S. Hulings. The plant is electrically driven, with power secured from two 240-horsepower Diesel engines. The mine has had extensive development and has had several types of reduction plants in the last twenty years. In the same district the Arizona Consolidated Copper Company is developing the Molly Gibson mine, drifting on the 400-foot level.

Shell Wildcat at Semitropic to Start Soon

WASCO, April 27. (Exclusive)—The Shell Oil Company has foundation laid for its test to be drilled in the unproved area between here and Semitropic. Material is on the ground for the derrick.

The well is known as Williams No. 1, and is the first to be staked in this area. Location is 1121 feet north and 187 feet west from the southwest corner of Sec. 17, 27-23.

Indications are that the well will be a real deep test to thoroughly sound the formations in the district. Operators have speculated for many years on the possibility of oil in this area.

KERN FIELD OPERATIONS REPORTED

Seven Projects Started and Four Water Shut-off Tests Made in Week

BAKERSFIELD, April 27. (Exclusive)—Seven new oil wells were spudded in during the past week in Kern county, while four tests for water shut-off were reported.

J. Benson Wren and associates are to test the far northwest corner of Kern county for oil. Their No. 1 well will be drilled on Sec. 32, 25-17, in the Mt. Diablo range.

George F. Getty, Inc., is credited with beginning Fairhaven No. 1 on Sec. 23, 29-27, at Fruitvale, and Jewett No. 1 on Sec. 19, 28-29, at Round Mountain. Another Round Mountain well is the Shell Oil Company's Jewett No. 3-3 on Sec. 19, 28-29, already down 1000 feet.

In the Sunset field the California Western Oil Company has begun Havenstrite No. 6 on Sec. 17, 11-23. The Standard Oil Company has begun drilling No. 23 well on Sec. 15, 28-27, in the Kern River area. At Poso Creek the Pacific Western Oil Company is drilling its King No. 6 on Sec. 22, 27-28.

Tests for water shut-off for the week included General Petroleum Corporation Morris No. 1 on Sec. 6, 28-23, at Buttonwillow, which is a gasser, and the Barnsdall Oil Company No. 3 on Sec. 17, 11-23, in the Sunset field.

YATES OIL POTENTIAL FORECAST

Estimated Production of Field Before Depletion 700,000,000 Barrels

AUSTIN (Tex.) April 27. (Exclusive)—Based on production up to the present, and taking the probable life of the wells into consideration the Yates field in Pecos county may yield approximately 700,000,000 barrels of oil before it is exhausted, according to an estimate by R. W. Richmond, proration umpire of the field.

The discovery well in this field was brought in October 26, 1926. Since then 385 wells have been drilled, of which only twelve were abandoned as dry holes or of too small production to make them commercially profitable.

The actual daily production under present proration is 110,000 barrels, or an average of 294 barrels daily per well. The limits of the field are believed to be well defined. It has a proved area seven miles north and south and an average width of seven miles. It is estimated by Mr. Richmond that the field will continue in a state of production fourteen years longer.

Plan to Prolong Old Dominion's Life Suggested

GLOBE (Ariz.) April 27. (Exclusive)—Through President Walter Douglas, the directorate of Old Dominion has stated a conclusion that, "In view of limited life of present known ore reserves, such profits as may be known from operations should be conserved so as to be available for exploration and development until such time as ore reserves indicate an assured life over a period of years."

Last year's production approximated 19,000,000 pounds of copper, from ore averaging 2.65 per cent. Ore reserves have increased to nearly 700,000 tons, with inclusion of about 180,000 tons that heretofore have been considered unavailable, but which now may be handled with profit. Old Dominion is a lode mine, one worked for more than fifty years with continuing returns.

Bishop Well in Oildale Field Drilling Ahead

OILDALE, April 27. (Exclusive)—The Bishop Oil Corporation's Fano No. 1 on Sec. 23, 28-27, in the proven area of the Kern Front field, is down 1805 feet and is coring through the oil formation.

This project is the first the company had drilled on the front in many months. In the same field the Chanslor-Canfield-Midway Oil Company has one well drilling and one idle. Standard has an unspudded well.

Young Mines to Produce Soon

MESA (Ariz.) April 27. (Exclusive)—It is expected that early bullion production will be obtained from the Young property, twenty-five miles northeast of Mesa, now operated under lease by the Metallurgical Research and Mining Company of Colorado, with Albert McCarthy as superintendent.

There has been completion of a fifty-ton rod mill, close to the Apache Trail highway, and to it will be trammed ore from the old Black Queen shaft. There is to be direct amalgamation on ores that generally are very free milling. It is expected that a considerable part of the ore supplies will be from workings on the main vein, a half-mile north of the old shaft.

INTEREST KEEN IN PROJECT

Uncompleted Production Test of Belridge Company May Prove Up Large Acreage

Great interest has been manifested during the last few day in the uncompleted production test which the Belridge Oil Company has been conducting in its No. 15 well, a deep test of the Belridge district where the company holds 31,000 acres, considerable of the area being already proven.

The well yesterday was heaving out mud and emulsion, along with traces of oil and a volume of gas estimated at 3,800,000 cubic feet a day. The test is being made as a plug-back to 5086 feet. If the well does not begin producing oil in satisfactory quantities after it has cleared up the company plans to drill it on down in search of deeper formation. Its former depth was 5100 feet. The location is Sec. 36, 27-20, about thirty miles south-southeast of Kettleman Hills.

For many years the Belridge Oil Company has obtained shallow production in the North and South Belridge districts. Oil in commercial quantities has been coming from depths between 700 and 3500 feet, the output testing 17 to 38-deg. gravity, depending upon the depth of the wells. The company has fifteen wells in the North Belridge district, about half of which are on steady production, while the South Belridge district has about fifty producing wells. The two districts are good for approximately 2100 barrels of oil a day, according to the oil umpire's report under the State-wide curtailment program.

With the exception of two sections, the Belridge Oil Company is well protected in the district, but its possessions are practically surrounded by other operating companies, such as Standard, Union, Continental, Associated, Richfield and Shell, and a number of smaller operators.

If the No. 15 proves to be an exceptional well the Continental Oil Company is thought to be nicely located as it has 160 acres of Sec. 36, 27-20, which is a direct offset to the No. 15. Continental recently brought in Result No. 1 for ten barrels of oil a day at 700 feet, as a fair example of what a shallow producer is good for there. The company eventually plans a deep test on its acreage.

One reason for the great interest in Belridge's deep test is that it is believed to bear some relation to the Kettleman Hills field. The oil formation in the North Belridge district is said to bear no resemblance to the Kettleman Hills producing formation, and is higher on the structure, but the close proximity of the fields is considered important.

The Belridge organization has put up sufficient storage to handle 23,000 barrels of oil. The company has an absorption plant in each of the two districts where shallow production has been obtained for the past ten or twelve years. The Associated Oil Company takes the oil. In the event of greater production Belridge will build another absorption plant.

New Leases of University Oil Land Reported

AUSTIN (Tex.) April 27. (Exclusive)—At a meeting of the land-leasing board of the University of Texas, awards were made on bids for the leasing of eleven tracts of land aggregating 4380 acres, owned by the university for bonuses totaling $131,961 and one-eighth royalty on all production of oil and gas. All of the land leased is in Andrews county.

No bids were received on thirty-three tracts which were offered. The successful bidders were the Crude Purchasing Company, Gulf Production Company and the Prairie Oil and Gas Company. The leased land is situated two to ten miles from a producing well in Andrews county. The University of Texas owns 294,400 acres in that county.

Mohawk Well at Fruitvale Recemented

FRUITVALE, April 27. (Exclusive) The Mohawk Oil Company's No. 6 well on Sec. 27, 29-27 at Fruitvale is standing recemented after being brought in as a 300-barrel producer.

The casing at 3696 feet did not have an effective water shut-off so the daily flow was killed and the cement plug replaced. Two and one-half-inch tubing is in the hole to 3640 feet. The well was brought in from 4183 feet and the oil had a cut of almost 50 per cent.

RUSH STARTED TO NEW GOLD AREA

News of Promising Discovery Leaks Out and Hegira Gets Under Way

BEATTY (Nev.) April 27. (Exclusive)—Discovery of gold ore in the White Blotch Mountain district, eighty miles north of Indian Springs and 118 miles east of Beatty, has started a rush. Scores of claims have been located, and promising shoots of shipping ore are said to show in surface working.

Fred Pine and Cleve Poplin, the discoverers, assert that they tried to keep the strike under cover until more work could be done and the merits of the discovery demonstrated, but that the news somehow leaked out.

RIO GRANDE PLAINS TEST OF PROJECT

Well Taken Over From Keystone at Belridge to Be Thorough Tryout

BELRIDGE, April 27. (Exclusive) Rio Grande Oil Company has cleaned out its Garcia No. 1 well on Sec. 18, 28-22, in the Belridge field to a depth of more than 1900 feet and will make a thorough test of the hole. The site was acquired from the Keystone Petroleum Company after that concern found gas at 3150 feet.

Keystone developed a flow of approximately 40,000 cubic feet of gas daily, it is said, but the well was killed and drilling was resumed. The heaving gas formation caused so much trouble, together with cave-ins and other obstacles, that Keystone decided to turn the well over to Rio Grande. It is reported that Rio Grande will make a thorough test both for gas and oil.

The Union Oil Company's Gibson No. 1 in the Belridge field, on Sec. 36, 27-20, is in the oil sand formation at 705 feet and the crew is running casing.

Union recently completed Gibson No. 5 on the same section for eight barrels daily while Continental brought in a well at the same time on the same section, getting twelve barrels daily.

NEW MEXICO OIL DECISION IMPORTANT

Supreme Court Sustains Lower's Interpretation of Leasing Law

ARTESIA (N. M.) April 27. (Exclusive)—One of the most important court decisions affecting oil developments in New Mexico was recently handed down by the State Supreme Court at Santa Fe in the mandamus action of the Atlantic Oil Producing Company against the State Land Commissioner to compel issuance of a new lease in lieu of one relinquishment before the date of expiration, provided the original lease was executed before March 23, 1927.

This action upholds the lower court. The Land Commissioner contended that the words, "In lieu of," used in Section 14 of the 1929 State oil-leasing law, entitles the lessees to a new lease for only the duration of the unexpired term of the old lease.

This decision is said to have affected some 500 State leases issued by the present and a former Land Commissioner. Much development on State land was held up pending the outcome of the Supreme Court action.

Clarkdale Mill of United Verde to Boost Output

JEROME (Ariz.) April 27. (Exclusive)—At cost of $250,000, United Verde is enlarging its 1500-ton Clarkdale mill to maximum capacity for 2200 tons a day. United Verde Extension also is going after its low-grade ores and is to erect, at once, a 200-ton flotation plant near its smelter at Clemenceau.

The former company has great quantities of low-grade chalcopyrite in reserve, already developed by years of operation and accessible readily and cheaply. U.V.X. ores are of somewhat different character.

Liquid Oil Gas Survey Planned

Arrangements for a survey of the general conditions attending the marketing of liquefied petroleum gas have been made by the United States Bureau of Mines, through its petroleum economics division.

This analysis will include a survey of sales and distribution of liquefied petroleum gases to domestic and industrial consumers over a period of years, and of the industrial uses for which this commodity is now being distributed. This survey is being undertaken in response to a number of requests which have been received for specific information regarding the growth in the use of this fuel.

Oil Showings in Reeves Project

TAFT, April 27. (Exclusive)—Oil sand has been struck at shallow depth in Union Oil Company's Reeves well on Sec. 27, 32-23, in the Midway district at Taft.

It is located near where the Texas Company abandoned Gore No. 4, and where Shell is testing upper measures in its Perris deep test, while Standard indefinitely suspended its world's record depth drilling job, known as Mascot No. 1. The Union well drilled into a shallow production zone which was passed up by the three other projects. Bottom is at 2316 feet, and the crew is drilling ahead.

OIL COMPANIES FIRST IN SAFETY

Petroleum Association Head Relates Measures

Onus of Accidents Laid on Drivers Until Cleared

Caution Impressed on All Employees of Concerns

Speaking on traffic safety measures among the oil companies at the convention of the California Committee on Public Safety at Oakland a few days ago Edwin Higgins, managing director of the California Oil and Gas Association, pointed out that long before the present move to reduce traffic accidents was inaugurated the oil industry was actively engaged in the reduction of tank-wagon truck accidents upon the public highways.

EDWIN HIGGINS

"Tank-wagon drivers are instructed to observe carefully the rules of the road, to do everything in their power to prevent accidents to others, to yield the right-of-way without question and in case of accident to do all in their power to assist injured persons," asserted the speaker.

ONUS ON DRIVERS

"Drivers of tank-wagon trucks are generally made responsible for the condition of their trucks each day. While they are not called upon to do repair work they must be sure that their trucks are in a safe condition. In case of an accident, no matter how trivial, an investigation is made at once. In some cases a driver is immediately laid off pending the results of the investigation. If it develops that the driver is at fault he is discharged forthwith; if not, he is permitted to continue in service.

"Such trucks carry fire extinguishers and complete first-aid kits, drivers being skilled in first-aid work. The records show that more first-aid material is used in connection with accidents to outside individuals than on company employees. Practically all of the companies have safety organizations and regular traffic committees which meet at stated intervals to study accident reports and accident prevention.

SAFETY MEASURES

"Bulletin boards and safety placards are extensively used. Companies which publish house organs devote much space to prevention of traffic accidents, both as concerns employees and the public. One or two of the major companies have broadcast admonitions to the public regarding traffic safety.

"The results of this work have been markedly beneficial. One major company, operating more than 2000 motor vehicles of various types, reports an average of $4 per vehicle per year paid out for public liability. The following excerpt from the report of one of the major oil companies will serve as a typical illustration of safety activities and the results obtained therefrom:

CAMPAIGN WAGED

"This company has what is known as a 'head office committee for traffic safety,' with divisional committees at Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles. These committees conduct educational campaigns amongst tank-wagon drivers, supply bulletin board material, conduct meetings in city depots and in the field, obtain speakers from various sources, distribute truck placards and prepare safety films.

The tank-wagon drivers sign a safety pledge and receive a bronze plaque for every twelve months without an accident. Of the divisional committees the one attaining the best record during the year is given a banquet with suitable entertainment."

San Emidio Hole Lacks Showings

SAN EMIDIO, April 27. (Exclusive)—H. A. Bardeen continues to drill ahead in his Ramsey No. 1 well in the San Emidio field without further showings being encountered. Last week twenty feet of oil formation was encountered. At present the drill is below 1200 feet. The well is on Sec. 10, 10-22.

Barden's initial project in the field, Klipstein No. 1, on Sec. 18, 10-23, is down nearly 1000 feet in sandy shale. The well was spudded in ahead of Ramsey No. 1, but has not made as fast progress.

HOBBS OIL HUB OF NEW MEXICO

Erstwhile Trading Post Now Has 3500 Population

Rival Towns Bearing Similar Cognomens Absorbed

Drilling Operations in Area Keep at High Pitch

ARTESIA (N. M.) April 27. (Exclusive) — The transforming power of oil is aptly illustrated in the towns of Hobbs, eastern Lea county, which is the fast-growing community in the State. Eighteen months ago, the original town of Hobbs was little more than a cattlemen's trading post. Today it is the center of feverish oil activity and has more than 3500 inhabitants. Hobbs has absorbed its two rivals, New Hobbs and Oil Hobbs, located near the old town, and has a main street more than a mile and a quarter long, lined with typical oil-field shacks.

Recently Hobbs staged a huge celebration of the coming of the first train over the Texas-New Mexico Railroad. The train consisted of ten coaches piloted by Gov. Dillon.

Hobbs has been the mecca of many oil-field workers during the past two weeks. Men and women traveling in every conceivable kind of vehicle have turned their faces toward the promised land in the hope of finding work. Some have been disappointed, others have been successful.

Lately, it is said, one drilling contractor was awarded the contract for drilling ten wells, all in the Hobbs field. Near the town of Hobbs one can see more than twenty new rigs starting. Oil men predict there will be fifty wells going down within a short time.

Five new wells have recently been staked in the Hobbs area, they being the Getty Oil Company, State No. 1 on Sec. 30, 18-38, the California Company, State No. 1 on Sec. 29, 18-38, which is digging cellar; the Texas Production Company, State No. 1-C, on Sec. 25, 18-37, and the Empire Gas and Fuel Company, Fowler No. 1, on Sec. 31, 18-38.

Another natural gas plant may be added to the eastern Lea county field if a preliminary survey proves satisfactory to the engineers of the Phillips Petroleum Company.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Gneiss

ONTARIO, April 14.—Q.: I am sending a sample of ore under separate cover for analysis. I would like to know, very much, what is in it? S.

A.: The sample is soft granite as known to the mining boys in the hills, and is partly altered to micaschist.

Four Samples

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Q.: These samples were taken from the mountains south of Newbery, Cal. I have been told that they are of the minerals, as follows: No. 1, chalcedony. No. 2, tungsten-steel. No. 3, what are the crystals? No. 4, is said to be quartz (?) C.

A.: Sample No. 1 is chalcedony. No. 2, there is no mineral known as "tungsten-steel" and the sample is simply hematite (micaceous iron variety,) and tungsten is absent. No. 3 is crystallized (calcite) lime carbonate. No. 4 is microscopical quartz, which was broken from a small geode (hollow nodule) and from the "innards." Some folks speak of geodes as "potato stones." The sample is stained on the outside with limonite (hydrous iron peroxide.)

Silicate

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) April 11.—Q.: Please analyze sample for what it is and what it contains. Oblige. Your friend. H.

A.: The sample seems to be hydrous magnesium silicate mixed with iron oxides, and free gold absent. Your friendship is appreciated!

Two Samples

INYOKERN, April 11.—Q.: I am sending you some specimens found in the Black Hills ten miles south of Inyokern in the Goler mining district, of volcanic formation and placer. Kindly test these specimens for clay. The pink sample acts as the ledge and is about four feet thick. The white specimen is from the wall. I thank you for past favors. X.

A.: The Goler mining district has produced some very big gold nuggets. A few years ago the Bowman nugget was purchased by the United States Mint, San Francisco, for over $1900. The pink sample, No. 1, carries more or less silica with iron oxides, and the pink-colored clay present is of the halloysite group, (hydrous aluminum silicate.) No. 2 reacts as a fine-grained silica, and in part volcanic ash. The value of the halloysite is probably doubtful.

Altered Granite

ONTARIO, April 12.—Q.: Please analyze and classify the samples. A. G. W.

A.: The specimens are of gneiss, and known to the mining boys in the hills as "soft granite." Free gold absent.

Mixtures

ONTARIO, April 12.—Q.: Samples from fault in foothills south of Mt. Baldy in Los Angeles county. Fault contains graphite. O.

A.: Sample No. 1 carries some graphite. Microscopic galenite, molybdenite, pyrite and blende, all present in microscopical traces only. No. 2 is Tremolite in part; it contains traces of microscopic pyrite and is stained with limonite on one side. Nos. 3 and 4 are quartzitic rocks carrying micaceous iron, molybdenite, microscopical pyrite, each in traces only. The samples might assay gold in very low percentages.

Ferruginous Quartz

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—Q.: I am an amateur prospector and would like to know what this rock contains. Please test for every mineral that may be present. I broke this sample from a ledge six feet wide in the San Bernardino Mountains. S.

A.: The sample carries no magnetite. Hematite, limonite, manganese, and a little chromite found; free gold absent. Similar rock should be assayed for low gold-silver values.

Five Samples

LUDLOW, April 13.—Q.: I am sending you five samples for analyses. All come from the vicinity of Ludlow. T.

A.: Sample No. 1 is altered fluorite of low grade. No. 2 is hematite, (micaceous iron ore.) No. 3 is garnet. No. 4, low-grade fluorite, and No. 5 is altered rock carrying iron oxides, lime carbonate and fluorite.

Free Gold Absent

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—Question: I am enclosing samples of concentrates. I have been informed that they run as high as $1000 per ton ore. Just what metals are in the concentrates besides gold, to give it such high values is hard to understand. Will you please see how it reacts for platinum, iridium, palladium and rhodium. This sample was found forty miles east of Victorville, Cal. I have been a subscriber to The Times for ten years. W.

Answer: The small quantity of concentrates (?) submitted for analysis seem to be granular matter from which most of the magnetite was removed with a magnet, and the sample carries some microscopic mica. There is no flake platinum in the sample. It carries some 5 per cent magnetic oxide of iron; hematite found with quite a percentage of titaniferous iron. Hornblende is present, and it may be that the sample was taken from hornblendic rock.

Mineral matter represented by the specimen is probably of very doubtful commercial value, and the statement that it will run as high as $1000 per ton ore, probably comes from certain thinkers of the "Sure Mike" variety!

Three Samples

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Q.: I am sending you three samples taken from near Compostela, Nayarit, Mex. Kindly analyze samples as follows: No. 1, gold, silver, tin and copper. No. 2, quicksilver and rare minerals. No. 3, is a nonmetal; what is it, and commercial values, what? I would like to add that No. 2, when found, was a milk-like liquid running through the vein; settles down, and is heavier than water. M.

A.: Sample No. 1 is simply magnetite; in small pieces it is easily lifted with a magnet. No. 2 is a granular silicate carrying silica, hydrous magnesium—aluminum silicate, and represents doubtful values. No. 3 is an impure, hydrous aluminum silicate, and probably a clay of the halloysite group. Fire assays are not made by this department of The Times, and probably, all of the substances named by you are not present—in any sample.

Free Gold Trace

THERMAL, April 10.—Q.: I am sending samples of ore which I would be glad to have analyzed and find out if there are any commercial values present. M.

A.: The samples are altered feldspathic rocks carrying traces of magnetite with quite a percentage of limonite (hydrous iron peroxide.) Similar rock might give low fire assay returns for gold, but, probably, of too low gold content to pay costs of mining.

Two Samples

ROMOLAND, April 15.—Q.: I am sending you two samples of ore found in Riverside county. Kindly let me know through In the Earth column if they carry any value, and what kind of ore? M.

A.: The two specimens are not alike mineralogically, and comprise two varieties. No. 1 is pallomelane (an ore of manganese) showing a rose-colored spot of rhodochrosite (manganese carbonate.) The specimen represents a fair grade ore only. No 2 is ferruginous quartz; the red colored matter is hematite (iron peroxide) and some pallomelane is present. Fire assays should show low gold values in No. 2.

THE BANK OF AMERICA N. A., TRUSTEE

The following information has been summarized by Hon. Prof. Ing. Gian Giacomo Ponti, Managing Director of Piedmont Hydro-Electric Company from his letter of April 16, 1930.

PIEDMONT HYDRO-ELECTRIC COMPANY: (Societa Idroelettrica Piemonte) known as S. I. P., was organized in 1899 under the laws of the Kingdom of Italy. It is both a holding and an operating company and, together with its subsidiary and affiliated companies, constitutes one of the most important public utility groups in Italy.

The business of the group consists principally in the generation and distribution of electric power in the regions of Piedmont and Lombardy. It also operates, through affiliated companies, urban, interurban and local telephone lines in the northern and central eastern parts of Italy, serving over 151,000 subscribers. Electric properties operated by the group include 48 hydro-electric plants and 3 steam generating plants with a capacity aggregating about 484,375 kilowatts, together with approximately 3,320 miles of transmission and distribution lines and 107 principal substations. In 1929 plants of the S. I. P. group exclusive of the four plants located in Switzerland generated 1,014,133,000 k.w.h., or approximately 10.6% of the total electric power production of Italy.

SECURITY: These First Mortgage and Refunding 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds will be the direct obligation of S. I. P. and will be unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by six of its subsidiary or affiliated companies. Upon completion of the present financing, these Bonds (both Series "A" and Series "B") will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a First Mortgage (subject as to plants aggregating 25,885 kilowatts capacity to the contract right hereinafter mentioned) on certain properties of S. I. P. and the guarantor companies consisting of 29 hydro-electric generating plants aggregating 133,285 kilowatts capacity, 1,300 miles of transmission and distribution lines and 28 principal substations. These properties considered as part of the whole system have been valued by Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation at not less than $32,000,000. S. I. P. and certain of the guarantor companies have contracted with Italian Public Utility Credit Institute in the existing mortgages hereinafter mentioned that upon default under such mortgages the institute shall have the right to collect the proceeds from the sale of electric energy produced by their plants subjected to the first mortgage securing these Bonds.

In addition, these Bonds will be secured by second mortgages subject to existing mortgages to Italian Public Utility Credit Institute securing present indebtedness of $10,491,981 principal amount on 11 electric generating plants aggregating 147,900 kilowatts capacity, 1,955 miles of transmission and distribution lines and 49 principal substations.

The properties under the mortgages securing these Bonds constitute substantially all of the fixed electrical properties of S. I. P. and the guarantor companies and were appraised as an entirety in 1929 by Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation at $53,000,000, as compared with mortgage indebtedness of $25,316,981 principal amount to be presently outstanding.

PURPOSE: Out of the proceeds of these Bonds, funds will be reserved to provide for the payment of $4,000,000 Six Months 5½% First Mortgage Gold Notes, due June 16, 1930 and the balance will be applied for improvements, extensions and additions to properties or reimbursement of expenditures made for such purposes or other productive purposes.

EARNINGS: The combined net earnings of S. I. P. and the guarantor companies, after deduction of operating and administration expenses, maintenance and taxes, available for interest, depreciation, income taxes, reserves and directors fees, and including only dividends of other companies actually received (converted at the average rates of exchange for the respective calendar years), have been as follows:

Combined earnings for 1929, as shown above, are equal to approximately four and a quarter times maximum annual interest charges on mortgage debt to be outstanding on completion of the present financing. Total interest charged to operations for the year 1929 amounted to $3,053,888.

EQUITY AND DIVIDENDS: At current quotations the capital stock of S. I. P. represents an equity junior to these Bonds of about $38,000,000. Dividends have been paid on the capital stock of S. I. P. since 1910 except in the War years 1914 and 1915. Since 1925 the rate has been 9.5% per annum.

RESTRICTIONS: The Indenture under which these Bonds will be issued will permit the issue of additional series of bonds to provide for the refunding of indebtedness of S. I. P. and of certain of the guarantor companies secured by prior mortgages mentioned above on certain of their properties and to reimburse S. I. P. and the guarantor companies for property additions (as defined in the Indenture) which shall be subjected to the first mortgages securing these Bonds.

Except where otherwise indicated, conversions of lire into dollars have been made at the rate of 19 lire to the dollar and conversions of Swiss francs into dollars have been made at par of exchange.

We offer the above Bonds, when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to the approval of all proceedings by our counsel, Messrs. Cravath, de Gersdorff, Swaine & Wood, New York, and as to matters of Italian law, Hon. Avv. Giuseppe Bianchini. It is expected delivery will be made in the first instance in the form of temporary bonds or interim receipts.

25,000,000 Swiss Francs Series "B" Bonds of this issue are being offered simultaneously by Credit Suisse, Zurich in Switzerland and by Mendelssohn & Co. Amsterdam and Nederlandsche Handel-Maatschappij in Holland.

AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

GLOBE-GIRDLING TOTALS MOUNT

Dollar Pathfinder Will Start Twentieth Tour Today

Line's Hundred and Fiftieth Cruise in Six Years

Port to Have Lengthy Parade of Sea-Going Craft

BY WALDO DRAKE

Dollar Line's around-the-world service will pass another notable milestone at noon today, when its pathfinder, the President Harrison, departs Los Angeles Harbor on her twentieth successive globe tour and the 150th world cruise since inception of the line on January 1, 1924. Inauguration of the service was effected on that date from this port by the President Harrison herself, then in command of Capt. K. A. Ahlin.

As Capt. J. H. Benson takes the President Harrison to sea today she will have steamed more than 500,000 miles in globe-circling trade, while the Dollar world fleet of eight liners have traversed in excess of 4,000,000 miles. The fleet has carried approximately 45,000 cabin passengers and more than 3,000,000 tons of freight.

The President Harrison, in yesterday noon from New York and the canal, disembarked twenty Los Angeles passengers and discharged 2000 tons of freight. She will take aboard as many new passengers and 1500 tons of canned goods and machinery for oriental ports. Among her outbound passengers are two Long Beach petroleum engineers, Percy Q. Buzard and Leslie B. Hamel, en route to Rangoon to enter field service for the Burma Oil Company.

The ship now boasts as her chief steward one of the Pacific trade's best-known figures, J. O. (Skipper) Davis. Mr. Davis, Mississippi-born, started his searfaring career thirty-three years ago on Liverpool square-riggers, gaining officer's tickets thereby in both the British and American merchant marine. His proudest boast is that he fell from the main royal yard of the bark Mary S. Hall in 1897 into the Agulhas Current off the Cape of Good Hope and still lives to tell about it.

HARBOR SLATED FOR HEAVY TRAFFIC

Offshore passenger business will bring an all-day parade of liners at the port today. Outbound for New York, the Canal and Havana at daylight will be the Panama-Pacific electric liner Pennsylvania, carrying 600 cabin passengers and 6000 tons of California freight, while due from the Orient at dawn is the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Tenyo Maru, with 100 passengers and 1500 tons of cargo. The President Harrison is to get away at noon for around the world, while at sunset the Norwegian motorship Brimanger, of Westfal, Larsen's South American East Coast fleet, is due at the General terminals from Buenos Aires.

The new Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Elizabeth, on voyage of delivery from the United Kingdom to Victoria to enter Canadian coastal service, is due at the port late today for bunkers and stores. She is the first of two $1,000,000 steamers being built for C.P.R. by the Fairfield yards at Govan, her sistership, the Princess Joan, being due in late May.

Three new ships, of similar design, being built in England for the Canadian National Railways, also are due to call here shortly on their way out to British Columbia. They are the steamers Prince David, Prince Robert and Prince Henry.

Maj. Max Fleischman and Mrs. Fleischman returned to port yesterday morning in their yacht Haida from a two-months' fishing expedition in lower Mexican west-coast waters. Stops were made en route at Mazatlan, Manzanillo and Cape San Lucas.

Charging that competing coastwise lines are carrying freight at rates below tariffs filed with the State Railroad Commission, the Los Angeles-San Francisco Navigation Company has filed protest with the commission. Among the concerns named are the Los Angeles Steamship Company, Christenson-Hammond Line, Nelson Line and the Pacific Steamship Company, according to official news bulletins of the Railroad Commission.

The dreadnaught Idaho, selected to carry the Navy R.O.T.C. units of the universities of California and Washington on their training cruises this summer, will first spend three weeks at this base on completion of annual overhaul, it was announced yesterday.

The Idaho, departing the Puget Sound Navy Yard on May 15, next, will arrive at San Pedro on May 19 and remain here until June 5, when she will go to San Francisco and embark the California unit. She will proceed to Seattle from San Francisco on June 14, embark the Washington R.O.T.C. students and leave on June 18 for Honolulu, arriving there June 28.

DAMS PLANNED ON RIO GRANDE

Irrigation Project Involves Two Million Acres

Both Sides of River to Reap Benefits of Scheme

Consent of United States and Mexico Needed

SAN BENITO (Tex.) April 27. (Exclusive)—Active steps have been taken by W. E. Anderson of San Benito, member of the International Water Boundary Commission, and representatives of large American irrigation integrests of the Lower Rio Grande Valley to file applications with the State Board of Water Engineers for rights to dam sites on the international boundary stream. These rights will have to be ratified by the United States and Mexican governments. The construction of the proposed dams is for the purpose of conserving the water supply of the Rio Grande for its prorated use on both sides of the river.

It is estimated that 1,000,000 acres on each side of the Rio Grande are subject to irrigation. This would mean a 2,000,000-acre irrigation project on the river if the dams are built. The annual flow is about 5,000,000 acre-feet. The International Water Boundary Commission has been discussing the question of conserving and dividing the waters of the Rio Grande for several years, attempting to reach an agreement on the use of waters of the river, but so far has not been able to do so.

ACTION URGED

Immediate action is being urged by irrigation districts of the Lower Rio Grande Valley in view of large irrigation developments on the river. Most of these developments, however, are required to have local storage so that they will not have to take the water when the river is low.

Three general dam sites are considered. That is, there are two widely separated sites, and three grouped together from which one will be selected. The first is at Salineno, known as the "Island of the Last Rock." It is about fourteen miles west of Roma and about 100 miles from San Benito.

The annual flow of the Rio Grande at that point is now about 4,200,000 acre-feet, or enough to irrigate all irrigable lands on both sides of the Rio Grande between that point and the mouth of the river.

REGULATORY DAM

It is estimated that a seventy-foot dam at that point would impound 400,000 acre-feet of water. The valley at present uses approximately twice that much annually in irrigating. This dam would be mainly a regulatory dam, as its proximity would permit release of water to reach the valley within two days or so, making it very convenient and necessary in order to prevent waste of water that might be released from the higher dams and not needed when it reaches this point.

The fall of water at the dam, seventy feet, would be sufficient to lift the water back out of the Rio Grande in the valley and irrigate all valley land, Mr. Anderson said. An electric generating plant at the dam site would, therefore, furnish power to do all valley irrigating, as the average lift of water in the valley for irrigating is twenty-five feet.

LARGER RESERVOIR

The second dam site is at El Jardin, halfway between Eagle Pass and Laredo. A dam 110 feet high is contemplated there, which would impound approximately 1,000,000 acre-feet of water. The annual flow there is about 3,600,000 acre-feet. The San Juan and Salado rivers of Mexico empty into the Rio Grande below that point.

This dam would be an important cog in the conservation program and in the regulatory work also. Either of these or both would solve the valley's water problems for years, but the larger dams, in the Big Bend section, are contemplated for ultimate solution.

Three dam sites are being considered in the Big Bend. They are the Marisical, Boquillas and Santa Helena. At either site a 300-foot dam could be constructed to impound 2,000,000 acre-feet of water.

TAR PRODUCTS BLAST SCARES CHURCHGOERS

NEW YORK, April 27. (Exclusive)—An explosion of tar products material in a burning building in Brooklyn startled thousands of churchgoers this morning and drew a huge crowd to the scene of the spectacular blaze, which burned to the ground an old Brooklyn landmark, a two-story frame building topped by a steeple, once a hotel and cafe. Forty-five years ago it was the clubhouse of the old Brooklyn Baseball Club, and in later years was known as the Elks' picnic grounds. The building was occupied by manufacturers of tar roofing material.

SUITOR STABBED IN QUARREL OVER GIRL

SACRAMENTO, April 27. (AP)—Alfonso Condee, 24-year-old Mexican, is near death in a hospital here with a knife wound in the abdomen. His asserted sweetheart, Mary Ortiz, 22, is being held as a detained witness, and Raphael Alcala was jailed as a suspect. The girl said she was trying to induce Condee to go home early this morning when two Mexicans interfered, one of whom stabbed Condee during a fight.

BROUGHER DELIVERS FAREWELL SERMONS

James Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city for the last four years and for many years prior to that a widely known Los Angeles clergyman, delivered farewell sermons to his congregation today. He will leave within the next few days for Boston, where he will become pastor of Tremont Temple Church.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROF. R. GUERRERO

Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

Los trastos de cocina más generalmente empleados en este país son los de hierro revestido de esmalte, o sea, hierro esmaltado, y los de aluminio. Compónese la batería de cocina de pucheros, cazuelas, cacerolas, ollas, marmitas, baños de maría (double-boilers), sartenes, paellas, paletas, espumaderas, almireces, trébedes, fuentes metálicas de asar y de gratinar, etc.

Los utensilios para asar, nos dice la Enciclopedia de Espasa, varían según el sistema de cocina empleado: Tenemos el asador giratorio antiguo con manubrio; el mecánico, que gira mediante un aparato de relojería y que puede estar al descubierto o encerrado dentro de un camarín, y llevar una especia de salserilla para la grasa (grasera); las tarteras de cobre estañado, hierro esmaltado y barro o porcelana refractarios; las bandejas y las parrillas, ya las ordinarias de alambre, o ya la de media caña, llamada "chuleter Perea", en la cual todas las medias cañas terminan en una canal, que comunica con un pequeño depósito semiestérico para la grasa.

Las tarteras modernas para asar llevan una parilla de alambres redondos, que encaja sobre la tartera en forma de tapadera, y en la que se ponen las viandas que han de asarse.

En la batería de cocina entran como elementos complementarios las cafeteras, teteras, heladoras, tostaderas, picadoras, molinillos, etc. Entre los utensilios de cocina se cuentan los pucheros, cazuelas y chocolateras de barro, tanto vidriados como porosos, tinajas para los encurtidos y conservas, botes para sal y especias, morteros de piedra, con mano de lo mismo, para las substancias que no deben tocar el metal, y cazuelas de porcelana para arroz y otros guisos que deben servirse en el mismo trasto en que se han cocido.

"Daniel pensó también en el socorrido corte de traje", nos dice más adelante el autor del artículo que comentamos. Dícese que es "socorrido" aquello a que con frecuencia se recurre para salir de un apuro, resolver una situación, o alcanzar algún resultado apetecido: "Las mujeres apelan a menudo al socorrido recurso de las lágrimas"; "Ese pretexto es muy socorrido para salirse uno con la suya", etc.

Llámase en español "corte de traje" la cantidad de paño necesaria y bastante para hacerse o mandarse hacer un traje. En general, "corte" es la cantidad de material suficiente para hacerse alguna prenda de vestir, y así decimos, "corte de pantalón", "corte de levita", corte de zapatos", etc. En este país se usa la palabra "pattern" para denotar "a length of cloth sufficient for a garment".

Daniel iba a comprar, según nos dice el relato de Belda, un corte de una tela estampada color lubina macilenta. "Macilento" significa en esta frase "descolorido". La lubina, que también se llama "lubina", "róbalo", "robalo" o "robalita", es un pez marino comestible muy estimado, que pertenece al suborden de los acantopterigios, o sean, peces cuyas aletas están siempre provistas de radios óseos (akantha: espina; pteryglon: aleta).

Daniel, decimos, se fijó en una preciosa tela estampada, de la que estuvo a punto de comprar un corte para su amiga. Las telas estampadas, o sean, los estampados (printed cloths, prints), son tejidos que se decoran imprimiendo o estampando sobre ellos labores o dibujos que resisten al lavado con agua y al frote. Los primeros tejidos coloreados, nos dice la Enciclopedia de Espasa, no fueron sino telas pintadas, puesto que la operación del estampado se hacía por medio del pincel; pero más adelante se emplearon otros medios, que, al paso que facilitaban el trabajo y aumentaban la producción, daban mayor resistencia al estampado. En términos generales, la estampación sobre tejidos significa una aplicación a los mismos de un color cualquiera en modelos o dibujos determinados; pero, en sentido más restricto, en los géneros estampados el color viene a formar parte de la fibra; esto es, se tiñe la fibra misma para que resista al lavado y al frote. Según esto, el estampado puede considerarse como una variante del teñido; pero, mientras en éste el color cubre todo el género uniformemente, en el estampado se le aplican uno o varios colores sólo en ciertas partes y formando modelos ingeniosamente definidos.

¿Dónde vio Daniel el bello estampado a que nos referimos? En el escaparate de un comercio. Nótese que a una tienda cualquiera podemos darle el nombre genérico de "comercio". En este caso se trata de una "tienda o almacén de géneros", o "cajón de ropa", como dicen en algunas partes de América. Ya sabemos que se da el nombre de "escaparate" al hueco que hay en la fachada de algunas tiendas, resguardado con lunas en la parte exterior, y que sirve para colocar en él muestras de los géneros que allí se venden, a fin de que llamen la atención del público. A los escaparates llaman más bien "aparadores" en algunos países de América, donde también usan "aparador" en su significado más conocido de "mueble donde se contiene o guarda lo necesario para el servicio de la mesa" (sideboard).

Japanese Cops Must Be Taller

YOKOHAMA, April 27. (Exclusive)—Those aspiring to be policemen in Japan must, from now on be taller than was hitherto required.

The height for admission to the police force in Japan has, thus far, been five feet one inch; but a new police order requires all aspirants to add an extra inch to their stature.

The police circular says that the Japanese, as a nation, have been gaining in height. This is pretty obvious, for the young generation, thanks to athletics, more open-air living, and better dietetic and sanitary conditions, are certainly taller than their parents and grandparents. The authorities are firmly of the opinion that the extra inch of height required will not lead to any diminution in the numerical strength of the blue-coated guardians of the law.

Rolfe, Los Angeles attorney and state legislative leader, has been identified with the Presidential campaigns of Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover in California, yesterday announced that he has accepted the directorship of the campaign of Dist.-Atty. Fitts for the Republican nomination for Governor.

In a strong tribute to Fitts as a friend and [illegible] Rolfe asserted that [illegible] candidacy of the [illegible] county prosecutor and [illegible] Lieutenant-Governor "offers [illegible] opportunity to the people to place a man in high office [illegible] not tied to factions or to [illegible] is not put forward by [illegible] political clique, who is free from [illegible] political commitments [illegible] and who has proven [illegible] exceptional tests that he [illegible] and ability in abundance."

STATEMENT MADE

[illegible] that active Fitts [illegible] organizations are being [illegible] in each of the State's [illegible] counties, the statement [illegible] follows.

"I have notified Dist.-Atty. Fitts that I shall take charge of his campaign in Southern California for Republican nomination for Governor. An organization to [illegible] his candidacy is being rapidly completed both here and in all other counties of the State, each independent unit working in co-operation with central headquarters in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

"As a candidate for Governor he [illegible] in many respects and he [illegible] a unique opportunity to [illegible] people to place a man in high [illegible] who is not tied to faction or [illegible] who is not put forward by [illegible] political clique, who is free [illegible] personal and political commitments [illegible] and who has proven [illegible] under exceptional tests [illegible] has courage and ability in abundance.

"Aside from my feelings of personal friendship, I am putting my shoulder to the wheel in this fight because I respect and admire Mr. Fitts for the substantial services he has rendered the people in his various capacities as a public official.

CHARACTER PRAISED

"A man who has dispassionately [illegible] his career can fail to have respect for a man who has [illegible] so closely, so nearly and so [illegible] devoted to a line of duty. It [illegible] a high order of intelligence [illegible] a genius fearlessness to do [illegible] Fitts has done and [illegible] is doing as a law-enforcement official in this State at this [illegible]

"He has proven himself as an [illegible] and an administrator; he [illegible] confidence in one of [illegible] most important institutions [illegible] a time when corruption, [illegible] official and personal [illegible] and cynical betrayal of [illegible] had sickened and [illegible] the entire people.

"He has made good to a marked [illegible] under difficulties whose [illegible] aspects are generally [illegible] but the exacting and formidable nature of which can be understood only by those who have [illegible] co-operated with Mr. Fitts [illegible] undertaking. As Governor [illegible] California he will prove anew [illegible] real ability; real understanding [illegible] public needs and a real desire [illegible] render public service, conscientiously [illegible] in a very direct and tangible manner to the individual and [illegible] well-being of our citizenry.

"The leadership represented by [illegible] Fitts is clean, constructive, [illegible] and inspiring. It [illegible] a localized leadership—it is [illegible] state."

PETITIONED

A. Wells and others have petitioned the City Council to authorize [illegible] improvement with permanent [illegible] of American Place [illegible] Bixel street to the northerly [illegible] line. The petition was referred [illegible] City Engineer and the Public Works Committee.

Ambassador Fred M. Dearing

Aerial transportation to South America, by the West Coast route particularly, is one of the greatest things that could be effected, in the opinion of Fred M. Dearing, United States Ambassador to Peru, who is in Los Angeles for a brief visit. He is stopping at the Biltmore.

Pointing out that more than $250,000,000 of United States capital already is invested in South America, the envoy said that Americans have every reason for establishing the friendliest possible relations with that country. Peru, he said, is one of the most progressive republics on the southern continent and President Legula he characterized as one of the most capable leaders he has ever known.

He also praised President Hoover and Secretary Stimson for their efforts toward putting the diplomatic service on a merit basis. It is now possible for a nonpolitician to advance as rapidly as his personal qualifications will permit, Dearing said, whereas in other days political prestige and wealth were prime essentials.

Prior to his appointment as Ambassador to Peru, Dearing served eight years as Minister to Portugal and before that he was an assistant Secretary of State. He has been in the diplomatic service twenty-five years.

Originator of War Draft Plan Visitor Here

Maj. Charles R. Morris of Elizabeth, N. J., the man who developed the form of the draft in the World War under Gen. Crowder, was a visitor in Los Angeles last week as a delegate from New Jersey to the Reserve Officers' convention.

MAJ. CHARLES R. MORRIS

He developed the idea in self-defense, he said yesterday. Gen. Crowder had ordered him to purchase 4,000,000 marbles and have numbers inscribed on them for the drawing. It was such a stupendous job that he figured out an easier way which was finally adopted.

"We sent the bowl from which the first draft is drawn to Independence Hall," said the major. "When the last draft was called we asked that it be returned. The officials at Philadelphia inclosed a part of the cloth which was on a chair at the table on which the Declaration of Independence was signed. This cloth was used to blindfold the person who drew the numbers. I have that cloth at my home—also a piece of the oak beam from Independence Hall, which was used to stir the numbers about."

DETECTIVE SPOTS TIE

Roy McGinnis, 20-year-old Negro apartment-house janitor, made a mistake when he wore a red necktie which he had "picked" from one of the apartments. The necktie belonged to Detective Lieutenant Charles Caldwell, who haled him to Municipal Judge Curtis's court, where McGinnis pleaded guilty to petty theft. He was given a ninety-day suspended sentence.

LATIN FRIENDSHIP SEEN IN AIR LINE

LEWIS MAY WIN TEN-DAY DELAY

Continuance Expected to Be Granted in Court Today

Washington Governor Due to Act in Berman Case

Trial of Miss Johnson and Lavine Opens Tomorrow

A ten-day delay in the trial of S. C. Lewis, former Julian Petroleum Company head, on charges of jury bribing was forecast yesterday as the initial move in the case today when it is called for a hearing at 10 a.m., before Superior Judge Wilson.

The continuance will be granted, it is understood, by mutual agreement between Dist.-Atty. Fitts and Lewis, with the consent of Judge Wilson, and will be taken to permit the defendant to prepare his case.

Lewis, who returned here Saturday from McNeil Island under guard of two Federal officers, spent yesterday in an all-day conference with attorneys who are assisting him in preparing to meet charges that he attempted to bribe a woman member of the jury which acquitted him of a violation of the Corporate Securities Act after a five months' hearing in May, 1928.

OUT AND IN AGAIN

The Federal prisoner, accompanied by his two guards, checked out of the County Jail at 8 a.m. yesterday and he was returned to his cell shortly before dark.

Fitts reached home yesterday from his trip to Seattle and Tacoma, where he and Chief Deputy Stewart succeeded in thwarting efforts of Lewis to remain in the Federal prison, and will be at his office this morning. The District Attorney spent the week-end in the San Joaquin Valley, and would make no comment on the trend of the maze of Julian cases until a conference with his deputies.

One of the first matters to be considered by Fitts and his assistant prosecutors, it is understood, is the move to bring Jacob Berman back here for trial and as a witness in a number of the pending cases. Berman managed to fight his way into McNeil Island prison while being sought on extradition papers. The documents are expected to receive the signature of Gov. Hartley of Washington early today. They are to be presented to the executive by Investigator King of the District Attorney's office, who started north with them last Thursday.

LAVINE CASE TOMORROW

With the continuance of the Lewis trial, the first case of the many pending which have grown out of the extensive Julian collapse inquiry to be tried will be that against Morris Lavine, former newspaper reporter, and Miss Leontine Johnson, accused of extortion.

The joint trial is scheduled to start tomorrow at 10 a.m. before Superior Judge Schauer, and both prosecution and defense have announced they are ready. Twenty-seven witnesses to be used by the prosecution are under subpoena, and four for the defense. The quartet for the defense include Superior Judges Stephens and Fricke and Lucien Wheeler and Tom O'Brien, former heads of the District Attorney's investigating bureau.

Another Hearing Due Thursday on Protested Park

Another hearing, possibly the final one, on the acquisition of Victory Park No. 2 in the Arroyo Seco, will be conducted by the City Council Thursday morning. Hearings on this project, which will cost the property owners in the assessment district $807,014, began the 2nd inst.

A very large number of revisions in the assessments is expected to be presented to the Council at that time and will be adopted, thus lightening the burden upon some taxpayers and increasing it on others, who will be in no position to protest unless they keep themselves advised.

TROJAN BOOK PLANNED

A book by Trojan students is in course of preparation in connection with the fiftieth anniversary of the University of Southern California, it was announced yesterday. Dr. Louis Wan, chairman of the department of English literature, Dr. Allison Gaw, and Prof. Roy C. Thompson are the judges who selected the material from the writings of students who have attended the University of Southern California during the last fifty years.

CENSUS CLOSES THIS WEEK

Final Clean-up Drive About to Start in County; Staff of 1533 at Task Since 2nd Inst.

The last big drive to get every resident of Los Angeles county listed in the United States census will be in progress this week. The five Federal census supervisors having the work in charge will comb the county to see if any have been overlooked.

For the convenience of those who may have been missed by the official enumerators The Times prints on this page a blank census form which may be filled out for from one to seven persons and sent to the nearest census headquarters in the accompanying list of census offices.

Since the 2nd inst. a staff of 1533 enumerators has been scouring the county to get the population and other data required to be collected every ten years by the Constitution of the United States. Upon the information collected will depend, for instance, whether California is to have a greater representation in Congress and so be the better able to look after its interests and also to take a greater part in the conduct of the national government.

How Los Angeles will measure up in actual count alongside rival cities of the country and alongside the various booster estimates

Trash Spilling Plea Taken Up

The Police Commission has been advised by the City Council to take up the complaint of the Fernangeles Civic Association that rock and gravel trucks using Laurel Canyon Road and other streets in the vicinity spill quantities of trash and gravel on the paved streets, thus constituting a nuisance. The association asks that the streets be cleaned, thus saving the pavement, and the haulers "cautioned" to abate the nuisance

LAND HELD AT SONG MARKED UP

Harbor Tract Once Disdained by Heirs as Worthless Bit, as Factory Sites Now Appraised at Millions; Ford Plant One of Occupants

Cinderella-like, the parcel of harbor land that once was considered the least prized of all the old Dominguez holdings has at last found its fairy god-mother in the development of Los Angeles Harbor, P. W. Clark, vice-president of the Title Insurance and Trust Company, observes in a history he has prepared as a memento of the dedication of the Ford company's new forty-acre plant. The history reveals the magic changes that have marked the Harbor district in the past decade.

When the Dominguez heirs apportioned the Rancho San Pedro among themselves, Clark said, one took a parcel near Redondo, another a tract near Compton, and another the highland known as the Dominguez Hills. None wanted the slough land south and east of Wilmington, which included most of what then was Rattlesnake Island and now is Terminal Island.

The parcel of slough embraced 2632 acres and was not considered worth the cost of survey. It was unfit even for cattle grazing. But in 1890 the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway Company precipitated a mild boom by purchasing the tract for an extension of its line. Ten years later W. A. Clark acquired ownership through stock purchase and the beach frontage was plotted into town lots.

In 1917 the Interstate Commerce Commission commenced an appraisement of all the railway company's properties, and when the eastern appraisers viewed the harbor land they laughed. Despite the protestations of J. Ross Clark, brother of Senator Clark, that the land should be appraised at $2500 per acre, the government agents fixed the valuation at only $400.

The land today is said to be worth $20,000 per acre, its vast increase in value taking place within thirteen years. It lies partly in Los Angeles and partly in Long Beach and is the site of the Southern California Edison Company's plant, in addition to the Ford factory.

LARGE SUM FOR CHURCH SUBSCRIBED

Congregationalists Give $300,000 Toward Fund of $650,000 for Edifice

Worshipers at the morning services in the First Congregational Church yesterday subscribed $300,000 to the building fund for the new edifice to be erected on Sixth street between Commonwealth avenue and Hoover street, it was announced last night by Dr. Carl S. Patton, pastor. The sum pledged is almost half of the total required, $650,000 being the goal of a campaign announced Saturday.

Sums ranging from $500 to $50,000 made up the individual subscriptions. Among the contributors was a tourist from New Jersey, who handed Dr. Patton a check for $10,000. He asked that his name be withheld.

The site on which the new church will be built was donated by Mrs. Clara S. Shatto. It is valued at $350,000.

TROJANS DUE HOME

Members of the Girls' Glee Club and the Trojan Orchestra of the University of Southern California, now on tour, will return May 1 after having appeared in concerts in San Diego, El Centro, San Bernardino, Riverside, Azusa and Pasadena.

SUN PLAYS LEAD IN DRAMA TODAY

Sol's First "Talkie" Casts Moon as Costar

Motion-Picture Record of Conjunction Planned

Plane to Carry Cameras for Close-up of Embrace

Los Angeles and Southern California will be able to see the eclipse of the sun today when the conjunction of the sun and the moon will cast a shadow across a part of the United States. Oculists have issued a warning that persons gazing at the sun should do so only through smoked glass or well-darkened photographic film.

The partial eclipse here will first be visible at 9:34 a.m. By 10:15 a.m. practically one-fourth of the sun's surface will be shadowed and the most complete phase here, with only approximately 15 per cent of the lower edge of the sun visible, will be at 10:58 a.m. The shadow will gradually disappear and by 12:28 p.m. it will have reached the edge of the sun.

TOTAL IN NORTH

The eclipse will be total farther north in California and it is in this territory that astronomers and scientists generally have congregated for their observations.

Invaluable astronomical data on the exact relative positions of the sun, the moon and the earth will be obtained, it is believed, by the two aerial expeditions which will photograph the shadow of the moon on the earth during the eclipse from points above the Nevada desert. The two planes arrived yesterday at their respective bases, Honey Lake and Camptonville.

The work of the two scientific parties will be supervised by Dr. Frank P. Brackett of Brackett Observatory, Pomona College. Cooperating with the astronomer in the enterprise are Electrical Research Products, Inc., which has donated the special photographic and sound recording apparatus which will be used; the United States Army Air Service, which has provided one of the planes, a Fairchild cabin monoplane, and also the services of one of its best aerial photographers, Capt. A. W. Stevens, and a pilot, Lieut. J. D. Corkille, and the Richfield Oil Company, which has donated a trimotored Fokker plane.

'TALKIE' OF ECLIPSE

The army plane, which will take off tomorrow morning from the dry bed of Honey Lake, will carry the party which is to make what is expected to be the more significant of the two photographic records of the eclipse, for it is on this plane that a sound-recording camera has been installed in addition to a radio receiving set. At intervals of one second as the moon travels across the face of the sun, radio time signals will be sent out from Mare Island navy yard and these times signals will be recorded on the same film which will make a photographic record of the moon's shadow on the earth.

In addition to Lieut. Corkille as pilot and Capt. Stevens as photographer, this plane will carry Dr. Brackett and J. M. Balsley, radio operator. Experts in the employ of Electrical Research Products, Inc., have accompanied the party to Honey Lake to make certain that the radio and recording equipment will be in perfect working order when the plane takes off.

MOTION PICTURES

The Richfield plane will also make a motion-picture record of the moon's shadow, but it will not carry apparatus to record the time signals. It will take off from Camptonville and will be piloted by Tommy Fowler, with Al Button as co-pilot. George Woodward will operate the camera. Harry McPherson will be a passenger on the plane.

After the eclipse the Richfield plane is to fly to Honey Lake, land on the bed of the lake, collect the films which the army ship has taken and take off immediately for Los Angeles. A fast car will be waiting at a local airport to rush the films to the laboratories of Electrical Research Products, Inc., for development.

AT HIGH LEVEL

As the planes will fly at an altitude of 20,000 feet while they are filming the moon's shadow, new super-charger motors have been installed on each and apparatus to supply oxygen to the crews has been installed. The thinness of the air is not the only hardship foreseen for the crews, as it is expected they will also have to cope with intense cold, for the temperature will probably be at least 15 deg. below zero.

To aid them in their work the area about Honey Lake has been

The Lancer

HIDDEN in a very old church in the very old Indian town of Tonala is a very old document that few eyes have seen.

It is the treaty between Alvarado, the Spanish conquistador, and Juchipl, the "white queen" of the Tonalas.

THE WHITE QUEEN

When the Spanish first came up from the conquest of Montezuma, across the high plateaus where Guadalajara now stands, they were amazed to find a tribe of Indians engaged in making the most beautiful native pottery. It was a race of high spiritual knowledge.

It was ruled by a white woman who lived on the top of a round mountain.

STARVED OUT

Alvarado brought this race down to defeat by the simple and effective device of nagging at them and threatening them with attack so constantly that they could not plant crops. Starvation finally brought them to surrender. In old Spanish documents that still exist, Alvarado tells with what skill Queen Juchipl fenced with him in the making of the treaty. He does not tell, however, that he and his successors broke all the terms thereof.

THE SACRED HILL

The hill where Juchipl's palace stood is now a semisacred place. The pottery makers of Tonala find their clay at its foot.

Juchipl's hill looks down upon a beautiful lake whose Indian name is "The Tear in the Heart of the Mountain."

"NEW" THOUGHT

Mexican people in general have a very small realization of the importance of this Indian background to their own future. Just as we have little realization in the United States that all our "new thought" and the "new" philosophy toward which we are reaching is all Indian, and that we are being bent under the weight of an inevitable law—the conquerer must always take on the spiritual psychology of the conquered.

OLD GODS

Those who know the Indians of Mexico best tell me that the old beliefs in the old Aztec gods are still in their hearts.

If you get close enough to them you will hear stories that we would put aside with an uncomfortable shiver as "witch doctor stuff," but which have roots in the mysticism of an old, old race, which in turn had its roots in the spiritual knowledge of a people who sank physically under brutal sword thrusts, but whose souls did not die.

Like a terrible dark miasma the spiritual past of Mexico is coming back—is welling up from blood-stained ground, and will one day envelop Mexico. Sooner or later, Mexico will "go Indian" again, and that will be one of the great days of the world.

ONLY INTERRUPTED

Had it lived one more century the Mayan civilization would have flowered into a golden age like the golden age of Greece. The Aztec civilization was approaching a day of spiritual greatness.

Neither of these races lived out its destiny, or finished its story. It was stunned like a deer knocked in the head, but not destroyed.

The ideas that these races were bringing to fruition are still here. The story of the Mayans and the Aztecs and the Toltecs was a chapter interrupted. In the nature

PLANE HORDE FLIES SOUTH

Long Beach and San Diego Visited by Group at End of Month's Intensive Maneuvers

After nearly a month of mimic aerial warfare the planes of the first provisional wing, United States Army Air Corps, were on the last lap of their flights yesterday when the 145 planes comprising the group took wing for San Diego and Long Beach. In groups of threes, the planes took the air at intervals from the United Airport in Burbank, flew in formation over the business district of Los Angeles and then turned south.

A portion of the planes in the provisional wing stopped at Long Beach yesterday afternoon before proceeding to San Diego, where they circled over the city and then, forming into squadron formation, passed in review at Rockwell Field before landing.

The flights yesterday culminated a two-day spectacle of the flying forces of the nation's best planes and aviators which Saturday included all of the intricate maneuvers of aerial warfare from the spectacular simulated combat between two small and fast pursuit planes to a great battle formation which included 128 planes in the air at one time over the United Airport.

The end of the flight at San Diego will terminate the maneuvers which started almost a month ago at Mather Field, Sacramento, and included extensive operations over the Sacramento Valley and over San Francisco and Oakland. To-

ONE KILLED IN TRAFFIC

Seven Others Injured and Nine Arrested as Result of Week-End Automobile Mishaps

One person was killed, seven persons suffered serious injuries in traffic mishaps this week-end and nine motorists were arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated in various parts of the city.

Magsinino Guterres, 40 years of age, 1321 Hewitt street, was killed instantly when a car driven by Jose Lozana, 13103 Jewett street, Paciolma, crashed against a pole on Foothill Boulevard near Sunburst avenue, Vany Nuys. The machine, apparently out of control, somersaulted twice. Lozano was held on suspicion of homicide by Detective Dryden of the Van Nuys station.

Two Wilmington youths are expected to die from injuries received yesterday morning when their two light automobiles collided at Neptune and B streets, Wilmington. They are Don Riley, 20 years of age of 823 Bay View, who suffered a fractured skull, internal injuries and a broken right forearm, and Cornelius Linderman, 21, 1038 Laguna street, who received a broken back, a broken right arm and crushed right leg. Both were removed to Seaside Hospital, Long Beach.

Others in the accident included Nellie Riley, 41, and Donna Riley, 6, both of 823 Bay View, and Don Martin, 19, 111 West C street. They were injured only slightly and after emergency treatment by Dr. A. H. Nerad were sent home. Police reported that both cars, completely wrecked, were thrown nearly 100

PACT OF DEATH PROOF SOUGHT

Inquiry to Be Reopened in Laguna Beach Case

Wills Cited as Indicating Suicide Agreement

Letter by Mrs. Post Reveals Close Relationship

LAGUNA BEACH, April 27. (Exclusive)—Investigation of the existence of a suicide pact between Mrs. Doris Murray Palmer, beautiful divorcee, and Mrs. Guy Bates Post, whose bodies were found here last Thursday, will be started tomorrow, according to Sheriff Jernigan.

This final act in the dual tragedy follows the inquest verdict which declared the double death a murder and suicide with Mrs. Post firing the fatal shots, was brought about through the announced discovery of a letter written to Attorney Moresby White.

The letter, penned by Mrs. Post, is described as indicating that the former stage actress contemplated taking her own life and that she was to be joined in the death plan by her friend, Mrs. Palmer.

BOTH MADE WILLS

Friends of the two women here assert that they believe a suicide pact was discussed, and point to the fact that both had prepared wills disposing of their property. The will of Mrs. Palmer, however, never received the final signature. The letter addressed to Attorney White, counsel for Mrs. Post, was found in a desk at her home, and while its contents have not been made public, it is believed to contain information that will bear out the suicide agreement.

Sheriff Jernigan today will demand that the attorney turn the missive over to his office for investigation, but the official scouts the theory that Mrs. Palmer joined in any death agreement, or had any desire to die.

HUNDREDS OF LETTERS

Attorney White revealed today that he had in his possession hundreds of letters and notes that had passed between the two women over a period of approximately two years.

"There is no question in my mind," said White in discussing the two deaths and the revelations that a reading of the letters has brought forth, "but that a dual death was before the minds of the two women for many months. Boxes, grips and baskets of their correspondence is now piled up in my office awaiting my perusal."

White said that numbers of the letters, all of which were highly perfumed, were marked "personal, and to be destroyed in case of death." Other, according to the attorney, were marked "to be opened in case of death," and still some that were resealed and marked "not to be opened under any circumstances."

RELATIONSHIP SHOWN

One of the letters, intending to show the long standing of the close relationship that existed between the women, was made public by the Post counsel.

It was written in September last year, and carried out the usual form of salutation adopted by the two. It was revealed that the letters were addressed to initials. They were sent to "M. B. G. from Y. B. G." and the full translation, according to White is "My best girl from your best girl."

"I'm sorry you were so unhappy, this visit," the letter written by Mrs. Palmer to Mrs. Post began. "It makes me utterly miserable to have to so upset. But it is useless for me to try to convince you that I do stray from the arms you locked over a year ago. It would seem that everyone but you knows that I live each day under your spell—striving to please you, thinking of you first in everything.

"Better far for both of us if I could find an absorbing interest. My poor attempt at drawing may be the answer. Drowning might be better. With the love of Y.B.G."

DEATH PACT SCOUTED

All of the letters, together with a telegram found in Mrs. Post's effects composed of a jumble of words, will be requested by Jernigan for his reopened investigation of the suicide theory.

"Every indication points to the fact that Mrs. Palmer did not contemplate any such strange idea of dying with Mrs. Post," the official said. "Mrs. Post may have entertained such an idea, but Mrs. Palmer had everything to live for.

"She had achieved much popularity in the society circles of the town and had won success with her writing and planning of a play for the Community Players here. Because of being older, Mrs. Post could not maintain her success and popularity of former years, and apparently was somewhat envious of her younger friend.

"We believe that after shooting Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Post jumped into her car and drove around the town for half an hour. Whether she intended to commit suicide by driving her car over the cliff, or not, we cannot say. She is believed to have returned to the Palmer home and fired a bullet into her own head.

FUNERAL PLANS

"Four shots had been fired from the gun. The first shot evidently missed Mrs. Palmer and we found it in the wall. The second and third hit Mrs. Palmer and the fourth Mrs. Post used on herself."

Jernigan has communicated with Guy Bates Post, well-known actor, and divorced husband of Mrs. Post, but has received no reply.

The two bodies will be taken to Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Glendale, where they will be placed in temporary vaults. Funeral services will be conducted at the Little Church of the Flowers for Mrs. Palmer at 10 a.m. and for Mrs. Post at 2 p.m. Final disposition of the bodies has not been determined, according to Forest Lawn instructions.

CARR STORIES USED AS STUDY AID

Course of Caravan in Mexico Followed by Schoolchildren

Interest in Geography Quickened

Mrs. Grace Gibbons, teacher at Rosemont-street school, uses unique map for lesson on travel of Auto Club expedition, for benefit of Jennie Jackson and Robert Pearlson, pupils of her class.

HARRY CARR'S descriptive accounts in The Times of Mexico as seen by the motor caravan which is creating a "road friendship," have inspired a novel method of study of geography by pupils of the fifth grade "A" at Rosemont-street school. The innovation is a large, colored wall map of Mexico prepared by the boys and girls of the class under the direction of Mrs. Grace Gibbons, the teacher, and referred to as supplemental to their textbooks.

The map was drawn on the day the caravan set out from Nogales, and from time to time the class has kept pace, as it were, with Mr. Carr by studying his dispatches as they have appeared in The Times. A toy automobile, held in place by a red string, is moved forward as the articles announce the location of the caravan. Cities are designated by colored stars which hold the red string along the route of travel. Sections of the map are further decorated with colored drawings depicting characteristics of the country. These include cacti, Yaqui mud forts, oil wells, pottery, the canals of Mexico City and volcanoes.

Mrs. Gibbons described the novel teaching method as in line with the desire of the Board of Education for "activity" units, with visual education as its aim. She says the idea is holding the interest of the children with gratifying results.

Next Tuesday, Mr. Carr's trip will be dramatized in a playlet to be enacted by the pupils at the parent-teacher meeting in the school. Robert Pearson will impersonate The Times writer and other pupils will appear as Mexican dancers and enlighten him as to the resources, customs and historic spots of the southern republic.

Those who are to take part in the presentation are Alvin Grancell, Gordon Mosteller, Jean Lytle, Jean Murray, Frances Tyerman, Virginia Horlacher, Gay Williams, Cecelia Chavez, Dorothea Conaway, Jennie Jackson, Glenna Pratt and Margaret Scharf.

BEVERLY HILLS POLL TODAY

Bond Issue for Civic Center and New City Hall Expected to Pass With Heavy Majority

Beverly Hills will go to the polls today to vote on its Civic Center and new City Hall project. A bond issue of $1,100,000 for the purpose is the only measure on the ballot at this special election. It was predicted yesterday by Lon Haddock, chairman of the Beverly Hills Civic Improvement Committee, that the issue will carry by a majority of at least six to one. Practically no opposition has developed, he asserted.

The proposed Civic Center site is in the heart of the city's business district, on land now occupied mostly by a lumber yard.

"The comparatively low price at which this land can be acquired at the present time is one of the reasons the bonds will be voted overwhelmingly," said Haddock.

"Passage of the bonds will be followed at an early date by a number of other improvements in Beverly Hills, which will be made possible by acquisition of the land and of a portion of the present Pacific Electric right of way there. Among these improvements will be the making of through streets of Crescent Drive and Rexford Drive from Sunset to Pico boulevards and removal of the present Pacific Electric tracks on Santa Monica Boulevard between Alpine and Beverly drives."

Safecrackers Obtain $1000 and Get Away

A small safe on the third floor of the Eastman Kodak Store, 642 South Hill street, was blown open last night and $1000 taken.

According to the report given police by Richard Greenwald, night watchman, he saw a man peering from a third-story window of the building and after sending a call for aid to the Central Station entered the building with Patrolman Rice, who was near by. The two men followed a trail of sounds to the roof of the building, where they found the bandits had made good their escape through a door into the roof and over the top of the Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater.

Ray West Back; Absence Due to Vacation Whim

A sudden impulse for vacation was the explanation given by Ray West, orchestra leader and night club proprietor, for his supposed disappearance on Friday night. He appeared at the Central Police Station last night with Mrs. West.

West said he had spent the time at Catalina Island, since his disappearance, and did not know the police were searching for him. Yesterday he communicated with his wife, who went to the island to meet him, and they returned to this city to explain the disappearance.

Motorist Dies in Parked Car

Bert Cook, 31 years of age, 273 Mariposa street, Sierra Madre, was found dead in a closed car in front of 1223 Compton avenue last night by Walker Tippen, who resides at this address. Tippen told Detective Lieutenant Jashuba, who investigated the case, that the car was parked in front of his place early yesterday morning and that it was still there last night. He investigated and found Cook dead inside.

Lieut. Jashuba said that the man evidently had died while lighting a cigarette, as a burned match was in his hands and a cigarette in his lap. Blood in his mouth indicated that he died from a hemorrhage. The body was taken to the County Morgue and the man's mother, Mrs. A. L. Cook of Sierra Madre, notified.

ORATORS AWAIT "TIMES" FINALS

District Winners Compete Friday Night

Record Crowd Expected for Constitutional Event

Seven Champions Fight Way Toward High Goal

Who's who among the high-school orators of the Pacific Southwest was determined Friday night in the semiannual Oratorical Contest on the Constitution, held at seven different points within the province sponsored by The Times. The winners were:

Donald E. Butler, Sparks (Nev.) High School; Alfred Baughn, Phoenix (Ariz.) High School; Odie Wright, Long Beach Polytechnic High School; Alice Parichan, Reedley Joint Union High School; Donald Matson, Pasadena High School; James Pike, Hollywood High School, and John B. Young, Torrance High School.

Who is the best orator in this group, and most highly qualified to represent the Pacific Southwest in the grand finals of the Pacific Coast at Seattle, May 24, will be decided when the seven orators named meet in The Times grand finals at Shrine Auditorium, Los Angeles, May 2. These talented young men and women will compete not only to determine who among them shall receive the honor and distinction of champion orator of the Southwest, but also who will receive the substantial emoluments that accompany victory.

JOHN YOUNG

DON BUTLER

JAMES PIKE

PRIZES FOR WINNERS

Five hundred dollars in cash go to the winner of The Times grand finals. To the winner of second place, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50; fifth, sixth and seventh places, $25 each. In other words, The Times, the donor of these prizes, intends that every contestant who has worked his way up from the bottom through the various stages of the contest, shall receive a cash reward.

And more than the $500 cash goes to the winner of first place. All his expenses will be paid to the Pacific Coast finals at Seattle, and if it be that the young lady contestant is the winner May 2, she will have a chaperon with all expenses paid by The Times. Should the victor in the finals of May 2 at Shrine Auditorium win first place at Seattle and be named to compete in the national finals, The Times will pay all expenses of the winner to Washington, D. C., where the national finals are to be held, including transportation and living expenses.

HONOR STUDENTS

The winners of the semifinals the 25th inst., now in line for top honors, are the outstanding students of their school; honor students, officers of school and classes, honored because of their scholarship and personality.

Donald Butler, winner of the Nevada State contest, is a senior in the Sparks school. He gives his extra time to oratory and dramatics; participates in all forensic contests, local and State, and will go to the University of Nevada next year. He expects to become a professor of English and speech.

Alfred Baughn, in winning the Arizona State contest, was given the unanimous decision of the distinguished judges. His poise, pleasant naturalness of voice and convincing logic swept all before him. Baughn was winner of his school meet last year and was third in the State contest; his invincible will to succeed this year, brought its reward of State champion. He is an honor student and holds important school and class positions.

MANY COMPETITORS

Odie Wright of Polytechnic High at Long Beach, had to battle his way to the top, for, to begin with, he had 900 contestants in his own school, the largest number of any unit in the contest, to defeat in order to get into the next higher bracket. This is not the first year he has been in the National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution. He entered in both 1928 and 1929, advancing as far as the semifinals, where he was placed fourth. With the experience of former years and an unflinching determination to win, his followers believe that his prospects for accomplishing his ambition this year are excellent. Odie is a member of all the honor societies of his school, president of the senior class, member of the different literary and dramatic clubs.

Alice Parichan, Reedley Joint Union High, in Group B, contested with some of the strongest schools of the State, including Fresno, Bakersfield, Taft, Porterville and others, and came out winner over all. She is ambitious in forensics and dramatics, in which she excels.

Donald D. Matson, winner of Group C, is a student at Pasadena High. He is the son of a retired army officer and saw much of the world before settling down in Pasadena. He has held nearly all the positions of honor and trust that could be conferred upon him in his school life, and is prominent in nearly all activities. He gave the oration on "John Marshall and the Supreme Court," at the dedication of the John Marshall High School and won the Davis-Hall oratorical contest in his school this year. He expects to go to Cornell and is directing his studies toward law and international relations.

DONALD MATSON

James Pike won the honors for Hollywood school in Group D District 23, at Lincoln High. He is in

He is a good speaker, and will make a determined try for first honors at the Shrine Auditorium.

ALL-ROUND BOY

John B. Young, only 16 years of age, is a senior at Torrance. He is an all-round student, active in all school affairs, good in forensics, in athletics and in the academics. He has a letter in tennis and one in basketball. He is president of the student body this current term, president of the Scholarship Society, and Commissioner of oral arts. In dramatics, he has taken part in sophomore, junior and senior plays. He is likewise a good musician, accompanies the Boys' Glee Club and plays in the school band.

ODIE WRIGHT

This group of speakers will meet in the contest at the Shrine Civic Auditorium May 2, at 8 p.m. The meeting will be presided over by Curtis D. Wilbur, United States Court of Appeals, and former Secretary of the Navy, who will make the journey from San Francisco especially to render this service.

There are 6457 seats.

Admission to the auditorium will be free, but last year every one of the 6457 seats were taken and many people stood. Reserved seats may be had by phoning the Oratorical Bureau of The Times.

PLANES DEMOBILIZED AFTER SAN DIEGO REVIEW

SAN DIEGO, April 27. (AP)—With an address to officers and men by Brig.-Gen. William E. Gillmore, its commander, the first provisional wing, United States Army Air Corps, was demobilized this evening at Rockwell Field after four weeks of the most intensive maneuvers in the history of the Army Air Corps.

The demobilization was preceded by a review in which the nation's tactical air units swooped low in formation before Gen. Gillmore, his staff and civil representatives of San Diego's city and county government.

Tomorrow the units of the wing start to their home stations. The exodus will continue throughout the week as various units and individual planes head eastward to their home stations.

In his address to his men as the demobilization of the first provisional wing began, Gen. Gillmore termed the maneuvers the most extensive in the history of the Army Air Corps.

"Personally," he said, "I consider it the most wonderful organization in the world. To have commanded such a unit I consider a great climax to my service in the Army."

The general personally thanked each officer and enlisted man, declaring it was due to their efforts that the maneuvers were so successful.

City Treasurer Points Out Provision [illegible] Water Bureau Must Pay Interest from [illegible]

A definite and positive declaration of that provision of the [illegible] which makes it compulsory for the City Water [illegible] and annual principal charges on general water bonds issued [illegible] ment issued by City Treasurer Powell, in connection with the $38,800,000 water bond issue on the May 30 election ballot.

Mr. Powell made it clear that the new charter adopted by the people in 1925 absolutely provides that charges on water bonds are paid from earnings of the City Water Bureau. Mr. Powell has been in the city treasury department for twenty-eight years and for sixteen years has been at the head of this department.

He pointed out that he is making his statement with the view of clearing up in the people's mind any doubt as to how the proposed water bond issue is to be repaid. These bonds, with interest, he showed by referring to the charter, are paid from Water Bureau earnings.

CHARTER QUOTED

In drawing attention to the exact section of the charter that provides that water bond charges are carried from earnings of the Water Bureau, Mr. Powell stated:

"Section 223, Page 78 of the city charter reads, 'the board (referring to the Water Board) shall each year apportion and set apart out of the revenue fund pertaining to each municipal work an amount or amounts sufficient to pay at maturity all sums coming due in said year for the principal and interest upon all outstanding bonds, general or district, issued for the purposes of the works to which such revenue fund pertains, and said amounts shall be transferred forthwith into a special fund in the City Treasury to be designated by a name indicating the nature or purpose of such special fund, and the source from which said amount or amounts were derived; and the moneys in such special fund shall be subject to apportionment by the Controller as may be required to make principal and interest [illegible] such payments on the [illegible] and interest of said [illegible] no other purpose.'

ROLLING PIN'S SWAY AT END

Husband, Seeking Divorce, Charges His Spouse Used Golf Club

Mrs. Margaret Ruth Cooper used a golf club instead of a rolling pin to compel her husband's respect, according to a divorce petition filed in Superior Court by G. R. Cooper.

And besides beating Cooper with a golf club, she kicked and bit him, it is asserted, and in addition falsely accused him of associating with other women.

the evidence seems to show, then the defendant's offer of a prize to the winner in a drawing was a proposal to make a gift.

GIFT NOT COMPULSORY

"There was no written transfer of the automobile to the plaintiff, hence the gift, if any, must have been verbal. But the automobile was never delivered to the plaintiff, either actually or symbolically, nor did he receive any means of obtaining possession or control. A verbal gift under these conditions would not be valid.

"The acts of the plaintiff after the drawing do not measure up to the definition of a consideration.

"The judgment is reversed and the cause is remanded to the Municipal Court for a new trial."

Banker on Job Thirty-six Years

J. M. Hutchison, vice-president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, is celebrating his thirty-sixth anniversary with the bank. He started as a messenger in 1894, while the bank, then the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, was at Main and Commercial streets. Isaias W. Hellman, who founded the bank, was president at that time.

In 1894, the bank had assets amounting to $3,391,000; deposits, $2,064,000; capital, $500,000 and surplus and profits, $826,000. At present, the assets are in excess of $72,000,000; deposits, $62,000,000; capital, $3,000,000 and surplus and profits, $5,290,000.

Although many banks have reduced the par value of their stock to $20 and $25 a share, the par value of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank stock is $100, although in 1894 and for many years thereafter the shares were $1000 each, it was announced.

Secretary Wilbur to Speak Over Station KHJ

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Radio frequencies so high they are difficult to imagine are being experimented with and may be found to have properties now undreamed of.

Experimenters are using frequencies anywhere up to 1,000,000,000 kilocycles. When it is realized that 300,000 kilocycles are equivalent to approximately one meter the shortness of the waves now being used experimentally may be dimly visualized. Another way of attempting to gauge the wave-length is to consider that the number of kilocycles is the number of times the current alternates per second. The average electric current for home use is sixty cycles—alternating sixty times per second; a kilocycle is 1000 cycles. When getting up in the Alpine frequencies, however, even the use of kilocycles involves too many ciphers, so the term "magacycle," or 1,000,000 cycles, is used.

KHJ at 1:15 p.m. will bring Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur in a talk on "Better Homes;" at 4 p.m. the Viennese Quintet, with Bob Cheatman as guest soloist, will delight you with forty minutes of classic composition. Bigger and better Boys' Week the nation over will be celebrated by KHJ at 6 p.m., when the Los Angeles High School Glee Club will entertain. Another Inglewood Park concert at 7 p.m. includes an old slave song, "I'm Wondering," and an old Irish arrangement of "The Galway Piper." Two hours of humor, song and the best of music comes with the Blue Monday Jamboree from 8 to 10 p.m. Frank Watanabe, Simpy Fitts, Edna O'Keefe and others will be there.

KFI at 6 p.m. with the Rochester Civic Orchestra, headed by Guy Fraser Harrison, will be heard playing Wagner's overture to "The Flying Dutchman." At 6:30 p.m. Virginia Gardiner has a leading role in the yarn which the "Old-Timer" brings to radioland. In the dramatization of the story Miss Gardiner will be heard as Judith Page. At 7 tonight Ray Van Dyne's orchestra, with Jane Green and Rone Wilson as soloists, will render a popular program.

KECA at 3:15 this afternoon features the Council for Promotion of

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Dr. T. A. Willat and Masquers in tabloid revels.
World-wide News at 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

Boys' Welfare, with Grant V. Jenkins, director. At 6:30 p.m. Elton Hey's Virginia Ballroom Orchestra with the Two Shades of Blue, Mart and Lili, will hold your dial. At 8:30 the Family Party presents Maria Kurenko, Russian coloratura soprano, in operatic and concert selections.

The Times Forum today will be presented by the Masquers with Dr. T. A. Willat as master of ceremonies. A suggestion of the entertainment that is to be given at the annual midnight Masquers' public revel will be heard. Among those who will participate on the Forum will be William Langen, James T. Mack, Jack Clark, Crawford Kent and others. This will be heard over KHJ at 1:30 p.m.

Today's Bible Text

And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.—I Cor. xiii, 2.

SLOW STAR
The new planet has a year 300 of our years long. Consider living back East through the winter in that country.

CHEERING
A Cornell professor says that the sexes have equal brain power. This is mighty good news to man.

"ANOTHER THING"
Another thing Job did not have—to answer the telephone and find it the wrong number.

NUMBER, PLEASE
Since we can telephone to Buenos Aires for $38, a great load has been taken off our mind.

FINANCIAL NOTE
The Wall-street flurry last fall has driven the investor back to the land, says a trade journal. Let him in on the ground floor, as it were.

FOR CENSUS TAKERS
Since there will be no use for them for another decade, a dog-proof shin guard for enumerators need not be invented immediately.

WONDERFUL WETTING
Word comes from New York that the bride married in the tank at Los Angeles wore watered silk and carried a bouquet of pond lilies.

PRINTS
It used to be footprints on the sands of time. Now it is fingerprints in the hoosegow. But seeing them does not seem to inspire any to "take heart again."

PUBLICITY A PANACEA
Mussolini has forced Italian newspapers to "bury" news of fatal plane crashes. He forgets that wide publicity to accidents of this kind leads many minds to working on corrective measures.

BIG AND LITTLE
One thing we were not bothered with down in Little America in the Antarctic was money, says Willard Van der Veer. Now if only the same conditions could be enjoyed in Big America!

SOUTHLAND CULTURE
California leads the nation in high school pupils enrolled, more than a third of which are in Los Angeles county. When progress and intelligence go hand in hand, there is not much danger of Communism getting a foothold.

A MODERN DANIEL
Superior Judge Desmond appears to have discovered a most effective way of dealing with drunk and reckless drivers. He sentenced an oil worker, convicted of this offense, to serve every Sunday in the County Jail for six months. Such a penalty, if it were applied generally and systematically against all such menaces of the highways, would go a long way toward reducing the number of drivers who swell the week-end figures of death, accident and disablement.

It is on Sundays and holidays that the drunken driver contributes most liberally to our ghastly record of motor-car casualties. His incarceration at these high-spot periods in his speed mania career would impress on his consciousness the price he must pay for his criminal folly and keep it in continual remembrance. To effect a cure the sentence should run for at least a year. In the meantime the road would be made safer for the crowds who disport themselves sanely and sensibly on Sundays and holidays. Another good point in connection with such a sentence is that it does not interfere with his earning his daily wages, and so saves his wife and children from suffering for crimes they are powerless to prevent.

Under the present California penal code it is not certain that such one-day sentences stretched over a period of time are legal and this question may be taken to the State Supreme Court for a decision. If the ruling is adverse to Judge Desmond's action, the code might well be amended to make such sentences legal.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE
Study of the figures of unemployment which the present census will produce will, during the next year or two, itself remedy unemployment to a certain extent—it will keep a vast number of statisticians and economists busy, with what result it is impossible to say in advance. One predicted consequence is that it will bring forth a flock of schemes for unemployment insurance, ranging from Socialist and Communist proposals for the adoption of a dole, through schemes for Federal and State insurance on the German plan, to plans for private and industry insurance conducted by actuary companies. Some agitation for this form of insurance is under way in advance of the figures—at least the cry of "work or wages" used as a slogan to attract Communist recruits is an out and out demand for a dole.

At first glance unemployment insurance does not seem vastly different from health insurance or accident insurance, and if conducted as they are by private companies on a business basis, might so work out. One of the larger life insurance companies has several times asked the New York Legislature to let it experiment in this field, but the permission has not been given. But it is seldom proposed to let unemployment insurance be conducted on a business basis. Even when it starts that way, as it did in England, the fact of government participation inevitably drags in politics.

In a recent magazine article, Winston Churchill, who had more to do with framing the British plan than did anyone else, traces its progress from legitimacy and declares it reached its depths recently when the Labor government presented unemployment cards to all the youth of the land at age 16—an action which was the equivalent of saying, "Boys, no hurry about hunting a job; the government will support you if you fail to find one."

If anything has been established by centuries of experience, it is that most human beings are naturally lazy and that working for a living is an acquired habit—one which self-respecting men will not give up once it is established, but which, like self-respect itself, is a matter of training and discipline. It is plain that any system which gives youth an option of idleness is a ruinous one, likely in time to pauperize the greater part of the population.

The British unemployment fund, until it became the football of such politics and perversion, was designed to give legitimate relief to men who had contributed to it from their wages, fairly and honestly earned, and who through no fault of their own were temporarily without jobs. The government contribution was about 20 per cent—slightly more than enough to cover administrative expenses. It was a system of wage spreading, in fact, specially adapted to seasonal trades, and restricted to them at first, but later made universal. Such a plan is open to the objection that it is paternalistic, that it removes the necessity of saving for a rainy day, and that it does not encourage thrift. But its developments have been far worse and they are apparently inevitable. The German system has recently gone on the rocks, the fund being at the present time practically bankrupt.

Various half-baked schemes have been in years past suggested in various State legislatures. If there is to be public unemployment insurance, it should be national, as business conditions are national. Otherwise there would be no equality of competition between industries in different States. But it seems to be reasonably certain that all schemes of unemployment insurance so far suggested have fatal defects and that the underlying theory of public unemployment insurance is unsound.

One reason for this is that unemployment is, in a measure, under control of the affected individual as neither sickness nor accident is. Thus a man thrown out of work in one trade will, if he must, turn his hand to another, shifting from occupation to occupation as demand for his services requires. If insured, however, he will tend to remain permanently unemployed if he cannot find the work most to his liking. There is no impelling necessity to try something else as long as the payments last—and with the taxpayer holding the bag, as he almost certainly will, politics being politics, the payments continue indefinitely.

Then, too, such insurance does not provide employment—it is an opiate for the disease, not a cure, and one likely to make it worse. Work, not doles, is the true unemployment remedy.

This is not to say that private, co-operative, benefit association or industry insurance plans may not be of benefit. The objection is to public insurance, financed by the taxpayer. Indeed, some industry plans are in fairly successful operation. But one of the large steel companies hit upon a scheme which is said to be better yet—it is known as a "dismissal wage." Each workman laid off is entitled to receive a lump sum proportioned to his length of employment. Understanding that he must make this last until he gets another job, he seeks work diligently. It was found where the same total was apportioned in weekly installments, men tended to wait till they had collected all that was coming to them before seeking other employment.

An English economist, Harold Cox, states the fundamental objection to such schemes as follows: "Suppose an extra tax is imposed on a well-to-do citizen in order to pay wages to the unemployed, and suppose that citizen finds the most convenient way of meeting the burden is to get rid of one of his gardeners. The supposed remedy has done nothing to remedy the evil. One unemployed man has been brought into employment, one gardener has been thrown out of employment.

"That is what always happens and always must happen. Every penny of public money comes out of private pockets, and thus every plus of public expenditure is accompanied by a minus of private expenditure. At the very best government expenditure only shifts employment; it takes away work from the persons who would have been employed by private individuals, and gives work to persons selected for State employment.

"We cannot create additional employment unless simultaneously we create wealth with which to pay for it."

The LEE SIDE o' LA
By Lee Shippey

EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY Los Angeles schoolboys, 11 years old and up, are enrolled in classes, taking regular instruction, in the Los Angeles Times-Playground Aircraft League, and 3000 other boys, living elsewhere in Southern California, are taking the same courses by mail. Three world's championships have been won by boys in this league, and since this instruction started, less than two and one-half years ago, more than 17,000 Southern California lads have been inspired by it to try their wings. About a month ago the National Playgrounds Association, an organization reaching all the major cities in the United States, applied to The Times for 500 sets of its lessons and plans, with a view to establishing similar courses all over the country.

First in America

On August 21, 1928, The Times started the first aviation school for boys in America. Then it took over the National Automotive School building at Figueroa and Santa Barbara and opened a school with 2000 students. The course began with nomenclature. There are 140 parts in an airplane and the boys first learned the names and uses of all of them, and then proceeded to construct planes built to scale—models of big Fokker planes. Some of them were so thorough that they even built electric lights and plush seats into their planes, and compressed air motors. Commander Byrd declared the school the most important assurance of the future of American aviation.

Youth's Game

For aviation, Byrd and all great aviation experts agree, is a young man's game. To youth anything seems possible, anything is worth trying. It is a noteworthy fact that Donald Douglas and Anthony Fokker, whose names have been famous for years in aviation, still are less than 40 years of age. Jerald Vultee, who invented the construction idea of the Lockheed Vega plane recently bought by Lindbergh, is not yet 30 and first showed genius for aviation construction while a student at Caltech. He now is chief engineer at the Lockheed factory in Burbank.

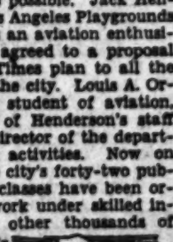
Boys Accomplish Miracles

In the first meet held by The Times school Lynn Sullivan, a 15-year-old boy, broke the world's record for outdoor models. His little plane made an official record of 36 minutes and 36 seconds. But then one of the judges, whose arm was worn out by holding binoculars on the plane, dropped his glass and lost sight of the plane. It stayed up some minutes after that, other timers clocking it at 45 minutes, but only the 36-minute record was allowed to stand.

In the meet held this spring Teter Miyake, a 13-year-old Japanese schoolboy here, broke the world's record for indoor tractor models, and Bob Hare broke the world's record for indoor gliders.

Classes on Forty-two Playgrounds

So great was the success of the school The Times started that it was desired to make the instruction accessible to all Los Angeles boys and to boys all over Southern California in so far as was possible. Jack Henderson of the Los Angeles Playgrounds Department was an aviation enthusiast and readily agreed to a proposal to extend The Times plan to all the playgrounds of the city. Louis A. Orsatti, a lifelong student of aviation, was a member of Henderson's staff and was made director of the department's aircraft activities. Now on every one of the city's forty-two public playgrounds classes have been organized which work under skilled instructors, while other thousands of boys get instructions from the lessons published in the Junior Times every Sunday. At the playgrounds, materials as well as instruction are supplied and any boy, rich or poor, may benefit by the instruction. Lessons also are supplied to schools.



Meets Every Three Months

The way these youngsters, many not yet in their teens, pore over the weekly lessons and construct planes from the drawings and directions given in the Junior Times is astounding to their parents. There are three classes, novice, pilot and ace, and many a pilot of a big commercial plane would be stumped by some of the questions those youngsters ask and the technical knowledge they possess. Here, for instance, are the things in which a student must qualify to get his gold pin as an ace:

Indoor flight record of three minutes. Hydroplane, rise off water and make flight of 30 seconds. Outdoor "pusher." "A" frame; required flight of one minute. Must understand and explain dihedral angle, wash-in and wash-out, lift created by wing section, design of propeller, how to lay out and care a "true hitch prop."

Every three months these students hold a meet at which the air is full of flying planes and gliders. At the latest meet some of the gliders had wings as long as six feet, and dolls sat in the planes being demonstrated.

It is only a step from that stage of development to the flying of man-made gliders by the students themselves, for they must study air currents and such technicalities for those doll-bearing gliders just as they would if flying them themselves. The Junior Chamber of Commerce now is planning to promote the flying of man-made gliders by these students and it is probable that classes for actual flying will open shortly.

It is an interesting fact that many of the boys who are so eager to build planes are not especially interested in flying themselves.

The great achievement of this Times-Playground Aircraft League is the changing of what was merely a children's amusement, with toy planes, into a highly educational pastime which already is developing young geniuses of the air and teaching thousands the principles of flying.

AMERICAN GIRLS CRITICISED
Those Japanese girl "ambassadors of good will" are having the time of their lives traveling about from one eastern city to another and being greeted by public officials, women's clubs and other organizations. Evidently they are keeping their eyes open, and while they see much to admire in American life and were, as they put it, "greatly awed" by the President, they do not hesitate to point out what they consider the defects in our customs, especially those of the women of this country.

Speaking for the others, Miss Ashino said: "We all like the American women very much, but why will they use such a terrible amount of rouge and lipstick on their faces, particularly the older women, and why do they do it in public?"

These young ladies from Nippon need not think that there is the slightest touch of originality in what they say about the way our women "make up." Many Americans have made similar remarks and even stronger ones, for after all, an interrogation is a mild form of criticism, though it may imply a great deal of censure, whether merited or unmerited.

As for heavy make-up, these Japanese girls insist that in Japan it "simply isn't being done," and for a Japanese lady to powder or rouge her face or apply her lipstick in public would be a disgraceful act. And yet the women of Japan are assiduously endeavoring to gain the freedom and independence of their American sisters, and who knows but that they soon will be giving public demonstrations of how to apply the contents of a compact or how to wield the lipstick?

SUN'S DOMAIN GROWING
If Dr. Slipher has been quoted correctly and the outpost of Planet X's orbit is nearly 400 astronomical units from the sun, it would take the light of the great orb of day more than two days to reach that point, traveling at the rate of 186,324 miles per second. It also would extend the boundaries of the solar system by more than 30,000,000,000 miles.

LIVING THE ROLE
Il Duce has proved that he is the dictator of all of Italy by choosing his daughter's wedding trousseau.

ECONOMICAL
The Europa saved eighteen minutes on its last trip. No, Eugenia, it is not a Scotch, but a German ship.

PULLING THE OLD STUFF
New York sports writers are jumping all over Babe Ruth and the Yanks because they haven't hit their stride. The metropolis and some bush league towns are like twins in this respect.

BEAUTY NOTE
Americans spent $250,000,000 on art last year, a third of which went for the "Old Masters." They are the boys and girls that need it.

MAIDS
There may be millions out of work; but it is harder than ever to get hired girls to do housework.

'WARE THE BEARS
By James J. Montague

Behind the white syringas
Which bloom across the way
There may be lairs of grizzly bears
That sleep throughout the day.
They wander forth at twilight
Devouring whom they will,
Yet no one cares about those bears
Excepting little Bill.

He says that he has heard them
At night when he's in bed;
He's heard them roam around his home
With slow and heavy tread.
And he is rather troubled
Lest some day they will creep
Amid the gloom up to his room
And eat him in his sleep.

Sometime when he is older—
Say maybe nine or ten—
And bold of heart, he's going to part
The branches 'round their den.
And, rifle at his shoulder,
And with a fearless frown,
If they come out to prowl about
He'll shoot the creatures down.

But Bill is very little
And bears are very big,
And every night he shrinks with fright
To hear a snapping twig.
He's very sure they're leaving
Their lilac-hidden lairs,
And it is oh! so good to know
That mother's just downstairs.

CHOOSING YOUR CAREER
II
Social Welfare
BY LILLIAN WALD

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

(Lillian Wald is president of the Henry-Street Settlement, New York. She founded it in 1893 and has long been a leader in improving conditions for children and the underprivileged. She has received various notable awards in recognition of her work.)

Lillian Wald

Social welfare work demands in its very essence that you have a social point of view toward life and people. Such an approach makes for easy association with all people, irrespective of economic status, race or religious conviction.

It is an expression of democracy that is genuine and without which it would be literally impossible for you to understand the problems of people and community questions which are only the sum of many people's problems.

Of course a background of education and training will enable you really to comprehend with the head as well as the heart. With such equipment your judgment is strengthened and your imagination is allowed to play its part, with a readiness to get into action—whether it be a family or individual problem—or even one of longer range.

Some universities and special schools are equipped to give special training and aim to provide courses and field work to those of you who choose to qualify professionally. They equip you if your interests and aptitudes lie in work in the field.

Field work, however, is not valuable unless supervised by those of more experience and education. While the schools of social work more particularly equip you for case work, other opportunities present themselves to you if your eyes are open to see possibilities of other avenues of service.

In settlements the activities are so diversified that often, if you are a student, you will discover in the varied programs your special aptitudes. Occasionally a man or woman demonstrates in residence at a settlement that further academic work is not needed as much as experience. It is often the case that college and other students who have spent vacations in settlements find there the opportunity for service.

Much of the valuable work in the settlements is done by the volunteers, many of whom are professionally equipped to do their work. Frequently in summer camps they find good opportunity to test their ability with children of different nationalities.

The salaries of the paid social worker vary. Statistics taken recently by the Welfare Council in New York City show that 57 per cent of the head workers earn less than $4000 and 38 per cent earn from $4000 to $10,000. Assistant head workers average between $2000 and $3000. Directors of boys' athletics range from $1200 to $4000. These figures, however, are not conclusive, as experience, personality, qualifications, etc., are factors.

The public health nurse ranks numerically first in importance in social welfare work, because her field has not yet been absorbed. You can bear in mind that her work is one of the most satisfactory that can be offered. Her field has broad and far-reaching results. She is in a large measure the agent to carry out the program of preventive medicine.

Remember, therefore, that she carries with her not only the opportunity for service in its literal sense, but that she has the opportunity to carry education. To the mother and the family she is a very practical and trained teacher. Her work in recent years emphasizes its significance and a demand for it has spread over the world. In this extended field you will find that there are great and growing opportunities for the properly trained and properly qualified and personally devoted nurse.

Preparation for recreation is important and includes ability to organize programs and supervise centers for athletics and other phases of leisure-time activities. This has multiple opportunities and would include community pageants, camps and dramatics, etc.

A mere instinctive and impulsive devotion to human interests is not enough for you to be a really successful worker. With this devotion there should be the ability to select a definite field into which you will fit most happily and in which you can display the full range of training and talent.

Profit and Loss

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Just recently over the radio here on the Pacific Coast a suggestion was made to help relieve our employment situation.

Mr. "A" asked the home owners to give men work about the yard, if but for a few hours. Undoubtedly the suggestion was well meant and would help relieve a serious situation. But the point that Mr. "A" overlooked is the fact that many of those whom he has called upon to help, cannot, for they do not have the money. It is all that they can do to earn a living for themselves. Mr. "A" should have struck at the root of the matter and called upon those who are wealthy and employers to relieve the situation, for it is within their power to do so.

I realise that the wealthy class give many thousands of dollars each year for charity, but they give of their surplus; it works no hardship on them, while a working man who gives a dollar gives of that which is necessary for his existence.

Is capital going to let its employees outdo it? I cannot believe that the wealthy class as a whole fully realise the hardship and suffering they cause when they make every dollar of profit they possibly can without regard to their fellow-men or they would show a little more humanity. It is certain that if they would try to alleviate present conditions the joy that they would bring to thousands and the appreciation of those helped would more than repay them for their efforts and sacrifice. Pities J. M. S.

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Have just read the letter in The Times of yesterday written by J. M. S. under title of "Street Beggars Nuisance." Too bad the poor, unfortunate, afflicted people obstruct his path on this mundane sphere and their wheezy music grates on his delicate, sensitive ears. He forgets that while these people may be afflicted physically they sometimes are gifted with wonderful minds. J. M. S. seems to be devoid of all decency and sympathy. His affliction is far greater than that of any cripple on the streets. He is the professor of an ossified heart. I would not care for the thoughts that may be placed on him in the future. Let us all pity J. M. S.

Study in Values

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A letter in today's issue of The Times signed "G. D. Moyer" refers to increased assessed valuations of corners in this city for the last ten years and states that real estate investments are the safest and most profitable. He also says that assessed valuations have increased 1740 per cent in ten years.

This party seems to be under the impression that assessed values and actual values are the same. But such is not the case. Almost half of those corners referred to have really depreciated in the last ten years and I can designate most of them.

Writer inquires where is there a listed security that can show this record?

Hundreds of them—Edison Common has increased 500 per cent in six years, paid 8 per cent net, all that time and no taxes or assessments. Chemical National Bank increased from $300 to $6000 per share and United States Trust Company still more.

And How Many More?

TUCSON (Ariz.) April 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Is the effort to secure for enumeration every person in Los Angeles genuine or ballyhoo? I am a resident of Los Angeles, but spent the past winter in Tucson for health reasons. I am a constant reader of The Times and noting your urgent appeal for a full and accurate count I wrote to the Census Supervisor, care Chamber of Commerce, asking for the necessary blanks so that my family of five might be included in the Los Angeles census. Absolute silence followed. Not a scratch of a pen or a click of a typewriter, even in courtesy of reply, has resulted. Has this been usual in the Los Angeles enumeration? Is it typical of the way the census has been conducted? I ask you.

ONE LADY MOTORIST

I know a lady driver,
The rarest of the rare,
Though I hardly would describe her
As fairest of the fair.

She knows how fast she's going
On highway or in street,
She knows what she is doing
When she presses down her feet.

She never leaves her choker
Pulled out for miles and miles,
And she can change a tire
With the sunniest of smiles.

She never slams her brakes on So's to make the rubber burn,
And never lifts her hand up
To make a left-hand turn.

She's quick to change her gears
To gain the proper power,
And never keens to mid-road
At eleven miles an hour.

MUCH LIBERTY FOR CHILD SCORED

... against the danger of ... children too much liberty ... much leisure time, Dr. Bruce ... in his sermon at South ... Christian Church yesterday ... that "the sweat shop, with ... all its horrors, did not have such a demoralizing effect upon young people as the unbridled license that now is given to them." Dr. Brown spoke in part as follows: "The average boy will spend about 2900 hours each year in bed, 1400 at school or in study, 400 eating, 300 in dressing and possibly 100 at church. Not being compelled to work, as children were a few generations ago, he has 3660 hours subject to his own desires. This is the time when his ideals and character are formed. In all the history of the past, every attainment of liberty by any group or class has been followed by great evils and excesses. This was true in the attainment of freedom from slavery, freedom from political and religious tyranny and we now see it in the liberation of women from the traditional views, domestic subjection and household labor that held them in the past. In time the benefits have overbalanced the evils and safeguards are devised. But the freedom that has come to children is a very great evil for they are not prepared for it."

PASTOR GIVES VIEWS ON NONRESISTANCE

"'I will show you how to win out, every time, over the evil which threatens you,' is the essence of the statement of Jesus in the most misunderstood portion of His teachings," said Dr. Sheldon Shepard in his sermon yesterday at First Universalist Church. "Thinking that 'Resist not evil' meant to let evil have its way, and run over us, we have said it cannot be done, and supinely passed the injunction by to prove our Christianity by some less difficult text. But what Jesus meant was this: 'I will show you how to overcome evil. Your technique is wrong, your methods ineffective. You are fighting evil, resisting, repressing, straining against it. That is wrong. The way to overcome evil is to fill your life with good.' Every discovery of psychology and psycho-analysis is a confirmation of this eternal truth. One who fights a temptation will lose. One who fills his mind with something better will win. One who fights a bad habit will forge its chains the stronger; one who fills his life with a good habit sees the chains melt away. One who quarrels, resents injury, holds grudges, nurses spites, is resisting evil and fastening its fangs into his soul. One who forgets these evils, in noble thinking, overcomes them and masters his own soul."

HEROIC CHARACTERS FORMED BY TRUTH

"Truth has the essence of immortality," declared Bramacharee Nerode in his sermon yesterday at Mt. Washington Center. "Untruth dies of its own weight," said the speaker. "Behind the cosmic plan runs the invisible stream of truth. Go against that stream and you court unhappiness and disaster. Follow its course and you invite trials and tribulations — yet such is the nature of truth that it adds courage and heroism to character and, in spite of pain and sorrow, life and its problems become illumined. Truth is the only reality and from this fountain all creation springs. The moment you touch truth you contact the core of creation and the heart of God. In this lies the strength of the life devoted to the worship of truth."

RAMANUJA'S THEISM THEME OF SERMON

A sermon on "The Heart of Ramanuja's Theism" was preached by Swami Dhiranananda yesterday at Figueroa Playhouse. Excerpts from the discourse follow:

"Warm personal relationship, here and hereafter, with a living God, was the creed of Ramanuja as opposed to total absorption of the soul into the ocean of spirit, propounded by Sankar, his great predecessor. Ramanuja comes nearest to the Christian concept of theism which Christ, in the western world, heralded long ago with a mighty force from the shores of Galilee. There have been mystics in the West and in the East, some singing the melodies of the heart, some thundering the logic of the head, all with the intention of being heard by God, but it is the masses in all ages that seem to have the final victory. They move the throne of God by their muffled cries. Their hearts have to be satisfied."

PROBATION DISCUSSED IN LESSON-SERMON

"Probation After Death" was the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The golden text was from Hebrews, "Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord."

One of the Scripture selections in the lesson-sermon, chosen from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians, included assurances as follows: "For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ. Every man's work shall be made manifest. If any man's work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward. If any man's work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss, but he himself shall be saved; yet so as by fire."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," presented the following statements by Mary Baker Eddy: "The old man with his deeds must be put off. Nothing sensual or sinful is immortal. The death of a false material sense and of sin, not the death of organic matter, is what reveals man and Life, harmonious, real and eternal."

ZERO HOUR FOR TAXES NEARS

Penalties Added at 5 o'Clock Today

Stacks of Checks

Ruth Lynch of collector's office sorts great stock of incoming remittances.

WHEN the office of Tax Collector Welsh opens at 9 a.m., taxpayers will have only eight hours in which to pay the $34,134,723.83 in county taxes for the fiscal year of 1929-30 remaining unpaid at the close of business Saturday. Failure to make the tax payments by 5 p.m. today subjects the amounts due to a penalty of 5 per cent as well as a cost charge of 50 cents on each item. Taxes collected so far total $96,645,337.24, which is 90 per cent of the total of $130,780,061.07 to be collected this year.

Huge stacks of mail estimated to contain remittances close to $25,000,000 will require the attention of scores of clerks for several days.

Hours' Battle in Seas Saves Boys in Boat

Two youths in peril of being swamped in their fusiless boat were the subject of a thrilling rescue from the kelp beds off Point Dume by Tom Gallery, fight promoter, and several of his house guests, after a six-hour battle with the waves yesterday. The youths are Lamar Peacock, 249 F street, Oxnard, and Harry Westfield, son of an Oxnard banker.

The youths had put out in a twenty-two-foot cabin cruiser early in the morning and around noon time they ran out of gasoline. A squall drove their helpless boat toward the rocks at Point Dume, but they threw out the anchor when the rocks were about 1000 feet away. Their boat was tossed about at the end of the anchor chain until Motor Patrol Officer Richards saw their plight from the coast highway.

He notified Gallery at his beach home and Gallery and two guests, Ed Berry and Sam Geise, put out in Gallery's launch. They fought with the breakers an hour before getting through to the boat.

The youths were taken aboard Gallery's boat and the start back was made. Before they reached Gallery's pier his boat ran out of gasoline. Then all of them had to take to the oars. The youths, who suffered from exposure, finally were landed shortly after 6 p.m.

Brief Illness Proves Fatal to C. O. Hawley

Charles Orville Hawley, head and founder of the insurance company bearing his name, and a Los Angeles resident for forty-three years, died last night at the California Lutheran Hospital following an illness of three weeks. He was 72 years of age and was born in Beaver Dam, Wis.

Mr. Hawley came to Los Angeles to engage in insurance work in 1887 and organized the C. O. Hawley Insurance Company. He was a member of the board of fire commissioners under Mayor Alexander and was one of the leaders in the move to obtain a State workmen's compensation act and is said to have written the first policy under the provisions of this law. He was for many years the adjuster for the Maryland Casualty Company for Los Angeles.

In addition to the widow, who lives at the family residence, 1382 Ridgewood Place, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Ted Le Berthon, two sisters, Mrs. D. D. Bathrick and Mrs. Fred M. Hawley, and a brother, Frank H. Hawley of Chicago. Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed last night.

Asiatics Feel Southland Lure

The products of Southern California bring a high premium in Siam and Indo-China whenever they reach those markets, and a tremendous field of commerce lies there yet uncultivated, according to letters from Richard Wallace, Paramount film director, who is now on a tour of the world. Comparatively few of California's fruits and vegetables reach these places, but when any of them appear they are quickly seized at the highest prices, according to Wallace.

The lure of Los Angeles has reached even the remote cities of Southern Asia, and any visitor from the Southland is plied with eager questions about it. The people are anxious to buy from this country, but trade facilities are only beginning to be made use of, he writes.

It is impossible to get anywhere that the American motion picture has not penetrated, and theaters everywhere are crowded, in spite of the fact that many of the inhabitants cannot understand the English language. Wallace is accompanied by his wife, and expects to return to Hollywood early in the summer.

Eleven Students to Speak on Constitution Thursday

The 1930 International Oratorical Contest on the United States Constitution, operated and conducted by the Better America Federation for the last six years, has enrolled, according to Prof. P. Caspar Harvey, national contest director of William Jewell College, Missouri, more than 100 colleges which were not entered in the 1929 contest. The total student bodies of the enrolled schools number nearly 500,000.

It is necessary, owing to the large number of entrants, to hold three preliminary contests preceding the Southern California finals, according to Prof. Charles A. Marsh of the University of California at Los Angeles and director of the Southern California regional contests.

ORATORS AND SUBJECTS

The Better America Federation has received official notification that the following students have been successful in their school tryouts and will compete at the Southern California finals Thursday:

Herbert Minard, president California Christian College Student Association, will represent California Christian College, Los Angeles; subject, "Constitutional Ideals."

Edwin Baer will represent Chaffey Junior College; subject, "Constitution and National Progress."

E. E. Richards, who represented Glendale High School district in 1926 and 1927, will represent Glendale Junior College; subject, "Constitutional Ideals."

Edward Hill will represent Loyola University; subject, "Constitution of the United States."

Richard Ruttan will represent Los Angeles Junior College; subject, "Constitution and International Affairs."

Miss Geraldine W. Anderson, who is on her school's debating team, will represent Pasadena Junior College; subject, "Constitutional Ideals."

Harold F. Pettee, Jr., member of varsity debate team of his school, will represent Pomona College; subject, "Constitutional Guarantees to all American Citizens."

George Marinoff will represent Southwestern University; subject, "Constitution of United States."

Miss Willis Deu Pree, a sophomore and high-school winner in Southern California in 1928, will represent State Teachers' College; subject, "American Youth and the Constitution."

Leslie Goddard will represent University of California at Los Angeles.

Those placing first and second in the preliminaries, to be held at 3:30 p.m. in the Educational Building at U.C.L.A., will compete on the same date at 8 p.m. in the same building, for the honor of representing Southern California at the Pacific zone finals at Oregon State College, Corvallis, Or., under the direction of Prof. A. E. O'Konski. The winner in the Pacific zone contests will compete here for national honor at Bovard Auditorium, University of Southern California, June 19, next.

Cafe and Films Draw Ben Bernie

The radio and talking pictures have coined the first international language—jazz, according to Ben Bernie, orchestra leader, who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to appear in Warner Brothers' pictures and play indefinitely at the Montmartre Cafe.

Bernie comes direct from the Kit-Kat Club in London. His appearance in pictures is due to the fact that Warners a couple of weeks ago for $10,000,000 purchased control of Brunswick, for which company Bernie has the official phonograph-recording orchestra.

FUR TRADE DELEGATES ASSEMBLE

First Convention in West of National Association Will Open Today

Opening this morning at the Ambassador, the seventh annual convention of the National Association of the Fur Industry will be attended by more than 1000 delegates from all parts of the United States, it was announced last night following a check of registrations. The convention, first national gathering of furriers and designers to be held in the West, will continue for three days.

Today's program will conclude with a $2,000,000 competitive showing of furs this evening in the Fiesta Room. The purpose of the competition, according to association officials, is to stimulate creative talent among designers of fur garments.

While having as its principal purpose the bringing together of manufacturers and dealers for discussion of new ideas in style and marketing methods, the convention will have popular interest, it was stated yesterday by H. W. Blaine, executive chairman of the committee in charge. Methods of processing furs and preparing them for market will be demonstrated for the public, he said, and the United States government also will take part by displaying a variety of Alaska sealskins and showing motion pictures illustrating the various phases of the fur industry in the United States.

BOYS RUN BUSINESS TODAY

Industry to Welcome Youths Within Portals to Gain Knowledge of Trade Machinery

Approximately 10,000 boys will today be in charge of the commerce of Los Angeles in celebration of "Boys' Day in Industry" of Boys' Week. This is the second day of a week-long tribute to the youth of Los Angeles as arranged for the seventh consecutive year by a special committee composed of business and professional leaders under the general chairmanship of Joseph Scott.

Business institutions of all kinds have practically set aside the day to give senior public and private high-school boys first-hand and expert evidence of manufacturing and selling methods and modern means of commercial enterprise. Stores, banks, factories, packing-houses, railroads, airports, laundries, public utilities and every branch of trade and industry are co-operating in full measure.

BOYS EXECUTIVES

Boys in many places are being delegated in executive capacities for one day. Numerous places are adding an entertainment feature by making the young visitors guests at luncheons where they will hear trade talks and rub shoulders with kings of commerce. One example is a luncheon given by Desmond's to seventy-five boys at the Alexandria at noon. Mayor Porter, Joseph Scott, Chief of Police Steckel and Dr. James Steinberg, president of the Council for the Promotion of Boys'-Welfare, are among the speakers.

Silverwoods, Mullen & Bluett's, Fifth-street Store, Bullock's and others are making similar provision in downtown districts. School men and boy leaders look upon "Boys' day in industry" as one of the most important phases of Boys' Week from a practical standpoint. W. H. Stansbury of the Chamber of Commerce is chairman of the special committee of Boys' Week.

This evening, known as "boys' night on the radio," has been planned by Glenn M. Tindall, manager of the Hollywood Bowl. Every broadcasting station in Los Angeles will have a program of music and boy oratory. High-school glee clubs will be particularly featured in the programs.

Station KECA will have Belmont High School, 3:15 to 3:45 p.m.; KFI, Roosevelt High School, 4:30 to 5 p.m.; KMJC, Beverly Hills High School, 5:45 to 6:30 p.m.; KHJ, Los Angeles High School, 6 to 6:30 p.m.; KFVD, Venice High School, 6 to 6:30 p.m. KNX, Hollywood High School, 7 to 7:30 p.m.; KMTR, Fairfax High School, 8:30 to 9 p.m.

Tomorrow is "boys' day in citizenship," of which Councilman Ingram is chairman. Every Federal, State, county and city office in Los Angeles will be occupied by boy incumbents. Most Superior and Municipal benches will be presided over by boy jurists. In the police department twenty-five boys will be in charge of the various departments and outlying substations.

At noon these young law enforcers will be assembled for a luncheon as guests of Chief Steckel and Assistant Chief Pinlayson. They will be taken to the pistol range for marksmanship practice and on visits to the various penal institutions of the city.

Chief Scott of the fire department will turn over his office to a boy to whom he will present a permanent badge and an engrossed diploma of office. Other boys will be battalion chiefs of the day.

Wednesday is "boys' day in the libraries," in which Samuel Wardlaw is chairman.

An event to which the boys are looking forward is the father-and-son mass meeting at Shrine Auditorium on "boys' day in loyalty," Thursday. Among the highlights on the entertainment program are Eddie Cantor, Fred Niblo, Abe Lyman and his band, Fanchon and Marco, seven acts provided by Fox West Coast Theaters and the Meglin Kiddie Revue. Mayor Porter and Joseph Scott will speak. Tickets have been issued to thousands of boys by the committee of which Dr. James Steinberg is chairman.

OTHER DAYS

Friday is "boys' day in the schools" with Joseph M. Sniffen as chairman and Saturday is "boys' day in recreation" and Raymond E. Hoyt and C. L. Glenn as chairmen.

Boys' Week was inaugurated yesterday with "boys' day in the churches," and was observed at 493 Protestants churches, all Catholic churches and Jewish synagogues. Protestant churches not only had special sermons either morning or evening but in many cases had boy speakers. In the Catholic churches the Holy Name Society sponsored father-and-son communions. Jewish synagogues observed the day either Saturday or will do so next Saturday.

Today is "boys' day in Fox West Coast Theaters." They will operate more than 200 playhouses in Los Angeles and vicinity. The best students in the schools of the city and suburbs will supplant the regular staffs of the theaters. Will Rogers, Jr., will act as manager of the Carthay Circle Theater as representative of the Beverly Hills High School. Managers will give talks and phases of theaters management will be explained.

HAIR DYE POISONING ASSERTED

Widow Seeks Damages in Suit Over Effects of Beauty Treatment

Testimony of Mrs. Rose B. Grenwell, 60-year-old widow who is suing Louise Zollars, Marie Lattimer and the Gainsborough Beauty Shoppe for $10,400 because of lead poisoning she asserts she suffered after an application of hair dye, was on file in Superior Court yesterday in the form of a deposition from Mrs. Grenwell, who since filing her suit has removed her residence to Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Grenwell declares that she entered the place July 9, 1929, to have her hair dyed and that the attendant told her an application "double strength" would be required. The next day Mrs. Grenwell went to Catalina Island, missed the return boat and remained at Avalon two days. When she came back, she testified, her head was swollen and the poison had spread to her face and neck.

"My head felt like it was burning," said Mrs. Grenwell, "I had to go to a hospital and my hair nearly all came out. For several days after I came home I had to have a trained nurse."

On cross-examination in the deposition, Mrs. Grenwell admitted that her hair is nearly grown in now and that since December, 1929, she has not required the services of a physician.

CAFE MAN FOUND DEAD IN MYSTERY

Nicholas De Maio Dies in Redondo Beach Hotel Under Assumed Name

Nicholas De Maio, proprietor of Maria's Cafe, 1201 North Alavarado street, was found dead in bed yesterday in a hotel room at Redondo Beach. He is believed to have died early Saturday morning or Friday night.

De Maio engaged the room Friday night under the name of Albert Liza of San Pedro, according to Redondo Beach police. A well-dressed blond woman about 35 years of age is being sought for questioning. Attendants at a near-by garage reported she drove in with De Maio when he parked his car there Friday night.

A maid discovered De Maio's body when she entered the room yesterday morning. She told police she had seen the restaurant man in the same reclining position Saturday morning, but had believed at that time he was sleeping and so did not disturb him.

By order of Police Chief Peterson the body was removed to the Cate & O'Shea mortuary, where an autopsy will be conducted today.

De Maio was 45 years of age, and lived at 2311 Berkeley avenue. He leaves his widow and a daughter. Mrs. De Maio told police her husband had been suffering heart disease.

Reorganization of Police Afoot

The Police Commission is working out a police reorganization scheme which will probably afford the West Los Angeles district additional personnel, the City Council has notified the West Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

HUMOR AND DRAMA BOTH WIN IN PLAY

'Love 'Em and Leave 'Em' Featuring Isabel Withers, Appeals at El Capitan

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

With its satirical thrusts at amateur entertainment, and its story of the sacrificing sister and the selfish one, "Love 'em and Leave 'Em" by George Abbott and John V. A. Weaver, renewed its appeal to the showgoer yesterday at El Capitan Theater. The piece has been played before, but my impression is that the present is the better performances, and certainly this comedy with dramatic interpolations is scarcely one that declines in interest even on a second beholding.

Abbott and Weaver wrote their play efficiently. It stands up remarkably despite they contrived it some several years ago. The humor is still spontaneous, and the plot has sympathy, clever twists and ingenious bits of stage business. The dice game at the end of the second act is a stirring one, and the rehearsal of the store pageant in the third is highly diverting. What is more the play as a whole is a slice of life in its fashion, and therefore intrigues one's susceptibility to humanness as found in the theater.

It's all about the girl who vamped away her sister's fiance, and gambled on horse races with the welfare funds of the organization for which she worked. It tells how the sister took a long chance and won the money back from the loafer who placed the bets on the races. And it goes right straight along from there and shows that the selfish girl kept on with hr selfish ways, while the other girl lost her job and her sister's devotion (which was a shallow thing after all) but how, too, she could look forward to a more satisfying happiness.

This is all rather real, and not a whit uncheerful when you survey the full scheme of it, and vastly entertaining besides. Presented as it is being presented by the majority of the cast, "Love 'Em and Leave 'Em" is rendered even more enjoyable.

Isabel Withers, who is featured, receives the most of the attention and deserves it for her sincerity as the girl who is the protectress of her less worthy relative. Miss Withers at times seemed under something of a strain in her portrayal last evening, but she was most competent for the occasion. The repressed emotion and feeling that she brought to the role, her affectation of the hard-boiled exterior, distinguished her excellent effort in this particular play. The dicing scene as she and Frank Darien played it together (and Darien is always an able trouper) was distinctly a high light and a hit of the show.

Very good, too, was Emily Lowry's sketching of the trampish sister, exerting her feminine wiles on each gentleman that might assist in her thoroughly meretricious career. Miss Lowry gave the role the appropriate note of baby-stirening.

Kenneth Daigeau gained increasing favor as the play progressed by his portrayal of the man disputed. He was exceptionally good in the pageant episode.

Byron Hawkins was a distinct success as the heroine's close-fisted temporary swain. He amused consistently. Olive Cooper merited praise as the serious-minded authoress. Thomas L. Brower cosed benevolence and Babbitry fitting to his role as the store manager. Harold Waldridge and John Mackenzie were others capable.

"Love 'Em and Leave 'Em" is an engaging event.

'Holiday' Actor Plans Another European Trip

Alexander Clark, Jr., has made at least one European trip each year of his life.

"And the end of 'Holiday' in which I am now appearing finds me starting off for Europe again," says the young leading man who is making his first appearance on the coast in the Philip Barry comedy which Dale Winter and the Henry Duffy Players are presenting at the Hollywood Playhouse.

Clark returned only a few months ago from London where he played the male lead in "The Patsy." He had an apartment in Adelphi Terrace where the Savage Club is located, and where Sir James M. Barrie lives. "The names under the postoffice boxes in the hallway of the apartment were of such renown that I felt like an intruder," he says.

Berlin Numbers Sung by Jolson in Warner Film

Five new Irving Berlin songs, as well as numerous old favorites, are sung by Al Jolson in "Mammy," Vitaphone production with Technicolor, now at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater.

The group of new numbers was written by Berlin in collaboration with the star especially for this production. They include "To My Mammy," "Looking at You," "Let Me Sing," "Knights of the Road" and "Here We Are."

During the progress of the story's action Jolson also sings "Southland," an older Berlin number, bits of the first great "Mammy" song, "The St. Louis Blues," "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby" and a new parody chorus of "Yes, We Have No Bananas."

"Dixiana," the current special production of Radio Pictures, is laid in the most romantic era of American history, that of Louisiana in the '40's, according to Luther Reed, scenarist and director.

LUCILLE LA VERNE STARS IN DRAMA

"To What Red Hell" Presented at Community Theater in Pasadena

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

The fiery fanaticism of the crusader rides the thinly veiled steed of propaganda throughout "To What Red Hell," by the British playwright, Percy Robinson, and starring Lucille La Verne, at Pasadena Community Playhouse. A bitter invective against capital punishment, the play is limned in hard outline, delivered perhaps, in crudely constructed medium, but with sincerity.

It would seem that the esthetic canons of modernly conceived theatrics have been rather ruthlessly broken in this offering, and the melodramatic effect is, perhaps, of too obvious a type to appeal to a sophisticated audience. Consequently, the play seems just to miss that "sine qua non" which somehow establishes the magical entente between audience and players.

Perhaps in electing to change the locale, the Playhouse loses something of the originality and color of the play as drawn by the author. The Limehouse atmosphere of the London version is changed to the tenement district of San Francisco, and Burlingame, fashionable suburb, is substituted for the country place of the aristocratic English Fairchilds.

Lucille La Verne glorifies the mother of the condemned boy, Rich sympathy and fine emotional appeal are brought to bear upon her characterization. However, the play is not a proper vehicle for her talents. Through the exigencies of the play and the limitation of the star part, Charles Levison, who portrays the son, almost steals the play from the star. It is a keenly imagined delineation of a difficult character.

The poise and delivery of William La Beaume makes of Uncle George a delightful person. Lila Eccles as Mrs. Ellis is clever and Dorothy Adams is charming. Laddie Knudson gives an appealing reading of his part. Harold Enfield is also pleasing.

'June Moon' Now in Second Week

The Ring Lardner-George S Kaufman comedy, "June Moon," will start its second week on its brief engagement tonight at the Belasco Theater, with several parties of motion-picture players attending in honor of Cleve Moore and Nancy Dover, two of the principal players.

The success of "June Moon" is said by the Belasco management to have been the most instantaneous of any play at that house for some time. With the reception accorded the cast and the humorous lines on the opening night, the play leaped into immediate popularity.

Lioness Heads Vaudeville Bill

The variety fare at the Million Dollar this week is headed by an animal exhibition. The act is known as Bert Nelson and his trick lioness, Princess Pat. Baron Emerson and Count Baldwin, dubbed the "No Ability of Vaudeville," share headline honors, while a sketch is enacted by Beck and Egan.

The Blue Blazes present tap dancers, and Dana Warrene plays compositions on the xylophones. The adagio five are said to be entertaining dancers.

On the screen the Million Dollar is showing "Sarah and Son" as the feature attraction. The plot evolves around the love of a mother for her child, and presents Ruth Chatterton in a dramatic role.

WRITER JOINS R.-K.-O.

Anne Caldwell first gained note in writing the book and lyrics for the Victor Herbert music of "Lady of the Slipper." She wrote sixteen Broadway stage musical successes before joining Radio Pictures.

VISAROFF ADDED

Michael Visaroff has been added to the cast of Norma Talmadge's current United Artists production, "Flame of Flesh," directed by Sam Taylor.

Lloyd Selects Notable Cast for New Film

Harold Lloyd has assembled for his support in "Feet First," which is now in production, what is probably the best-known group of performers ever brought together in his pictures, according to John L. Murphy, production manager. Barbara Kent, who won success as leading lady in "Welcome Danger," has again been borrowed from Universal to head the support.

Robert McWade, the well-known grouch of stage and screen note, has been engaged to portray the part of old man Tanner, the shoe king. For twenty years the character star created parts in New York, and for the last three years has been starring for Henry Duffy.

For the part of Mrs. Tanner, Lilianne Leighton, character actress, has been selected. Henry Hall, best known for his work on the stage, has been engaged as the manager of the shoe store in which Lloyd starts his escapades in "Feet First." Clyde Bruckman is directing.

Operetta Tells Romantic Story

A musical romance of old Heidelburg days, "The Student Prince," has settled down on what promises to be a successful engagement at the Majestic Theater. The operetta is the last in the series of the Romberg Festival being presented under the banner of Lillian Albertson.

Allan Prior appears in his original role of Prince Karl. Elvira Tanzi, talented songstress, is portraying Kathie. Miss Tanzi is remembered for her stellar work in "The Desert Song."

The engagement of "The Student Prince" will be a limited one, according to Miss Albertson, owing to bookings already made in San Francisco and other Pacific Coast cities.

Illusions of War Gone, Actor Says

Military training which young men receive in the schools and universities of America does not foster militarism as many ardent pacifists insist, declares William Bakewell, one of the featured players in "All Quiet on the Western Front," now being shown at the Carthay Circle Theater. Bakewell, who is himself a graduate of a Los Angeles military academy, declares that youth today is under no illusion about the glory and romance of war.

He points out that the realism and stark truth in "All Quiet on the Western Front" divests war of its glamour. Boys once derived their romantic idea of war from fascinating stories of heroism and adventure, but the realistic era of literature gives it no such a glitter, the actor says.

Smith Records Talk of Seamen

The quaint vernacular of seamen familiar to Wallace Smith from extensive travel on the seven seas, stood him in good stead when he was assigned to write tfie screen version and dialogue for "Love Comes Along," now showing at the R.-K.-O. Theater. During Smith's wanderings over the globe before he settled down to be a novelist he preserved the impressions he encountered for future use. One of these was an insight into the habits and manners of seafaring men.

"Love Comes Along" presents the sailor in one of his most humorous aspects, and Smith's dialogue is credited with endowing the tar with a realism and comicality heretofore untouched.

"BAD ONE" SCHEDULED AT ARTISTS

Dolores Del Rio to Make Debut as Talking Screen Star on May 7

An important event in local screen circles is scheduled for May 7, when the United Artists Theater will present the world premiere of "The Bad One," marking the first appearance of Dolores Del Rio as a star of the talking screen.

This gay comedy presents the star as the leading entertainer in a water-front cafe of Marseilles, France, where her unconventional habits have earned for her the name of "The Bad One." Edmund Lowe, who admits that he was a "lady-killer" in his home town of Brooklyn, deserts his ship at Marseilles and becomes the ardent swain of Miss Del Rio.

The supporting cast embraces a list of screen notables, including Don Alvarado, Mitchell Lewis, Blanche Frederici, Ulrich Haupt, Ralph Lewis, John St. Polis, George Fawcett and Henry Kolker. "The Bad One" was directed by George Fitzmaurice.

SYMPHONY CONCERT ABLY PRESENTED

Local Club Reveals Notable Improvement in Program at Philharmonic

In their fourth annual concert Saturday evening at the Philharmonic Auditorium, members of the Los Angeles Symphony Club displayed the excellent training they are receiving from their conductor, Ilya Bronson. This concert was a decided improvement over that of last year.

The atmosphere of the sea that Wagner illustrates so magnificently with tones in his overture to the "Flying Dutchman" was carefully interpreted by the orchestra. It was not, however, until the first movement of the Brahms "Symphony No. 2 in D major" that the fine qualities of this orchestra were revealed. A Brahms Symphony is an excellent test of good musicianship and in this case was interpreted with a grace and shading of nuance that reflected credit on the conductor's training. An improvement in the tone of the orchestra was readily noticed, especially in the string section. A quick responsiveness to direction and good rhythmical values were also evident.

Lola Bronson, daughter of the conductor, was given an opportunity this year to appear as soloist with the orchestra, playing Mozart's Concerto in D minor. Miss Bronson made an excellent impression on the audience with her attractive appearance and pianistic talent. She disclosed a light and deft touch and a simplicity of style. She received able support from the orchestra.

The concert closed with Chabrier's Rhapsodie "Espana," which was played with abandon and fervor.

Comediennes to Costar in 'Caught Short'

Marie Dressler and Polly Moran are teamed in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new comedy, "Caught Short," which starts at Loew's State Thursday.

Eddie Cantor's book, one of the season's best sellers, served as the basis for the story, which depicts the experiences of a pair of rival landladies who dabble in the stock market. Despite their staunch friendship, they indulge in many characteristic quarrels.

Anita Page has the romantic lead. Willard Mack and Robert E. Hopkins wrote the adaptation and Charles F. Reisner directed.

Irish Juvenile Heads Staff of Theater for Day

Today has been designated Boys' Day at Grauman's Chinese Theater, by Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theaters, in celebration of National Boys' Week.

Tommy Clifford, the 11-year-old Irish juvenile in the cast of "Song o' My Heart," will act as manager of the Chinese for the day and will personally greet all patrons of the theater. The entire staff will be supplanted by boys selected by the various schools of the city.

The picture, which is now successfully launched in its second week, continues to receive the approval of patrons, it is said.

Adventure Film Continues Run

With a second record week chalked up for "Ingagi," the African adventure film which will enter its third week at the Orpheum today, the management has announced that a special midnight showing will be given tonight.

Never in the history of the Orpheum has there been as much interest in a talking picture as has been exhibited over "Ingagi," it is claimed. Nearly 100,000 persons have witnessed the production, according to the theater report.

Tower Books "Hello Sister"

"Hello Sister," which comes to the Tower Theater Tuesday, is a talking picture produced by James Cruze, Inc. "Hello Sister" was personally supervised by Cruze. He personally cast the stars and other players of the story of a society girl.

The cast of "Hello Sister" includes Olive Borden, Lloyd Hughes, George Fawcett, Bodil Rosing, Wilfred Lucas and Howard Hickman.

GRADE CROSSING EVILS SURVEYED

Report Made on Seven-Year Extensive Inquiry

Outstanding Experts Give Views on Problems

Progress Toward Greater Safety Achieved

With more than 850,000 automobiles in Los Angeles county, what best can be done to provide the utmost safety possible at railroad crossings in this area and at the same time improve traffic conditions as they relate to these intersections?

A comprehensive report, the result of nearly seven years of study of the subject by the Los Angeles County Grade Crossing Committee, comprising representatives of official bodies, civic organizations and railroads, will be issued this week as the basis for methods to deal with the problem. The committee now has under consideration approximately fifty major grade-separation projects. Various public bodies have referred to it almost all applications they have received for street extension across railroad lines and the extension of rails across thoroughfares. Since the organization of the committee some thirty railroad and highway grade crossings have been separated.

SAFETY MEASURES

The committee has made progress in its effort to remove hazardous crossings to the extent that financing will permit. Likewise it is pointed out that one of its important functions is the aid it can give to governmental agencies and the California Railroad Commission to prevent, if possible, the installation of unnecessary new grade crossings and much has been accomplished in this direction.

Involved in the report's symposium of suggestions from spokesmen intimately acquainted with the details of the problem's various phases are:

The vacating of streets and highways, relocation of thoroughfares, separation of grades, cost of grade separations, cost allocations, grade-separation designs, the relationship of population growth to traffic time, statistics pertaining to grade-crossing accidents, legal procedure relating to grade crossings, a systematic program for grade separations based on actual requirements and methods to finance such improvements adequately and a proposed highway plan of wide scope.

The tone of the report suggests that not only will this combined program show the way to the solution of the problem in its local application, but likewise will be of large importance as a precedent in steps to solve it in its State-wide and national aspects.

RAILROAD VIEWS

Under the heading of "Railroad Management and the Grade Crossing Problem," Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific System, recounts that the last available annual records, those for 1928, show that in that span 2568 persons lost their lives and 6607 were injured at grade crossings in the United States, which numbers exceed the records of any previous year. The number of grade crossings now has reached an approximated total of 240,000, it is stated. Mr. Gray stresses the responsibility devolving equally on the railroads and the public to remedy the situation and discusses the possibilities and limitations of street and highway vacation and relocation and grade separations as remedial features.

John R. Berryman, Jr., associate counsel of the Automobile Club of Southern California, discusses "Financing of a Grade Crossing Elimination Program," and Merrill Butler, assistant city engineer, devotes attention to "The Structural Design of Grade Separations," taking into consideration architectural requirements and traffic necessities.

"The Relation of Grade Crossing Elimination to Traffic Development" is the subject treated by H. F. Holley, assistant chief engineer of the automobile club.

BALANCED PROGRAM

"A balanced program for the development of both the railroad and the highway systems," he says in discussing the crossing hazard, "calls for the designation of a group of streets and highways of primary importance and should include a means of eliminating all grade crossings with main-line railroads which cross the primary road system. Such a program will create a demand for grade separations at intersections of primary streets and highways and will ultimately result in building up a system of traffic arteries upon which vehicles can move in speed and safety without the delay and hazard incident to crossing rail lines and intersecting highways at grade."

The "Grade Crossing Situation in California," is discussed by A. C. Mott, chief engineer of the California Railroad Commission, and "Law and Procedure Relative to the Grade Crossing," is the subject of an article by Frank Karr, vice-president and chief counsel of the Pacific Electric.

Charles H. Diggs, director of the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission, directs attention to "a comprehensive plan of the existing and proposed major and secondary highways, covering a large area," as the basis for handling the grade crossing and grade-separation situation.

From an intensive study made in 1923 by the automobile club of the many serious accidents that year at highway grade crossings in the county, came a special City Council meeting to consider ways and means to lessen this danger in highway travel. Public officials and railroad representatives attended. From this gathering came the organization of the Los Angeles county grade-crossing committee to study the situation and devise methods to alleviate it. David R. Faries was elected its chairman, with Prescott F. Cogswell as vice-chairman and John R. Berryman, Jr., secretary. Wm J. Sanborn, now president of the City Council, was chosen chairman of the committee four years ago.

ROAD PAY DECIDED

The award of $311,988 for land in Cahuenga Pass for the new roadway, recently granted by the Superior Court, will be paid from the city's allocation of $385,885, of which $330,816 still remains, the City Council has decided.

AIR MEET PROMISES THRILLERS

Culver City Port to Be Scene of Stunt Flying Wednesday Afternoon

Art Goebel, Los Angeles aviator internationally famous as a stunt flyer, has arranged to present his entire repertoire of aerial thrills at the free air-fest Wednesday afternoon at the Culver City airport. The program, arranged by the women flyers of Southern California, promises to be one of the most varied ever seen locally. The show is free.

Additional to Goebel, the largest assembly of women flyers the world has ever known will arrive from all over the Southland with military-like precision. Immediately following their landing there will be three parachute jumps, an 18,000-foot tail spin, extensive group formation flying by a group of army flyers, races and all-around aerial acrobatics.

An event which promises to be of exceptional interest is the race between four civilian flyers, which will settle their respective claims as to who has the fastest ship. The quartet are "Bud" Hussy in his Sparton J 6-7, "Jim" Granger in his Sparrow J-5, "Speed" Leinesch in his Travel-Air J-5 and "Bill" Randall in his Sparton J-5. These four ships are splendidly matched, and the race will be a contest of aviators more than of ships. The race will be kept in sight of the huge audience which is expected.

Wild Flower Protection Up for Solution

Los Angeles county wild flowers are getting wilder every year, according to the Board of Supervisors, which will consider today more stringent protection for the blossoms of wood and field.

An ordinance last year protected certain varieties but allowed the picking of others. This ordinance was not successful, because all the picker had to do was to say to the vigilant constable or deputy sheriff who might question the picking:

"That's not a gloscodentia, it's a rhustaphoria, and the law says I can pick rhustaphorias."

And of course one does not expect every rural limb of the law to know the difference between a bodlopharangus and a coplomasticum.

The new ordinance, which will be easier to enforce because it forbids picking any flower without the written consent of the owner of the property, imposes a fine of $500 or six months in jail for violation.

Studio School of Languages Established

Warner Brothers and First National Pictures, Inc., yesterday announced the establishment of a Vitaphone school of languages for all players under contract. The school will train actors and actresses in foreign language versions of talking pictures for export.

It is being established in co-operation with the Berlitz School of Languages. Four instructors are being sent from New York to conduct classes in four foreign languages.

No Warner or First National pictures have been made in foreign languages, with one or two experimental exceptions.

Laundry Wins in Damage Suit

W. H. Kuhlemeier, laundry truck driver, and his employer, the Excelsior Laundry Company, will not have to pay $20,000 for Kuhlemeier's gallantry in giving Mrs. Nellie Beare a ride, according to a verdict given by the jury in the court of Superior Judge Hahn.

Mrs. Beare sued the driver of the truck and the laundry company for injuries she asserted she received while riding with Kuhlemeier. The testimony at the trial of the case revealed Kuhlemeier saw Mrs. Beare struggling with a balky automobile; that he came down from his truck and after failing to start her car gave the woman a ride in his truck. The plaintiff contended she suffered injuries to her spine. Attorney Moe M. Fogel represented the defendants.

Barking of Dogs Produces Howl

Property values in the vicinity of 12238 Ventura Boulevard are in danger of literally going to the bowwows, according to a complaint against the Hollywood Dog Training School at that address, filed by seven residents of the vicinity.

Carl Spitz, owner of the dog school, is named defendant. Plaintiffs are Isaac E. Isaac C., W. F., and Margaret Ijams, George Kindred, Frank Molyneaux, and Kate M. Haas.

In addition to endangering property values, the howling of the students in the canine school is so loud and boisterous that the health of the neighbors is threatened.

Ex-Officer to Go Before Court

Trial of Fred C. Fahrman, former Los Angeles police officer, is scheduled to be held today in Superior Judge Wilson's court. The charge is perjury.

It is charged that Fahrman gave false testimony in behalf of William J. Bost, a brother-officer, when the latter was on trial charged with manslaughter for the fatal shooting of Christobal Silvas Sierra, 17-year-old Mexican youth.

Following Bost's conviction, the perjury charge was filed against Fahrman by the District Attorney.

City Engineer's Aide Injured in Plane Fall

William Harkrider, assistant city engineer, sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries when a plane he was flying over the airport at Ninety-fourth and Western avenue, failed to clear the wires along Western avenue and was wrecked. Harkrider is a member of the Los Angeles City Engineers' Flying Club and was flying a small Eagle Rock plane.

The accident occurred at 1:30 p.m. and was witnessed by a large crowd. The flying club has its planes at the field of the Aero Corporation of California. When Harkrider crashed officials of the corporation place him in a car and rushed the injured man to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. After first-aid treatment he was taken to the Glendale Sanatorium.

Doctors say he has an even chance for recovery. Harkrider is 31 years of age and his home is at 836 North Genesee street.

WORM IN CANDY COSTS DEALER FINE OF $100

A worm may be worth $100. Municipal Judge Curtis fixed that value on one when he fined Raymond Wallace, 2168 Brooklyn avenue, after the latter pleaded guilty to a charge of selling impure candy. The worm, evidence disclosed, inhabited a candy bar which was sold by Wallace on the 23rd inst.

For these and many patriotic reasons various officials and leading citizens including President Hoover, Gov. Young, Mayor Porter and many business men urge cooperation of all to the end that every resident shall be enumerated.

Characters of Funny Papers to Enter Films

Skeezix, Uncle Walt and Madam Octave; Winnie Winkle and the Mulligan boys, and other cartoon characters which are followed by millions daily, are to make their Hollywood debut within the coming year. Alfred Loewenthal of Chicago, holding contracts from the cartoonists who created the comic strip characters, has arrived in Hollywood to close negotiations for the talkie appearance of the funny-page notables.

Loewenthal, who is the largest handler of cartoon talent in the country, brought with him the rights to a dozen daily newspaper cartoon features when he came to Hollywood. He has been associated with Sidney Smith, creator of Andy and Min Gump; Frank King, who draws Gasoline Alley, John T. McCutcheon, Milton Granner of Winnie Winkie fame; Gene Fowler, and other eastern newspaper notables for fifteen years. He was recently responsible for the appearance of Andy Gump in two silent film series of fifty two-reelers each. He is stopping at the Roosevelt Hotel.

Will Mayor be Ground Looper?

Mayor Porter was guest of honor yesterday at the Los Angeles Municipal Airport when he received instructions in flying. The chief executive, however, did not venture off the ground.

Capt. Peyton Gibson, chief pilot of the Curtiss-Wright field, showed Mayor Porter how to handle controls and the instrument board and motor.

SENTENCING OF McINTIRE SCHEDULED

Ex-Policeman to Appear in Court Today to Hear Judgment Passed

W. R. McIntire, former Los Angeles police officer, convicted of second-degree murder as the result of the death of Mrs. Margaret Towers in an automobile accident on January 1, last, today is scheduled to appear before Superior Judge Aggeler for sentence.

McIntire also faces sentence on charges of driving while intoxicated and failure to stop and render aid following an accident, the jury also finding him guilty of these charges.

McIntire was convicted chiefly upon the testimony of Ruby Burroughs, who was with McIntire at the time of the accident.

She attempted to evade testifying through a common-law marriage declaration. The California law forbids the wife to testify against her husband. The court ruled, however, that the marriage, performed without a license under the statute that permits such weddings for those who have lived together as common-law man and wife, was illegal, for it was not proved that McIntire and Miss Burroughs had lived together in this state.

LARGE SUM LOPPED FROM CITY BUDGET REQUESTS

Cuts made in departmental budget requests over the past week have brought the total amounts requested down within $3,000,000 of the city's estimated income, with the large departments still to feel the financial ax.

Departments asked for $30,388,208. It is estimated that the municipal income will approximate that of the present year, or $25,800,000, although no definite figures yet are available. During the past week Mayor Porter and Budget Director Knox went over the requests of eleven departments and pruned away $1,727,651.

The departments which have received the attention of the financial experts are municipal art, Public Defender, civil service, custodian, City Attorney, public utilities, mechanical engineering, purchasing agent, fire, social service and street lighting.

About the middle of next week it is expected that City Controller Meyers's estimate of income will be available. The budget must be submitted to the City Council by June 1, next, and adopted by the end of the fiscal year, June 30.

NOTED WILD BRONCHO AT LAST RIDDEN

Thirty-three Thousand See Tumbleweed Conquered by Cowboy at Rodeo

Tumbleweed, named in honor of William S. Hart, former screen star, and said to be the wildest broncho that ever stood on four feet, met his master yesterday at the Baker Ranch rodeo.

Thirty-three thousand spectators heard the announcer's prediction that the attempt probably would end in failure. A few seconds later the wild steed was released with Pete Knight of Crossfield, Alta., on his back.

The next two minutes were exceedingly busy for both Knight and his mount, with Tumbleweed trying every trick known to dislodge his rider. He bucked, reared, sideslipped stood on his hind legs and leaped straight into the air, but the rough-and-ready Mr. Knight was still in the saddle at the finish. For his feat the rider was given a cheer that re-echoed from the distant hills.

It was estimated by officials of the show that 25,000 persons were turned away for lack of seating capacity. Every inch of standing-room was occupied and spectators overflowed into the arena. At 3 p.m. the road from San Fernando to Saugus was blockaded with cars three abreast and many were turned back by county motor police.

Probably the most spectacular feature of the show was the roping contest in which Richard Merchant won first prize with E. Pardee second.

Dorothy Hunt won first in the cowgirls' relay with Mabel Strickland second and Vera McGinness third. In the cowboys' relay Fred Hunt captured first, Scoop Martin, second, and J. Schneider, third. The cowgirls' pony race went to Mabel Strickland with Rose Mulaly second and Babe De Priest, third.

Trick-riding exhibitions were given by riders of both sexes, with the McFarland brothers, two small but capable youngsters, tossing in a few extra thrills.

Only one accident marred the program, when Fred Hunt was thrown. His injuries were not serious.

Broncho busting contest, first, John Slater; second, Earl Thode; third, Ed Woods; fourth, John Schneider.

Bulldoging contest, first, Clay Carr; second, Earl Thode; third, Richard Merchant.

Steer riding contest, first, John Schneider; second, Kenneth Cooper; third, Charles Hannon.

Bareback broncho contest, first, Tex Chase; second, Morris Weidman; third, Charles Biscarro.

Calf roping contest, first, Richard Merchant; second, Eugene Pardee; third, Fox O'Callahan; fourth, Hugo Strickland.

Bigman suffered a brain concussion and other head injuries as well as a fractured left hand when his machine collided with an automobile driven by Clarence B. Shuh of 9040 Phillips street. He was given emergency treatment at Dickey & Cass Hospital. The accident was declared unavoidable. Bigman told Hollywood police that a moving line of traffic hid the approach of Shuh's machine.

Club Campaign Against Styles Bound to Fail

The campaign about to be launched in New York by the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs for the abolition of streamline apparel intended only for "diaphanous flappers" has little hope of success, according to Harry Collins, Los Angeles fashion creator, who yesterday characterized it as practically an admission by women that they are growing heavier.

"Woman's inherent love of beauty will defeat the movement," said Collins, "and art never can become a matter of dimensions. Hence the artist who creates styles recognizes neither anatomy nor personality. And as long as the dressmaker succeeds in capturing beauty and importing it to his creations, all women, regardless of their proportions, will buy his wares."

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

Paris, too, has its local boys—or girls, as is most frequently the case in this day and age—and some times they go away from the Pnech capital and make good, often in Hollywood.

Besides the exceedingly active Mr. Kiley, late boulevardier, the Paris colony in Hollywood now includes Wynn Holcomb, who is making a set for a Murray Anderson production; Arline de Haas, spreading publicity for Warner Brothers, and Helen Grace Carlisle, whose first novel, "See How They Run," is being filmed and whose second, "Mother's Cry," also has been grabbed by Universal. Gilbert White was in Hollywood but has gone back to do the mural decorations for the American Legion Building in Paris.

Ivan Opffer, the Danish-American caricaturist, is in the United States for the first time in five years trying to make good with a collection of character portraits of the great and near-great of the continent. He expects to publish an album of celebrities upon his return to Paris in the spring.

Sometimes, sons and daughters find themselves stranded in foreign climes—not having "made good" in their particular endeavor of the moment—and then they turn to other things. Francis Musgrave (perhaps better known as the Goat Man of Montparnasse,) wasn't bothered by that problem a bit when he found himself broke in New York recently. He just won an automobile in one of those title-guessing contests and promptly sold it to someone who could afford gas. Now he's back in his favorite Paris cafe.

And Gaston Francois finding himself in New Jersey promptly set up a gymnasium to show hurried American business men how the Paris variety take off that beer girdle.

Sisley Huddleston has been chasing around the United States and Robert Forrest Wilson, author of that excellent informational treatise known as "Paris on Parade," has departed the boulevards for the main streets of Manhattan, leaving behind him copies of his latest literary adventure, a novel called "The Rich Brat." It is based upon the "couture" industry in Paris, and it should be vastly entertaining reading for the buyers between mannequin appearances.

S. Herbert Bayles, who has been traveling in Germany, was a recent visitor to Berlin, where he registered at the Hotel Bristol.

Barton Cuyler, who has been passing the winter in San Diego, is expected to return to his home in Paris this month.

Mrs. Helga Bouquet has been stopping at the Grand Hotel in Vienna.

E. P. Smith and Glenn Smith are guests of the Central Hotel in Berlin.

Mrs. Frederic K. Stearns of Beverly Hills, and the Rue Jean Goujon, Paris, and her sister, Mrs. Minnie Muchmore, with her daughter, Mrs. Stearns Hubbard, have returned to Paris after a visit of several weeks in Vienna and Budapest.

Ralph E. Fair has returned to Paris after a few days' stay in London and is again occupying an apartment at the Hotel George V.

En route from Liverpool on her second Mediterranean cruise of the year, the White Star liner Adriatic has arrived at Monaco. Among those aboard are Miss Emaline A. Eldred, Dr. and Mrs. John R. Sackrider, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sutcliffe and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Zylstra of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Schweppe have arrived in Paris for a short stay and are at the Hotel Meurice. They will visit Italy and later Carlsbad, Czecho-Slovakia, but will return to be at the Meurice again.

Miss Lester De Witt has been stopping at the Grand Hotel in Vienna. Dr. Louis J. Regan of Hollywood is at the Hotel Hammerand.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pavaroff of Hollywood, who have been touring Germany, were recent arrivals in Dresden, where they registered at the Europahof. Earl Bignall and E. A. and A. R. Koll of Los Angeles have been staying at the same hotel.

Arthur C. Inserman, also traveling in Germany, was a recent guest of the Grand Hotel in Munich. Mrs. Harry Hill of Los Angeles has been stopping at the Regina Palast.

Mrs. Morris Thomas and her mother, Mrs. Laura Funney of Hollywood, have been in Paris for a week and are leaving for the Riviera, Italy, Germany and a stop in Vienna. They will return to Paris May 15.

The many friends of Mrs. George Perkins Raymond will be grieved to learn of her sudden death in Dr. Grauert's Hospital in Berlin, where she had undergone an operation. Mrs. Raymond was from Santa Barbara, but had been living in Europe with her husband and children for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond had just taken a large house in Paris, where they had intended remaining for a few years. She leaves her husband and two small children, a girl of 9 and a boy of 7. Her body will be brought to America.

Mrs. Lewis Dula has been staying at the Hotel O'Connor in Nice, France.

Herman Rossman was a recent guest of the Hotel Excelsior in Naples, Italy.

Capt. and Mrs. Geoffrey Stuart Courtney of Santa Barbara are visiting in Khartum, Sudan, and will return to London for a short visit, prior to sailing for the United States later in the spring.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MAKES TUNNEL PLEA

The Board of Education has asked the City Council to authorize the construction of a pedestrian tunnel under the proposed extension of Broadway between Twenty-eighth and Thirtieth streets, thus connecting the divided sits of the Adams Junior High School. The board offers to pay the cost of the construction, provided it can retain control over the tunnel. The matter was referred to the City Engineer and to the Tunnels, Bridges and Viaducts Committee.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, April 27. (Exclusive) Where is the boyish bob of yesteryear? Definitely vieux jeu. Antoine cables from Paris: Modern silhouette necessitates modern haircut inspired by Grecian beauty. Have maintained the small head and the bob with the only necessary difference, a crown of curls at the back of the head. From this you will judge that if you were one of the very few to whom the severe cut was becoming you may refuse to let it grow, but you must disguise it. With the long evening gowns, it is an anachronism. Clever ways are devised to pin on a chignon. I saw one so well adjusted that it caught and held firmly on hair no longer than a man's. Two combs, teeth facing each other, were attached to one another by a bit of elastic, all hidden beneath the hair, and the pull of the rubber between the two made them secure. This problem your hairdresser will solve for you so that you may sally forth at night, assured that your coiffure supplements your costume and that it will not drop off in the middle of the dance floor.

Framing the Face

Your front, short, own hair cannot be treated at night as it is in the day. It must be soft around your face, not necessarily fluffy, though this is exceedingly smart, but if you are a tailored type you may keep it flat to the head so long as it is not severe. Comb part of it forward on your face. Leave your ears exposed if they are very lovely, but let your hair come out beyond them on your cheek or neck, above or under them. Bangs are veiling foreheads. Not the long all-but-in-the-eyes bangs of the prewar vamp, but the little bangs of our grandmothers. They are truly Victorian. Treat them informally. Curl their ends. Have them cut with a dipped line at the center to rhyme with the line at the back of your head. Brush them to one side to give a slight part. Transform them into one long curl, diagonal on the forehead.

Softly Curling

It will be reminiscent for many of us—going to the hairdresser and having our hair rolled into loops by invisible hairpins before it is dried, then brushed around clever fingers before it is dressed. Ringlets, the little love curls of a violet scented era last took the stage a full five years ago. They are back in force. But they are not as casual as they were. They may, as Antoine suggests, be a crown to a bob or a fluff at some particular point of your coiffure to give a special line. There is no indiscriminate welter of them all over the back and sides of the head. Hair has reached a happy medium between the Fiji and the mannish ideals. The line of the head is preserved, but with a frankly feminine feeling. For that woman whose head is a particularly beautiful shape, the hair may be done very simply, with a long line back from a short part to a chignon very low in the neck. This is especially distinguished for the Greek dresses.

Paris Prescribes

Antoine also cables: The new waterwave coiffure must be adopted, it differs according to round or long features, in the first case with a high neckline and flat on the sides, in the second case, framing the face and longer down the neck, closely shaping the head in both cases. The young looking effect is the main object of our artists.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning the baby, baby's food, 4 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, how to outfit for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training to cleanly habit, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, liver, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, tongue tie, rupture, hives and baby and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is helpful to consult a self-addressed envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

EVEN HEALTHIEST CHILD SUCCUMBS TO DISEASES

Sometimes a statement sounds so startling that one refuses to accept its truthfulness. A young mother found herself unable to take at its face value the statement of her neighbor that a well child never contracts diseases. She says: "I am trying to rear my children in the best possible manner. Lately I have nursed them through a mild attack of measles. My neighbor said that because she gave so much time and attention to her daughter she was too healthy to acquire any of these childish diseases. She said they cannot be contracted by a child in good physical condition. Is this true, Mrs. Eldred?"

HEALTHY CHILDREN SUCCUMB TOO

This is superficially true, but no one is in a position to say any child is so healthy that he never will contract diseases if brought into actual contact with them. It is better to steer clear of them. Likewise, it is no criticism of a mother's good care if her child does succumb to them. The child was at that moment in a position to take them. Even apparently healthy children do.

We believe it is a duty of the mother to keep her child in the best possible condition all the time —free from physical abnormalities which hamper him, opportunity to have fresh air and sunshine and exercise, given a diet that takes into account the necessity for all the various food elements and vitamins which we know will add to the child's ability to battle with disease successfully.

SICKLY CHILD EASY VICTIM

We do know that the child who has constant colds and coughs all winter, whose muscles are feeble and toneless, whose actions are those of constant fatigue, who is overweight or underweight, fretful and whiny may not be suffering from any particular disease, but he is not a well child and he would be the poorest possible risk if brought into contact with disease. His chances of taking it and having the disease severely would certainly be far greater than the healthy child.

Meanwhile, we shouldn't be so cocksure about our children's health as to put them in a position to pick up contagious diseases, no matter how healthy we may think they are. All sick children should be kept away from other children, for even just a cold may develop into something far more serious.

PREVENTIVES IMPORTANT

The medicines of the future are preventives and we have today two well known and widely used preventives—smallpox vaccinations and diphtheria immunizations. This latter is now almost as much a part of good child care as smallpox vaccinations have been. It is a simple procedure, lacking in any danger, and without discomfort to the child. Diphtheria immunization is done the first or second year of baby's life, and always before going to school. Up to seven years diphtheria is a serious, often fatal, disease. After that the child develops an increasing immunity up to adulthood, when it is not often contracted even though exposure takes place. Of course, these statements are to be taken as general and not specific.

Wedding Date of Mrs. Ince and Herbert Fixed

The wedding day of Mrs. Elinor Kershaw Ince, widow of Thomas Ince, motion-picture director, and Holmes Herbert, motion-picture actor, has been set for May 15, and, according to word from the principals, the garden of the Ince home will form the setting for the ceremony.

The notice of intention to wed was filed Saturday after the approaching marriage had been rumored for some time.

With her marriage to the English motion-picture actor Mrs. Ince will forfeit her interest in the principal of her late husband's estate, said to be valued at $2,000,000. Ince's will contained a stipulation that his widow would lose the principal and receive only the income if she married within a seven-year period.

WOMAN AT WORK

One out of every five persons gainfully employed in the United States is a woman and the ratio is constantly increasing. From a homemaker and a homebody woman has emerged almost overnight to become a vital factor in the business life of the nation. In some industrial organizations there still prevails the old feeling that all women are temporary, using the job as a stop-gap until they marry and transfer their activities to homemaking. The keener executives, however, have sensed the change that has come about in twenty years, have adjusted their sights and are attaching to their organizations women of promise on an equal basis with men.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER RABBIT MADE HAPPY

Seek not for happiness apart;
You'll always find it in the heart.
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit had gone over to the Old Pasture. It was a beautiful morning. Of course, Peter should have been at home in the dear Old Briar-patch. However, he had gone over to the Old Pasture the night before and jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun began his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky before Peter realized that it was time to go home. He saw Redtail the Hawk sailing high in the sky and right then and there he decided that he would remain in the Old Pasture, for that day at least.

Peter was trying to decide just what to do next when he heard a humming sound. It seemed to be just over his head. Peter looked up. Hummer the Humming-bird swooped down with such speed and so close to Peter's head that Peter ducked. "What are you trying to do?" he cried indignantly.

"Just trying to express my happiness," replied Hummer, making Peter duck again. "Isn't spring a beautiful time of year?" he continued. "I always love to visit the Old Pasture when Columbine is in bloom."

Peter pricked up his long ears. "Columbine? Columbine?" he repeated. "I suppose that is a flower. You don't seem to be much interested in anything but flowers."

Z-zoom came Hummer close to one of Peter's long ears. "Of course the Columbine is a flower, stupid!" he cried. "It is one of the most beautiful of all the flowers of the spring, and when I find the first in bloom I always feel that I have found something very precious. Only a few moments ago I found the first I have seen this year, and the whole day is brighter for the finding."

Peter's face brightened suddenly and he gave a little hop in the air. "Of course I know the Columbine!" he cried. "It is so long since I saw it last spring that for a few minutes I could not remember it. But I remember it now and I remember just where to look for it."

Without another word Peter started up one of the old cowpaths that led to the upper part of the Old Pasture. Lipperty-lipperty-lip ran Peter and there was joy in his heart as he ran. Hummer darted ahead and in the twinkling of an eye had disappeared. Peter kept on, lipperty-lipperty-lip. Presently he came to a rocky ledge. He turned and hopped along this a little way and then he sat up and drew a long breath of pleasure. There, swayed by the Merry Little Breezes that were dancing around them, were several nodding blossoms, bright scarlet without and bright yellow within.

Hummer darted from flower to flower

Each blossom looked as if it were made of five little horns-of-plenty fastened together—little fairy horns-of-plenty, upside down. Each little horn was in reality a petal—a hollow petal, quite unlike the flat petals of most flowers. From the midst of these five petals five pistils and many stamens were thrust out like a little tassel. On the tip of each stamen was a little package of golden dust, which is called pollen.

The flowers were lovely in themselves, but they were the more lovely for the slender, delicate stems on which they were borne and the beautiful, light-green leaves divided into smaller leaves, or leaflets, as they are called, these in turn divided into three or more parts. Hummer darted from flower to flower, thrusting his long bill into each, and Peter knew that these blossoms were as sweet as they were good to look at. Peter drew a long sigh of pure happiness.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

SPRAINS

The joints of the body have degrees of movement varying from the nonmovable joints of the skull to the freely moving ball and socket joint of the shoulder. If you twist your arm and shoulder around, you will find that it moves in several different directions. The elbow is a little different, being a hinge joint, and in your jaw you not only have a hinge joint which allows you to open and shut your mouth, but you have a gliding point which enables you to push your teeth from side to side or in front of the upper teeth.

Movable joints are reinforced and joined together by strong ligaments. A sprain means that some of these ligaments have been torn or stretched by a movement which is not in the normal range of the joint. The lubricating membranes between the joints are also usually damaged, and sometimes the blood vessels of that region may become ruptured and fill the joint cavity with fluid.

A sprain makes itself known by a sharp and severe pain, rapid swelling of the part, local heat, and sometimes a shiny appearance of the skin. These symptoms occur in the immediate area of the joint. The patient avoids movement or weight upon the part.

Immediately following a sprain care should be taken to avoid movement. If the foot or knee is hurt the limb should be raised to relieve the congestion of blood. No walking should be done with a sprained ankle. Hhe part should be bandaged tightly and cold applications used. Some prefer adhesive tape and others a tight bandage. The use of cold packs or running water tends to prevent an excessive congestion of blood.

While rest is important in the beginning, at least for a few days, it should not be continued for too long a time, or the prolonged inaction may allow the joint to heal up locked in one position. If you wish to keep the power of movement in the joints you should begin to move them as soon as the acute period of inflammation and swelling has subsided. Stiff joints may result from resting too long a time.

During the inflammation, lymph will be exuded and the joint may become bound around with material of a fibrous nature leading to adhesions. Skilled manipulation will in most cases cause the joint to return to a condition of free movement.

Where one has once sprained an ankle or dislocated a joint there is a weakness remaining for some time and the part may be very easily injured again. If there is any distortion of the part the doctor should be called immediately, as the sprain might be accompanied by a dislocation or even a fracture. Sometimes the vertegrae in the back ner injured by sprains or slight displacements. These can usually b corrected by treatments from an osteopath or chiropractor who should be able to restore the part to its normal position. In people who have a rheumatic tendency sprains are sometimes the beginning of chronic synovitis or arthritis as the rheumatic toxins tend to settle in the injured area. In these cases one should immediately begin an orange or grape fruit fast to be continued until all the pain has subsided.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 3 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

SALMON PIE A LA RUSSE

Line the bottom and sides of a casserolle with a rich pie crust and set in the ice box to chill. Take two pounds of raw salmon, cut in rather thick slices, six anchovies, two dozen green olives which have been halved and stoned, four hard-boiled eggs, cut in slices three small green onions, one medium-sized can of mushrooms, three tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, one-half teaspoonful of thyme and one-half teaspoonful of marjaron. Place four tablespoonfuls of butter or oil in a saute pan, add the onions, parsley, thyme and marjaron and cook for about five minutes, but do not brown. Then add the mushrooms and cook until they are heated through. Season with salt and paprika and a few grains of nutmeg. Stir in one cupful of brown stock and two tablespoonfuls of lemon jdice and cook five minutes longer. Place a slice of the salmon in a pastry-lined dish and over it a layer of the sliced boiled eggs, add a layer of the olives and over them a layer of the anchovies, then place on this another layer of the salmon, pour the sauce over the mixture, put on a pastry cover and bake in a hot oven.

ORANGE MARMALADE CAKE

Cream one-half a cupful of butter and cream into it a little at a time three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, cream thoroughly, add one tablespoonful of grated fresh orange rind and two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped orange peel, either fresh or candied, four tablespoonfuls of orange marmalade and the well-beaten yolks of three eggs. Beat well, sift two cupfuls of sifted flour with four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder and add it to the mixture, a little at a time, alternating it with one-third of a cupful of cold water. Stir in one-half a cupful of finely chopped walnut meats and lastly fold in the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs. Oil and flour a loaf cake tin, pour the mixture in and place in a slow oven. As soon as the cake rises to the top of the pan increase the heat slightly and finish the baking.

PILAFF

Heat three tablespoonfuls of butter in a saute pan, add two pounds of lean lamb, cut in small cubes. Cook for ten minutes or until nicely browned. Add one sliced onion and cook for five minutes. Wash a half cupful of rice, dry it well, add it to the meat mixture, stir and cook for five minutes. Pour in two cupfuls of meat stock, one cupful of strained tomatoes, a seasoning of salt and paprika, one teaspoonful of curry powder, three tablespoonfuls of chopped preserved ginger, add one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Mix well, pour into a baking dish and bake in a moderate oven until the meat is tender.

RAISIN, APPLE CUSTARD PIE

Peal, core and slice four medium-sized hard apples. Place them in a saucepan with one cupful of seedless raisins and sufficient water to keep from burning. When cooked, drain off the remaining liquor. Mix together two tablespoonfuls of flour and one cupful and a half of sugar. Add to this the well-beaten yolks of three eggs, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one cupful of milk. Mix this with the apples and raisins, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the three eggs. Line a pie dish with a rich pastry, pour the mixture into it, place in a hot oven for the first ten minutes, then reduce the heat and finish the baking.

SALVATION ARMY BAND KEPT BUSY

Mayor Porter Will Receive Members of Organization at City Hall Today

Mayor Porter will receive the staff territorial band of the Salvation Army at noon today in the rotunda of the City Hall. He will be presented with a letter of greeting from Mayor Rolph of San Francisco. The serenade and the presentation of the letter of Capt. Ernest Higgins of the territorial musicians will be recorded for sound pictures.

The band of thirty pieces, supported by a male chorus and a number of soloists, played to a packed house at Trinity Auditorium yesterday afternoon. The band will be heard on the Don Lee network, released on KHJ, today from 4 to 4:40 p.m. It will play its final concert in the Southland in First Methodist Church, Long Beach, tonight.

Capt. Higgins formerly was director of the citadel band here, heard in semimonthly broadcasts on KFI. He is the son of Gen. Edward Higgins, international head of the Salvation Army.

The band is on a golden jubilee tour of the eleven Western States which it represents. Commissioner Adam Gifford, commanding officer of the western territory, assisted by Brig. James C. Bell, head of the Los Angeles and South Coast division, presided at the affair in Trinity Auditorium yesterday.

Flint Called in Selznick Suit Against Bank

Motley H. Flint, banker and broker, recently indicted in the Julian case, has been called to appear as a witness tomorrow in the trial of the $350,000 suit of David O. Selznick, motion-picture producer, against the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, before Superior Judge Collier. At the end of the hearing Friday a recess was taken until Tuesday morning.

Flint formerly was executive vice-president of the defendant bank. Selznick asserts that the bank is holding 1000 shares of United Studios stock he placed with it in 1922 as security for a loan. He contends the bank refuses to return the stock to him although it has received sufficient money to pay off the loan. He says the stock is worth $150,000 and that almost $100,000 has been paid in dividends on it.

Attorneys George Clark and Barry Brannen are representing Selznick and Attorney W. M. Bowen is appearing for the bank at the hearing.

CATUS SOCIETY WILL EXHIBIT DESERT FLORA

Interesting flora of desert and semiarid regions of the Southwest, Mexico and Central and South America, in forms bizarre and beautiful, will be revealed to an extent never before reached at the national cacatus and succulent show, to be given in the Ambassador Auditorium and annex May 29, 30, 31 and June 1. It will be an exhibition unique among horticultural events in this country, and is sponsored by the Cactus and Succulent Society of America, which has headquarters in Los Angeles, and membership in various parts of the world.

Cornell Honors Local Student

Robley C. Williams, graduate of Lincoln High School, who won the Southern California Cornell Alumni scholarship in 1927, was one of the eighteen juniors elected to Phi Beta Kappa, according to word received from Cornell University recently. Williams was graduated from Lincoln with high honors and was awarded a four-year scholarship to Cornell after competition with representatives of practically every high school in Southern California.

He earned his way to Ithaca, N. Y., where the university is located, by serving as a bus boy on a steamer. While at Lincoln, he won first prize for his oration on the Constitution and was prominent as an athlete.

INSURANCE FUNDS
Money is now available as in the past several years for attractive loans in acceptable locations on real estate in Los Angeles and immediate vicinity.
Our supply is from the East where accumulations in large quantities are always seeking investment and at lower rates than can be had in the West, where so much money is needed for development.
A 6% loan after commission is added means only 6 3-8% to the borrowed over a five-year period.

Liberal Prepayment Privileges
A loan under $50,000 may be paid at any interest date without bonus.

Monthly Payment Loan
The ideal loan for the home owner is our monthly pay loan. Remember, you pay only 6% on the balance each month, adjusted every month; no jokers in this loan. Phone or call for a free inspection of your property.
